Putting the change in changerooms

SPORTS lovers in the region will have access to better facilities following the official openings of two new changerooms in two different locations.

Karbeethan Reserve and the Gawler Central Sporting Club both saw their new changerooms opened on Wednesday, November 20, providing a boost to inclusivity and comfort for male and female players.

WORKS to upgrade one of the Playford area's most notorious intersections are set to begin in 2025 following the announcement of extra funding from the Federal Government.

On Friday, November 22, the State and Federal Governments announced a funding partnership to kickstart works on the proposed Curtis Road and Heaslip Road intersection roundabout.

The intersection, which RAA once labelled as one of South Australia's riskiest intersections, will also see associated road upgrades to improve safety and ease congestion.

The project is proposed to cost $30 million, with $15 million coming through the Federal Government's $1 billion Housing Support Program (HSP).

TREES across Gawler have turned orange this week as part of the Zonta Club of Gawler's annual stand against domestic and family violence.

As part of the 16 Days of Activism Against Gender-Based Violence, Zonta members have been busy knitting large orange wraps and pom-poms to display on trees across Gawler.

The efforts aim to highlight the impact of domestic and family violence across Australia, with the bright orange colour to bring eyes to the campaign.

Zonta member Pam Young said raising awareness is at the core of the annual campaign.

"There are 16 Days of Activism, but with the yarn bombing, we're knitting all-year 'round, and by constantly working on it, we're constantly thinking and talking about the topic with other people," she said.

"By having the bright orange colour splashed around town, we hope this will also spark conversation and get people talking about it.

"We try to keep it in our minds well past the 16 Days of Activism because it needs to be a continued conversation.

"Our team have had several conversation today already while we've been here, because people walk past and want to know what we're doing, and then we can share our story and our aim with others."

Another member of the yarn bombing team, Beppy, said she has also decorated the tree outside her property in bright orange in an attempt to inspire others to do the same.

"My hope is that people will see the orange and spark up a conversation, and although I may be the only one with orange on my street, hopefully others will see, learn, and do the same next year," she said.

Beppy said at the end of the day, if even one more person can learn about domestic abuse or the impacts of violence against women, then the team has done its job well.

"We often see numbers of reported cases go up every year, that that could be because people are talking about it more, and can recognise the signs easier," she said.

"I've had someone who was in a very dangerous situation without even fully understanding it.

"It is conversations that come about during the 16 Days of Activism that might open someone's eyes to abuse and make a real impact on their lives."

Zonta is also set to host its annual vigil at the Pocket Park memorial on Thursday, November 28, and will talk with community members to continue its efforts in raising awareness.

For more information on the 16 Days of Activism, contact the Zonta Club of Gawler or wear orange to show support for the campaign and raise awareness of domestic and family violence.

Road safety boost with roundabout funding

Member for Spence Matt Burnell said there was a lot of hard work behind the scenes to get the funding locked in.

“There’s not too many places you can go in Angle Vale and not bump into someone who raises the Curtis and Heaslip intersection,” Mr Burnell said.

“We’ve been working hard with the State Government over the term to find the solution and through the Housing Support Program... we’ve been able to allocate $15 million on a 50/50 contribution basis to deliver this roundabout upgrade.

“It’s significant for the area and hopefully is going to reduce the incidents we’re seeing at that intersection.”

Mr Burnell said community feedback on the announcement has been mostly positive, but constituents still want more work done in the region.

“It’s been a journey to get to this point and we’ve just got to keep raising attention to the needs of the northern suburbs,” he said.

“We are the growth corridor for South Australia and I have the expectation that, with that, comes to appropriate level of assistance to deliver the upgrades we need.

“[The State and Federal Governments] will continue to work together on other contributions we can make in a proactive way to ensure our community benefits.”

City of Playford Mayor Glenn Docherty welcomed the announcement and said investments like this were vital to managing growth in the northern suburbs.

“Council supports the State and Federal Governments joint funding commitment for the installation of a roundabout at the intersection of Curtis Road and Heaslip Road,” Mr Docherty said.

“With an average of 10 people moving to Playford each day, all levels of government have an important role to play in addressing both the challenges and opportunities that come with growth.

“Council will continue to work closely with State and Federal Governments to advocate for upfront and ongoing investment in road, transport, water, and storm water infrastructure to support our expanding city.”

SA Minister for Housing and Urban Development Nick Champion said the partnership with his Federal counterparts was an important part of addressing issues in the north.

“The Australian and South Australian Governments are working hard to build more homes faster but we need the supporting infrastructure to keep up with the population growth,” he said.

“This upgrade is a priority for us because the intersection already experiences considerable congestion – a problem that is only going to get worse as more people move to the area.

“I want to thank the Australian Government for its help in delivering this project for the people in the northern suburbs.”

The design process for the new roundabout is expected to be completed soon, with works to begin in 2025.

TRIBUTES have been flowing for Gawler’s Jason Harvey, who was tragically killed at 53-years-old in a car crash near Kapunda on Tuesday, November 19.

Mr Harvey was a treasured and well-respected member of the swap meet and collector community, full of knowledge but also known as a genuine and nice person.

Long-time friend Ken Clarson first met him around 20 years ago, immediately hitting it off and working together on various auctions.

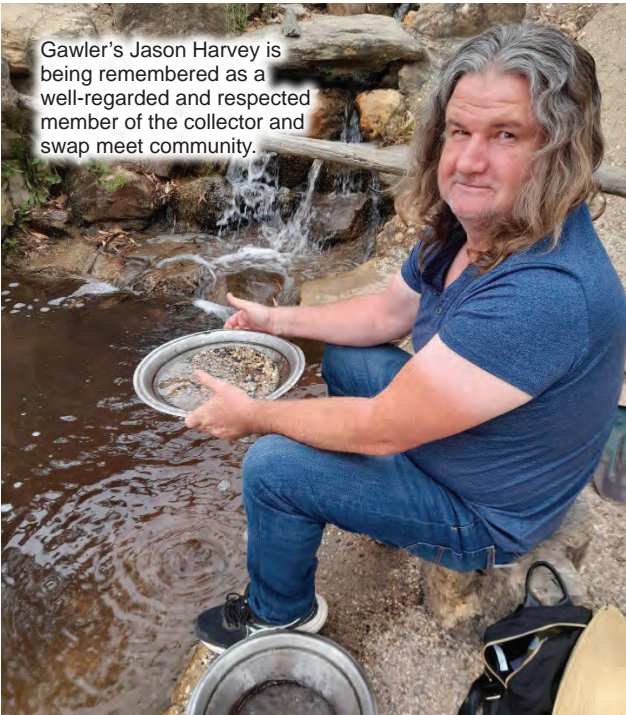

While their working partnership would not last, Mr Clarson said they always remained close.

“I think because I come from a working background, I think that’s where we hit it off other than just the collecting and auction scene,” he said.

“He used to drop in to chat about things other than collecting.

“It was a bit of an escape if you like, drop into the shed and just have a chat about life in general.”

Mr Harvey was a wealth of knowledge when it came to collecting.

He had a passion for old architecture and cast iron, Germanic Barossa furniture, as well as his love of toys.

Mr Clarson described him as a “quiet country boy at heart”, where he was in the process of moving to Kapunda with his partner Samantha and son Benjamin before the tragedy occurred.

“He was such a kind-hearted person, he really was,” Mr Clarson said.

“He didn’t discriminate with anyone either. He took everyone at face value.”

While taken too soon, Mr Clarson remembered him for the genuine person he was.

“What a character, very witty,” he said.

“When he walked into the room, the aura in the room just changed. He lifted everyone’s spirits.

“He’s going to be sadly missed, that’s for sure. It’s just too soon.”

Trinity student on the road to lifelong goal

AIDAN CURTIS

A TRINITY College student has earned a spot in one of the nation’s most coveted animal care qualifications following hundreds of hours of work and volunteering.

Trinity Year 12 Ashley Knight is one step closer to realising his childhood dream of becoming a zookeeper after he was accepted into the Taronga Zoo Certificate III in Wildlife and Exhibited Animals course.

The Cert III is one of the most highly sought qualifications for prospective zookeepers in Australia, with Mr Knight excited to get started.

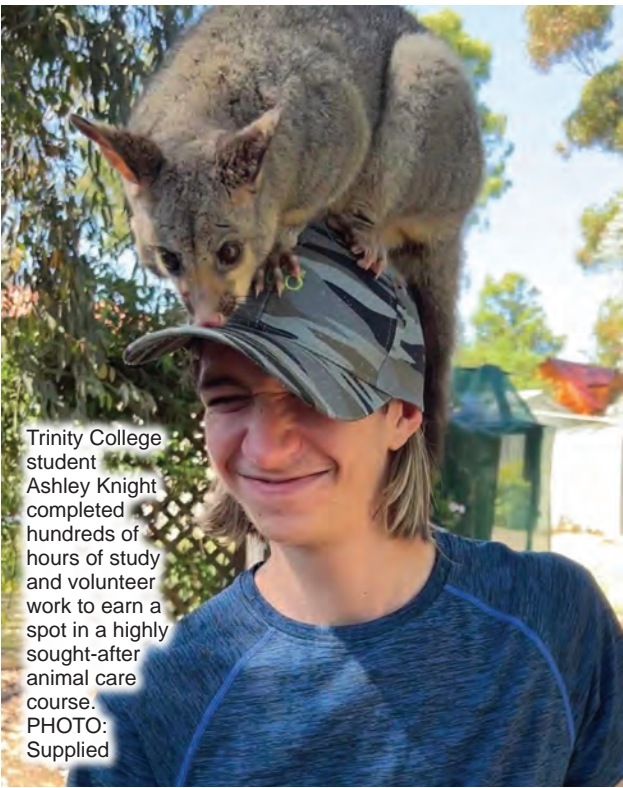

“It was a lot of work to try to get in and I’ve done a lot of things, like other courses, to boost my chances, so I’m very happy I got in,” he said.

“As one of the prerequisites, we needed to do either a minimum of 250 hours in an animal-related field in the 12 months before applying or a Certificate II in Animal Care.

“I had done both. I did my Cert II last year through school and I did over 250 hours by working at a vet clinic, and I do weekly volunteer work at Barossa Wildlife Rescue.”

With a lifelong love of zoos, Mr Knight said he has always wanted to be a zookeeper and was champing at the bit to begin his studies.

“Since I was a kid,

Trinity College student Ashley Knight completed hundreds of hours of study and volunteer work to earn a spot in a highly sought-after animal care course. PHOTO: Supplied I’ve always wanted to be a zookeeper. My parents would bring me to zoos and whenever we went away to other states, we’d go to all the major zoos and explore there,” he said.

“There’s a little bit of nerves going into it because I don’t really know what to expect in terms of difficulty of the course.

“The Cert III is essentially the trade qualification to become a zookeeper.

“Then also it teaches a lot of the basic skills and you do a lot of placements through the course, which will be good to get my name through the zoo network and boost my chances for a job after.”

He advised anyone looking at tertiary studies to follow their passions and go for whatever brought them joy.

“Find something that you really enjoy,” he said.

“If you don’t enjoy your job then it’s going to be terrible every time you have to go to work.

“[Zookeeping is] definitely a job that I would truly enjoy going in to work every single day.”

Mr Knight’s studies will be run through Adelaide Zoo and Monarto.

Gawler carols back with huge line-up

AIDAN CURTIS

A GAWLER favourite will return in early December after a last-minute cancellation in 2023.

The 2024 Apex Gawler Community Christmas Carols event is on track to bring a big night of holiday cheer to residents and families all around the region, with a large crowd expected.

Last year’s edition of the carols was cancelled due to forecasted storms.

Gawler carols organising committee chair Bronte Rhodes said the crew behind the scenes was “flat chat” to get things ready so the event could make it’s long-awaited return.

“We’ve got the [Apex Christmas markets] going the week before, which is taking up a bit of time at the moment, then the week after we’re into the carols,” he said.

“The carols last year were cancelled because of inclement weather, so we’re hoping the weather gods smile on us this year.

“We’re hoping and wishing for better weather.”

Mr Rhodes said the committee reached three-year funding agreement with major sponsor Town of Gawler earlier this year, which meant the carols were set to go ahead.

With that comes a big line-up of musicians from across the area.

“We like to support the locals from the schools, Trinity and Xavier,” he said.

“We’ve got the Gawler Youth Band there, we’ve got Emilie who is the one that was on Australian Idol and is well known in Gawler, and of course we’ve got Crafty the music man of Gawler.”

Adding to the line-up is former Zimbabwe Test cricketer-turned singer Henry Olonga, who Mr Rhodes said jumped at the opportunity to join Gawler’s cast at the Hope Cup launch event earlier this year.

“We’re expecting 5000 to 6000 people to attend, so come early to get your space. Bring your picnic rug, there will be food vans, the local service clubs will be there in some shape and form cooking up a storm,” Mr Rhodes said.

“We’ve got a dance group on at the start, the Gawler Academy of Dance.

“So we’ve got a pretty full night.”

To cap off the night, Gawler is also expecting a visit from a very jolly man in red who will be fresh off an appearance at the Gawler Christmas Parade a week earlier.

“Santa Claus will be there at 6pm,” Mr Rhodes said.

“He’ll be introduced on stage, then will move over to his marquees for photos.”

Mr Rhodes thanked the many sponsors and volunteers behind the scenes who help make the event possible and encouraged the community to turn out in force to enjoy a night of festivities and fun.

The Gawler Carols will run from 5pm to 9pm at Pioneer Park on December 7.

Parade ready to roll

AIDAN CURTIS

A JAM-PACKED line-up of festive cheer is ready to return to Gawler with the next edition of the Gawler Christmas Parade.

On Saturday, November 30, thousands are expected to line Murray Street to enjoy the parade’s return.

The 2023 parade, which was the first in Gawler for around 40 years, attracted more than 5000 people to Murray Street for a night of festive fun.

This year, the event is set to be bigger and better with more parade entrants and a partnership with the Gawler Apex Christmas Markets to keep the festive atmosphere rolling at Apex Park.

Road closures will be in effect along Murray Street from 6pm on the night, with the parade set to begin at 7pm.

The markets will run from 5pm until 9pm.

As an added bonus for families, the Rotary Club of Gawler Light’s annual riverbank Christmas display will be switched on at 8.45pm.

Get in early to secure a spot to watch the parade and ensure children follow directions from the safety marshals on the night.

Origin Energy are pleased to announce the progression of the Templers Creek Battery Energy Storage System (BESS) Project.

The battery, which is planned to be located on Templers Road, west of the substation, will be 200MW with a storage capacity of 800 megawatt hours. Origin has completed site suitability investigations and is currently undertaking comprehensive technical and environmental studies.

Increasingly, large-scale battery energy storage systems are playing an important role in Australia’s energy transition, by supporting renewable energy sources and providing firming capacity and stability to the National Electricity Market.

Origin is eager to discuss our project with community groups and members and will share details of a community pop up in the coming months.

Sporting clubs welcome new facilities

SPORTS lovers in the region will have access to better facilities following the official openings of two new changerooms in two different locations.

Karbeethan Reserve and the Gawler Central Sporting Club both saw their new changerooms opened on Wednesday, November 20, providing a boost to inclusivity and comfort for male and female players.

The works across both facilities received funding from Town of Gawler and the State Government, with both welcoming the news the changerooms were ready for players.

Member for Light Tony Piccolo said the region's growing sporting clubs will greatly benefit from the new facilities.

"It's important those in our region who want to be active are given the adequate spaces they require to prepare for a game and unwind following a match," Mr Piccolo said.

"With the continued rise in participation in sport, particularly females in the area, we need to ensure players, umpires and officials are all comfortable not only when they're on the field, but also off it.

"I'm pleased the Malinauskas Labor State Government has delivered the funding required following our community advocacy and thank Town of Gawler and the local sporting clubs for working to make these projects a reality."

Town of Gawler Mayor Karen Redman was pleased to see the changerooms opened and said they will contribute to the town's vibrant sporting communities.

"We recently celebrated the completion of Stage 1 of Karbeethan Reserve, which saw the addition of redeveloped baseball, softball, and soccer pitches," Ms Redman said.

"Local sports clubs play a crucial role in fostering healthier, happier, and more connected communities.

"Having modern sports facilities encourages physical fitness, mental well-being, social inclusion, the development of important life skills – and of course local athletes."

Karbeethan Sporting Association chair Peter Broelman said he and the clubs which call Karbeethan home were excited to see the works come to fruition.

He said players of all ages can now enjoy a "modern and fresh" environment.

"Notably, a women's changeroom has enabled a women's soccer team to be formed, an important development for inclusive female representation of our community, and a pathway for junior girls to aspire to," he said.

Gawler's hopes to gather AFL benefits in 2025

AIDAN CURTIS

TOWN of Gawler is aiming to capitalise on the hype of the AFL Gather Round heading to Lyndoch, with event and accommodation opportunities potentially on the cards.

With football fans expected to flock to Lyndoch for the 2025 Gather Round, council wants to see Gawler take advantage of the extra attention in the region.

Town of Gawler Mayor Karen Redman said there is a lot on offer for visitors in the region.

"We have amazing cafés, food, entertainment and hospitality venues, accommodation options to suit every style and budget, plenty of family-friendly parks and playgrounds to experience, diverse retail offerings, and much more," she said.

"Early promotion of what our town offers is key to preparing for Gather Round."

While a lot of promotion and events offerings will be up to individual businesses, Ms Redman said council is working to collaborate with its neighbours on possible tourism experiences during Gather Round.

"We are also liaising with the SA Tourism Commission to ensure that people going to Gather Round can get to Lyndoch via public transport that connects to Gawler's train stations," she said.

"Through Business Gawler, we are promoting the many opportunities that Gather Round presents to our local businesses, providing them with access to marketing collateral and regional networks.

"We are also encouraging them to be open later, and across the whole weekend, to capitalise on the increased visitation that will be experienced."

However, Ms Redman said there will likely be some challenges to ensuring the Gawler region gets the most out of the expected influx of visitors.

"The largest hurdle envisaged is having enough accommodation and transport options for visitors to stay in Gawler and easily get to Lyndoch for the games," she said.

"Gawler's caravan parks, hotels and boutique accommodation centres are already experiencing high demand and may be at capacity well in advance of Gather Round.

"We know that there is not enough parking in Lyndoch to cater for the expected crowds making park and ride and public transport connections to Gawler crucial for the event's success."

Gather Round, to be held from April 10 to 13 in 2025, will see two AFL games played at Barossa Park in Lyndoch.

LOOKING BACK

150 YEARS AGO

LOCUSTS VERSUS LOCOMOTION... Only think of the Burra train being stopped by locusts, that clogged the rails in such quantities that the wheels could not progress, and the guard and driver had to sand the rails in order to get out of the difficulty. We can imagine how this will read in the old country.

100 YEARS AGO

BOWLS... Gawler's second appearance in Pennant grade bowls on Saturday last ended most disastrously, their opponents being Walkerville, played on the latter's green. The Gawler men found it most difficult to find the strength of the green, which was dry and keen, a high wind adding to their troubles. Only one rink out of the four was able to get up, this being skippered by Busbridge. McLean's rink got a most decisive drubbing, and Schulz's was down 14 and Harris' 10.

50 YEARS AGO

FARMERS: ANOTHER SETBACK... For the second year in succession rust will prevent cereal farmers in the district from harvesting a record crop. Although damage is not expected to match last year's $4 million damage in the lower north, yields could be reduced by more than 20 per cent. In some areas further north losses are tipped to be higher with the combination of stem rust and hay-die, which also affects the yield.

25 YEARS AGO

A SIGN FOR THE FUTURE... Gawler's 'Best of Town and Country' logo and slogan will further develop Gawler's reputation as one of South Australian's most important country towns, according to the State's tourism chief. CEO of the SA Tourism Commission, Bill Spurr, officially launched the logo and slogan at a function in the Gawler Library reading room on Thursday night. Mr Spurr said the 'Best of Town and Country' slogan, the brainchild of Brian Sambell from the Gawler Visitor Centre, should result in an increase in community pride.

10 YEARS AGO

MEMORIAL BATTLE'S NEXT ACT... A bid to relocate the Gawler South monument could drive statewide legislative changes that would leave war memorial-related matters in the hands of the community. Following a closed-door meeting with the Gawler and state RSL branches and Member for Light Tony Piccolo, Veterans' affairs Minister Martin Hamilton-Smith told The Bunyip he would seek an amendment to the Development Act that would remove the red tape around the relocation and erection of war memorials on council land. The Bunyip understands the meeting was held following lobbying from Mr Piccolo, who earlier this month came out in support of the Gawler RSL's ongoing campaign to relocate the memorial from Adelaide Road to Pioneer Park.

EDITORIAL

Road to recovery

THE old saying of good things come to those who wait is ringing true for Playford residents. Curtis Road users finally have some light at the end of the tunnel after years of disappointment thanks to a hefty grant funded by the State and Federal Governments. The road has been the subject of discussion for years in the community due to poor traffic conditions which have led to accidents in recent times. While plans to fix the road's most notorious intersection, plus some other spots along the way, will be widely celebrated and welcomed with open arms, it does beg the question - what took so long?

The road has been under investigation for years and City of Playford councillors, reflecting the view of their community, have been begging for help on the matter for as long as many in the region can remember. Member for Spence Matt Burnell has come into the fray recently to help secure the funding and should be applauded for his hard work. He made headlines earlier this month when locking horns with Playford council regarding funding opportunities for the road, but it seems as though a beneficial result for the community has come to pass. The length of this saga needs to be looked at though, particularly given safety is at the core of the issue. Where does the blame lay for taking so long?

Why has it taken until now for the Federal Government to step in? What held up the State Government investigation for so long? Has Playford council prioritised the road enough when it comes to funding opportunities? It would appear Playford ratepayers could be forgiven for still having more questions than answers. Regardless, if the bad news and delays are going to be criticised and lambasted, then when good news comes along it needs to be equally celebrated. Works are set to kick off next year. The north's collective fingers are crossed that delays to fixing the intersection are few and far between as the number of people using the road in the region continues to increase.

Planning for a t-rainy day

FOOTBALL enthusiast SA Premier Malinauskus can be relied on, I hope, to renovate the existing railway line into the Barossa Valley. Not to its previous terminus at Angaston, I bet. But as far as the new footy oval at Lyndoch. Mark my words. Bread and circuses first. John Bolton, Gawler East

Warning: you have just been fined

I RECENTLY received a parking infringement notice from Town of Gawler in the mail – yes, snail mail – informing me that I had infringed on parking restrictions at the STARplex where I had recently begun working. This was a warning only (no fine), which I thought was a wonderful thing the council had finally done, although I did wonder why a notice wasn't just put on the windscreen so that I could find out what restrictions I had infringed on and make sure I didn't inadvertently do it again.

Before I had a chance to discuss this with my employer and find out where I should be parking, I received another letter from council informing me of a parking infringement at Starplex, however this time it was no warning but a $63 fine. Perhaps council could have saved the rate payers the cost of taking a photo of my car and mailing me a warning as the warning was really no warning at all. Thanks Gawler council for your awesome customer relations. Not.

We commend Keno for their commitment to funding these vital projects. Rural Aid is dedicated to supporting the farmers and families who form the backbone of Australia. Farmers are grappling with the challenges of droughts, storms, and rising living costs. Their struggle goes beyond feeding their own families, it's about ensuring we all have food on our tables. Rural Aid stands united with our friends in the bush, providing the much-needed support to foster resilient communities. This generous contribution from Keno will greatly enhance our programs and lead to positive outcomes for rural communities across the nation. For more information on the services provided by Rural Aid and how to donate, please visit the website (www.ruralaid.org.au). Rural Aid is Australia's most trusted rural charity. We stand with our farmers when they need us most. Rural Aid provides critical support to farmers affected by natural disaster through financial, wellbeing and fodder assistance. Rural Aid's community programs help create more sustainable communities by building stronger futures for all Australian farmers. John Warlters, Rural Aid chief executive

Gawler’s best honoured at business awards

JEM NASH

A TRIO of businesses have been recognised for their outstanding work at the Gawler Business Awards on Friday, November 22.

Pole4Fitness Gawler received the Customer Service award, Gawler Academy of Dance was the winner of the Commitment to Community award, with CE Pergolas rounding out the winners with the Quality of Products or Services award.

The remaining finalists across the three categories were Gawler Heritage Café, Plus Fitness 24/7 Gawler and Table Top Warfare Gawler.

Pole4Fitness Gawler owner and director Leanne Williamson said she was incredibly grateful to the community for voting for them.

“It’s such an honour to even be nominated for such an award but to win was just a beautiful tribute to the amazing team I have,” she said.

“They dedicate their time and lives to our small family business and it’s so nice for them to be recognised.

“We couldn’t have the studio we do without them, it does not go unnoticed by both my husband Darren and myself.”

“I wish I was able to be there myself to accept the award but we are away overseas. Ash and Morgan are my main instructors who attended the event and had such a great time.

“When they called me to tell me I was screaming, I’m sure the whole resort heard me.”

CE Pergolas director Callan Elworthy said it still feels very surreal to win the award and his team is “over the moon”.

“It’s such an incredible honour, and to be recognised among so many amazing businesses is truly humbling,” he said.

“We’re so grateful to our clients, the community, and our hardworking team who made this possible.

“This award means the world to us. It’s a reminder of how much passion and care we pour into what we do every day.”

Gawler Academy of Dance principal and owner Jodie Lind said they were very pleased with the nomination and just being a finalist was “amazing”.

“Winning was so unexpected and we were very humbled but we were very glad to see that so many people voted for us to get this far, in recognition of all of our performances and contributions to the general Gawler community which is at the heart and soul of our dance studio,” she said.

“We have a wonderful teaching team who truly care for the students in their dance classes and want them to do their very best.

Gawler Anglicans spreading the Christmas cheer

JEM NASH

GAWLER Anglicans is spreading the festive spirit, hosting multiple events over the next couple of weeks leading up to Christmas.

In conjunction with the Villawood Gawler Christmas Parade on Saturday, November 30, St George’s Anglican Church at Orleana Square will be open from 5pm to 9pm with some Christmas tree displays.

People can visit the church to see it lit up as part of Light up Church Hill, with both St George’s and the Church of the Transfiguration set to be covered in colour.

“We invite people to come around and just have a look and wander through,” Gawler Anglicans member Joyce Mendrik said.

cheer and let people in have a look around.”

The Church of the Transfiguration will also be open on December 7 and 21 from 6pm to 8pm and filled with nativity scenes, with previous years seeing around 70 displays.

St George’s will be open from 6pm on December 15 to provide more opportunity to see the Christmas tree displays before enjoying some carols during the normal 7pm service.

On Christmas Eve, Carols in the Creek will be held at the Trinity College grounds, run by St Francis.

From 6.30pm to 8.30pm, there will be carols in the park plus a free barbecue on offer.

Ms Mendrik said the events are about spreading some happiness and Christmas cheer in the community.

“Everyone’s welcome, we invite everyone in and just want to share some happiness and shine a little light in the world,” she said.”

...and I think it's common sense.

As your local member of Parliament, I have been working closely with tomato growers and family businesses of the Adelaide Plains who have been crushed by a blanket lock-down and ban on interstate exports.

I will continue to call for increased Government support for an industry worth millions to the Gawler River region.

170 years of rich history for Gawler law firm

JEM NASH

A LONG-standing Gawler law firm recently celebrated a significant milestone, with Rudall & Rudall Lawyers marking 170 years this month.

The firm was founded in 1854 by John Rudall, who was Gawler’s first town clerk, before his son Samuel Bruce Rudall continued his legacy by joining the practice in 1880 and serving as both town clerk and a member of the South Australian parliament.

Samuel’s son Reginald Rudall, a Rhodes Scholar and World War I veteran, took over in the early 20th century, and following his death in 1955, the practice was led by Lawrence McAusland Bills and later by his son Anthony Bills.

Peter Ryan and Nicholas Pullman are the current directors of the firm and in recent years, it has expanded its footprint, opening an office in Tanunda in 2020.

Rudall & Rudall Lawyers administration and accounts manager Katrina Green said it is an “extraordinary achievement” to reach 170 years, reflecting the firm’s historical roots and its continuous evolution.

“The firm’s directors and team likely feel a profound sense of pride in maintaining and expanding the vision of its founders while honouring its strong community connections,” she said.

“Over the decades, Rudall & Rudall has supported multiple generations of clients, marking key life events, handling complex legal matters, and actively contributing to the development of local institutions.

“Such a milestone also brings a forward-looking perspective, providing an opportunity to reflect on past successes while setting the foundation for continued growth and innovating in the legal field.”

Ms Green said Rudall & Rudall’s commitment to community, adaptability, strong leadership and legacy, focus on relationships and commitment to quality all have played a role in its longevity.

The firm held a small celebration on Friday, November 15 to mark the occasion, with Town of Gawler Mayor Karen Redman, previous partner Anthony Bills’s wife Frankie, and previous and current employees all in attendance.

Mr Ryan presented a speech as part of the celebration, detailing the practice’s rich history and commitment to community.

“As a firm, we’re very proud of our history, but we’re very much focused on the future,” he said.

“We no longer have any family dynasties operating here, but we do have a very diverse group of nine lawyers and nine support staff.”

Mr Ryan said he wanted to ensure that they can continue to help people into the future.

“We hope to continue to remain here, hopefully for another 170 years,” he said.

“We probably won’t be here that long, but some of our successors might be, helping our clients, guiding them in the right way, and achieving their aims.”

POLICE

Operation returns to boost summer safety

AIDAN CURTIS

GAWLER police will take to the streets during summer in the next edition of its community safety and crime prevention operation.

Gawler’s police officers are once again undertaking Operation OWL throughout the coming months, targeting anti-social behaviour over the holiday period.

While there will be plenty of police numbers on the street, Gawler officer in charge Senior Sergeant Rob Mowday said the increased presence will be in the interest of crime prevention.

“Gawler enjoys many hotels, restaurants and venues amongst our vibrant business, shopping and entertainment precinct,” he said.

“We also have a number of parks and green spaces around our town to be enjoyed by families and over the warmer months, especially on the Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

“The operation will coordinate and focus specific behaviour changing police activities that target crime and disorder.

“Foot patrols in and around venues, bicycle patrols around side streets and parks, police horses and drug detection dogs will also be just some of the resources deployed each week to ensure our township and its greenspaces provide a safe place for everyone to enjoy.”

SS Mowday said the operation will run in and around the Gawler CBD from December 1 until March 31 in 2025.

“It is important that our community is safe for everyone, including those who live in, work in or visit the Gawler CBD at any time, regardless of their age or reason for being there,” he said.

“Any breaches of the law, carriage of drugs, weapons or any antisocial behaviour will not be tolerated, and those people will be held to account.

“It is important to encourage as many people as possible to enjoy a safe environment and everything Gawler has to offer over the summer months.”

POLICE NEWS

Police seek fatal crash witnesses

MAJOR Crash investigators are appealing for witnesses who may have seen anything in the lead up to a fatal crash at Fords, near Kapunda, on November 19.

The crash between a Ford sedan and a semi-trailer, which occurred on the Thiele Highway around 1pm on November 19, saw a 53-year-old Gawler man die at the scene.

The truck driver, a 79-year-old Nuriootpa man, was arrested and charged with causing death by dangerous driving, before being bailed to appear in the Tanunda Magistrates Court on January 14, 2025.

While investigators have completed their examination of the scene and the collision, they are calling on any witnesses who may have seen the truck driving on the Thiele Highway prior to the crash.

In particular, police called on the drivers of a white Toyota Corolla and a silver dual-cab ute which were travelling near Freeling just before the crash.

Witnesses were encouraged to contact Crime Stoppers and police said they can remain anonymous.

The man’s life was the 80th lost on South Australian roads in 2024.

Car rolls near Dublin

BAROSSA police are investigating an incident which saw a car roll over on Port Wakefield Road near Dublin.

The crash occurred just before 9.30pm on Thursday, November 21 and involved a single Hyundai sedan.

The driver and sole occupant of the sedan, a 42-year-old Kingston man, was airlifted to Adelaide for treatment with non-life-threatening injuries.

Anyone who may have seen the incident is encouraged to contact Crime Stoppers.

Kapunda woman hospitalised in crash

A 33-year-old Kapunda woman was airlifted to hospital following a crash just south of Kapunda.

Just after 8pm on Sunday, November 24, police received reports a car travelling south on the Thiele Highway had left the road and rolled down a hill around 2km south of Kapunda.

The driver, a local woman, sustained serious but non-life-threatening injuries.

Police closed the highway in both directions between Greenock Road and East Terrace while emergency services were on the scene, but it has since reopened.

Fire leads to cannabis crop

A SHED fire has revealed a cannabis crop at Two Wells, with police seizing more than 150 plants.

Around 1pm on Sunday, November 17, emergency services responded to reports of a shed fire at Two Wells.

In putting out the fire, police found more than 150 cannabis plants and 40 clones including a substantial amount of hydroponic equipment.

SA Power Networks also attended the scene and confirmed electricity supply to the premises had been diverted.

Investigators believe the fire was accidental and started as a result of the cannabis cultivation.

Anyone with information that may assist with further investigations is encouraged to contact Crime Stoppers.

Applications are still being taken for students to start in Foundation at Immanuel and at Zion Preschool in 2026.

Hoppo spreads important message in the Barossa

JEM NASH

THE Barossa enjoyed a visit from one of the country’s most recognised lifeguards on Thursday, November 21, as Bondi Rescue’s Bruce ‘Hoppo’ Hopkins stopped in at The Rex in Tanunda as part of a nation-wide water safety campaign.

Hoppo is an ambassador for Float to Survive, a campaign which aims to teach all Australians how to float and keep themselves safe in the water.

It has now partnered with swim school GOswim, with the campaign coming in response to figures released from the 2024 National Drowning Report, which showed drownings have increased by 16 per cent over the past year compared to the 10-year average.

Hoppo visited Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria and finally South Australia to spread the message.

“We’ve gone through the different states and just explained the reasons why you need to float and how you’ll survive in any waterway, and it’s been really well received,” Hoppo said.

“It’s something that I find, that if you float in any waterway, you’re going to be quite safe.

“The endgame is to try and teach as many people as possible... it doesn’t matter how old you are, to learn that survival technique is very important.”

The Float to Survive teachings include a three-step strategy to lean your head back, remaining calm with controlled breathing, and then using sculling motions with your arms and legs.

Hoppo said, however, there is no right or wrong way to float, it is just about keeping your head above water.

“It’s minimising your energy and keeping your mouth and head above water. If you’re not swallowing water you’re never going to drown,” he said.

“Whichever way you do that, as long as you can keep your head above water and don’t get exhausted, that’s what we want to try and achieve.”

Hoppo said floating could be made more of a focus in early lessons for children, as it can ensure safety in situations where swimmers get caught in rips or currents, whether at the beach or in an inland waterway.

The National Drowning Report showed that 34 per cent of drownings occurred at inland waterway locations, plus another 11 per cent in swimming pools.

The campaign is all about getting people more confident in the water to avoid drowning, and Hoppo said the response from the communities he has visited has been very positive.

“Most people who are scared of the water... they don’t want their head to go under water, so the floating technique gives you the feel of the water and gives you the confidence in the water without your head going under,” he said.

“MOST PEOPLE WHO ARE SCARED OF THE WATER... THEY DON’T WANT THEIR HEAD TO GO UNDER WATER, SO THE FLOATING TECHNIQUE GIVES YOU THE FEEL OF THE WATER AND GIVES YOU THE CONFIDENCE IN THE WATER WITHOUT YOUR HEAD GOING UNDER.

- BRUCE HOPKINS

“Once you conquer that, then you can go into doing more freestyle or where you head goes underwater because you’ve already gained that confidence.

“But if you go straight to freestyle and you start sinking and your head goes under, you get scared, panic and think that’s what’s going to happen all the time.

“So it’s just changing that a little bit to try and get people more confidence in the water.”

Kapunda Saddles up for a wild ride

IMOGEN EVANS

A HUGE crowd was roped into having a bucking good time last weekend with a sold-out Kapunda Rodeo.

The heat and predicted showers held off just long enough for thousands of competitors, sponsors and general fans to fill Kapunda for an entire day's program of entertainment.

This year's event had the usual community favourites such as bull rides, saddle bronc, roping and barrel racing, along with some additions such as vaulting.

The end of the night saw music legends The Viper Creek Band bring the town's favourite country and western songs late into the night.

The night also saw the return of an annual highlight for the community, the incredibly talented Megan McLoughlin.

Ms McLoughlin, along with a massive line-up of local talent, competed in the barrel racing event, despite being legally blind.

This year's event also saw Laura Dittrich, who recently competed in one of the biggest horse events in Australia, Equitana, show her stuff in the barrel racing competition.

A selection of food vans and country clothing suppliers were also present on the day.

New book explores pages of the past

IMOGEN EVANS
JOURNALIST

A GAWLER-famous cricket bat-maker-turned-history-buff has captured the history of Gawler in a new book officially launched last week.

The history of each of the five sites and buildings that make up the Zion Lutheran Worship Centre on Church Hill has been extensively researched by author Bob Fielke.

The 26-page book explores the site’s history through photos, maps and life stories of the owners and those involved in the town’s past.

Mr Fielke has also written other books, especially around his work with cricket bats, but has now shifted his attention to history.

Speaking to a large crowd at the official launch, Mr Fielke said he was inspired to write the book after he went down a journey of research.

“What a thrill to see so many people respond to this book and the history of the area,” he said.

“I put words to paper, but

there has been so many people involved in getting this created, and it all began because someone asked me about a building we were standing in, and I went down a rabbit hole finding out information.

“I set out to get information on the building and dates of when things were built, but instead I found stories of the people involved in the community who shaped the history of the area.”

Mr Fielke said both he and the many staff members from the heritage team who helped put the book together are excited to see community members reconnect with the area’s history.

“This book records the history of five buildings and the sites, but it has also become a resource for the Gawler Lutheran Church and provides information to the State Heritage team too,” he said.

Town of Gawler Mayor Karen Redman echoed the comments and shared her thanks to Mr Fielke for capturing a slice of the town’s history within the pages.

“It is so important that people like Bob take the time and effort to record our history and create public publications such as this,” she said.

“This book will provide a tangible link that can benefit future generations, [and help] people understand the evolution of the buildings and heritage.

“We live in a world where there is often information overload about current events, however accurate information about the past is harder to find.

“In taking the time and effort to create this book, Bob has ensured that the stories and legacy of past memories of the Gawler Lutheran community are easily accessible to current and future generations.”

The book also delves into stories of the community members who helped shape the town into what it is today, including that of seven men who, in 1918, purchased allotments to continue worshipping practices, along with Mr Fielke’s grandfather.

The book continues the stories of some of the land’s first owners, and the journey the site took to become the iconic place it is today.

Copies of the book are available from Bob Fielke on 0499 777 419.

Alert SA app turned into multi-hazard platform

MORE emergency information and warnings are available through the expanded Alert SA app, aimed at keeping South Australians safe heading into summer.

The updated app – previously dedicated to bushfires – now includes alerts for severe weather, heatwaves, urban fires, floods and hazardous materials, bringing together the state’s emergency agencies.

Users can access information about fire danger ratings, total fire bans, emergency services websites and tools to prepare for an emergency.

Cross-border fire warnings also feature for the first time, with notifications issued of fires within 100 kilometres of neighbouring state and territory borders.

Community consultation, including a YourSAy survey, plus government and non-government agency feedback, helped shape the updated app.

Since 2019, the app has been downloaded more than 380,000 times and sent more than 140 million notifications for upwards of 17,000 bushfire incidents.

SES chief officer Chris Beattie said the SES welcomed the inclusion of its warnings on the app.

“This is the first time SES warnings and incidents will be included on this app since its launch in December 2019, making it a single point of information for the public to keep up to date with the latest storm, flood and heatwave warnings and incidents, alongside CFS and MFS,” he said.

“By including SES warnings and incidents, this provides us another channel to distribute critical information to the public to ensure their preparedness and safety ahead of, during and after emergencies.”

Mr Beattie also reminded the community not to rely on just one source of information during an emergency but continue to monitor other channels.

Minister for Emergency Services Dan Cregan said turning the app into a multi-hazard platform will provide the community with critical information during emergencies.

“Expanded capabilities and improved user accessibility ensures the community is informed alongside other information sources and channels,” he said.

The latest version of Alert SA can be downloaded from the Apple App Store and Google Play.

Playford school marks 150 years of community spirit

 IMOGEN EVANS
JOURNALIST

FORMER and current students and staff connected last week to celebrate Angle Vale Primary School’s 150th birthday.

The site, which was only a three-room brick cottage with a school room in 1850, became Angle Vale Primary School in 1968 with a grand total of 68 students attending.

Since then, the school has been standing tall through Playford’s history of growth and significant change.

Over the years, the school has also undergone a vast number of changes to keep up with the area’s growth.

But staff said one thing has stayed the same over the past 150 years: the areas’ community spirit and connection to Playford.

The occasion was celebrated with a massive event, inviting past and current members of the community to connect over shared history.

Among the crowd was Gawler’s Brian Burt, who had his own rich history with the area.

Mr Burt started working with the school in the 1990s, in what he called the peak growth era for the area.

“When I was there, people were terrified that building nearby campuses was going to ruin the school’s community and the little town feel,” he said.

“But all these years later, and we’re still thriving and the community is as strong as ever.”

Mr Burt also spent time as principal of the school, where he said he has fond memories of forming strong bonds with the site.

“There are still staff members who are working here when I was, and it’s so lovely to see them and catch up and discuss our fond memories,” he said.

“It has been wonderful to come back today and connect with the past, we are all still one big community at the end of the day.

“The north is good at sticking together, and we are incredibly fortunate to have the schools that we have here.”

The celebration also paid tribute to the site’s history with the surrounding area, and how Angle Vale has changed over time.

museum organised by school staff, sharing everything from historical artefacts to old school uniforms and year books.

The night also hosted a number of market stalls, family activities and food trucks.

Santa booked in for Christmas Parade at The Grove

THE Grove Shopping Centre is busy getting ready for some very special guests this weekend.

On Saturday, November 30, families visiting The Grove will have the chance to see Santa Claus and some of his friends as part of the shopping centre’s indoor Christmas Parade.

Santa, along with Mother Claus and a few reindeer, have generously taken the time out of their busy pre-Christmas schedules to come meet The Grove community.

Not only that, Santa will also be taking free Christmas photos with children until Christmas eve so families have lasting memories from the day.

Rest assured, though Santa will be spending a lot of time with the kids on the day, his workshop in the North Pole will stay right on schedule with some trusty elves left in charge.

That means he has plenty of time to hear everyone’s Christmas wishes.

With the Salvation Army band and plenty of dancers joining in on the action, there will be plenty for families to see and do on the day.

The Christmas Parade kicks off from 10am from the Haigh’s entrance to The Grove near Big W.

Make sure you have your wish list ready so you don’t miss out.

For more information about the annual Christmas celebrations and other events at The Grove, visit www.thegrovesa.com.au

Ashton’s gift drive is back

THIS Christmas, Member for Schubert Ashton Hurn has once again registered for the Salvation Army Gift Drive.

This will be the third year Ms Hurn has registered her office as a drop-off point for the gift drive, supporting those in need over Christmas.

“We know cost of living pressures could mean that Christmas looks a little different for families across our community this year,” Ms Hurn said.

“A small gift donation of a toy or other item can have a big impact and make Christmas a little bit brighter for those in need.

“It was overwhelming to see the generosity our community showed for this initiative last year, and I know it put a smile on many little faces.”

Ms Hurn’s office at 129A Murray Street, Tanunda will be open to drop off unwrapped gifts on Monday to Friday between 9am and 5pm until Friday, December 13.

The gifts will then be dropped off to Salvation Army for distribution.

Mixed reaction to proposed code amendment

THE proposed Dublin Code Amendment has received a mixed reaction from residents living in the township and surrounding districts following a community forum over the weekend.

Member for Light Tony Piccolo arranged the forum on Sunday, November 24 to help local residents and landowners gain a better understanding of the proposal and the process that a proponent led code amendment needs to follow.

The proposed Dublin Green Circular Economy Precinct would involve 400 hectares of land south of Dublin rezoned from rural zone to employment type.

Mr Piccolo said he organised the community forum in response to concerns by some residents who did not fully understand the scope of the proposal and what role they play in the process.

The proponents were invited to the forum and explained what the code amendment sought to achieve and what development would be permitted if the land was rezoned.

Mr Piccolo said that attendees found the forum helpful, “as both the proponents and I explained different aspects of the proposal and process to be followed”.

“I ensured that residents and landowners understood their rights under the code amendment process,” he said.

“Code amendments can have major impacts – both positive and negative – on local communities, so residents need to fully understand what they are being asked to comment on.

“While the proponents have outlined a bold vision for the rezoning, incorporating a range of possible land uses, the proposal which will be considered by the Minister is only the strategic employment zone.”

What developments can occur within a strategic employment zone was explained to residents at the forum and a range of questions were asked.

Under the current roles for governing proponent led code amendments, the Minister for Planning is the final decision maker, but councils have an important role in communicating their communities’ views.

Mr Piccolo urged Adelaide Plains Council to defer making a decision at Monday’s ordinary meeting until they have had an opportunity to consult directly with residents.

“Given that the consultation process is outsourced to the private proponents, council has to ensure its residents have been given effective opportunities to participate in the process,” he said.

“Ultimately, council can make any decision it believes to be in the best interest of their community, but due process must be followed.”

There was much discussion about the issue at Monday’s meeting, but the majority of councillors agreed there had been enough consultation and moved a motion to instruct the chief executive to make a submission on the code amendment.

G Force is back

MARTIN JOHNSON

AFTER performing for the Governor, Her Excellency Frances Adamson AC, who officially opened the 2024 series of original Music, Art and Poetry (MAP) events in the Main Hall of the Civic Centre, Sunday March 3 this year, G Force is back to bring the curtain down on this year’s successful series of events from 2pm on Sunday, December 1 in the Prince Albert Hotel beer garden.

Also featured will be artworks by myself and a guest poetry reading by three of Adelaide’s friendly street poets who share a billing in the ‘Streets’ New Poets Series Nigel Ford (My Father’s Son); Helen Hutton (Stepping on Shadows) and Peter Mahoney (Facebook Poems).

Prior to the guest poets’ performances there will be an open reading providing an opportunity for people to perform up to three of their own poems, all of which that will be recorded by Salisbury-based community radio station PBA FM 89.7.

These recordings are edited and broadcast by Beth Bailley for her ‘Short n Sweet – Spoken Word’ program which can be heard 8.30 p.m. the fourth Wednesday of the month.

Gawler’s MAP events are proudly made possible by Gawler Council’s Community Grants Program, Fluid Plumbing and the Eagle Foundry.

MAP wishes everyone a very merry, happy and safe festive season.

Gawler serves up bun-believable support

IMOGEN EVANS

THE Gawler community contributed a stack of cash to support families with seriously ill children as part of this year’s McHappy Day.

McDonald’s Gawler raised $10,836.40 to support the annual charity event.

Each year, all McDonald’s restaurants across Australia support Ronald McDonald House Charities (RMHC) by raising money from select menu items and merchandise.

This money goes directly to help children diagnosed with a serious illness, to provide them and their family with a range of programs to help them stay together and close to the care they need.

Over the past three decades, the event has raised more than $67 million for RMHC, and continues to raise awareness and fund every November.

This year, Gawler residents came out in droves and are still encouraged to donate to the cause via the official Ronald McDonald House Charities website.

The independent charity also relies on the work of volunteers, and encourages the community to get on board, host their own fundraiser, and spread awareness on the importance of keeping families close to essential care.

Nurse exchange program showing early success

A SIX-MONTH nurse exchange initiative enabling metropolitan and rural nurses to deepen their work experience within new settings is already reaping the rewards.

The Metro/Rural Nursing Exchange Program is a unique partnership between Yorke and Northern Local Health Network (YNLHN), Northern Adelaide Local Health Network (NALHN) and Flinders University.

The program invites early career registered nurses to enhance their speciality nursing skills by participating in an exchange.

It is already showing positive signs, with the selected eight nurses happily immersing in their new surroundings and relishing their new workplace opportunities.

Five nurses from YNLHN are gaining experience at the Lyell McEwin Hospital, while two NALHN nurses are at Port Pirie, and another is at Wallaroo.

The program is helping YNLHN and NALHN nurses by providing workplaces to expand their scope of practice and enhance their leadership skills.

Two of those are registered nurses Anna Covino and Louis Pham, who are on exchange in Port Pirie having transferred from the Lyell McEwin Hospital and Modbury Hospital respectively.

Flinders University is conducting an evaluation of this program to assist the state’s nursing workforce approach and ensure that opportunities like these deliver positive outcomes for staff and patients.

“At NALHN, we strongly believe collaboration is essential when it comes to growing a skilled and sustainable healthcare workforce,” NALHN acting executive director of nursing and midwifery Louise McGuire said.

“Nurses experiencing alternative clinical opportunities will also support communities receiving care closer to home.

“We hope this model can be replicated across the state.

“Not only is it helping to deepen the skills and experience of our nurses, it is also providing them with more job satisfaction by offering new and exciting experiences.”

The program is designed for nursing staff already working at either YNLHN or NALHN to commence the six-month placement at any time.

Rotations are available in specialities such as aged care, rehabilitation, palliative care, emergency departments and intensive care, medical, oncology, mental health, surgical, peri-operative, women and children’s health, and renal.

“I am enjoying my work and am surrounding myself with a good group of educators who are extremely supportive,” Ms Covino said.

“While I am independent, I enjoy that I am being asked if I am doing okay or need a hand.”

Funding for the development of the program and the nursing positions has been achieved through a collaborative effort which includes the Chief Nurse and Midwifery Office, SA Health and the two local health networks.

“We are pleased to learn that the nurse exchange is proving to be a huge success for registered nurses in and from YNLHN and NALHN,” Minister for Health and Wellbeing Chris Picton said.

“This is a fantastic way in which we can support our future workforce and provide nurses with valuable skills and opportunities, both professionally and personally.

“The opportunity to develop nursing skills in different settings with strengthen both our nursing workforce and care for patients.”

Graduates’ creativity shines

TALENTED artists at Trinity College have been shining at the 2024 Graduate Exhibition, which opened earlier this month.

The exhibition showcases the work of graduating Year 12 art students, including traditional paintings, visual arts, films and other media.

Member for Light Tony Piccolo attended the official opening on Friday, November 8 alongside Town of Gawler Mayor Karen Redman, City of Playford Mayor Glenn Docherty, CDW Studios’ Simon Scales, practicing artists and Adelaide Central School of Art lecturer Alex Beckinsale, plus teachers, students and their families and friends.

Mr Piccolo applauded the vibrant art scene the college nurtures while speaking in State Parliament last week, highlighting the importance of arts.

“Trinity College is playing a significant role in supporting and promoting the arts within the Gawler area,” he said.

“Our region has many young, talented artists and artwork enables them to express themselves in a way that sometimes words cannot.

“OUR REGION HAS MANY YOUNG, TALENTED ARTISTS AND ARTWORK ENABLES THEM TO EXPRESS THEMSELVES IN A WAY THAT SOMETIMES WORDS CANNOT.”
- TONY PICCOLO

“It was great to be able to talk to the artists, their friends, families and staff, see how impressive the works were and understand the stories behind the art.

“Art holds the unique power to transform our perception of the world, challenge believe, ignite conversations and inspire change.

“I look forward to seeing the works of our locals continue to convey a wealth of messages, emotions and stories into the future.”

in complementing the curriculum and shaping future leaders.

“Art is magical because it takes everyday, mundane ideas or objects and gives them a new perspective,” she said.

“It can give voice to those who often don’t have one – this is often what we need in the times that we live in.

“The journey to the end product is just as, if not more important than the final work.

“Every mark made along the way is important because it shapes the outcome.”

Students were also presented the acquisition prizes – monetary awards given to Year 11 and 12 students who have created works of exceptional quality.

These artworks will become a part of Trinity’s permanent collection.

Celebrating inclusion in the Barossa

THE Barossa Council is hosting inclusive activities at Nuriootpa Library as part of International Day of People with Disability (IDPwD).

From 10am to 1pm on December 3, the activities celebrate this year’s theme of the day, ‘amplifying the leadership of persons with disabilities for an inclusive and sustainable future’.

The day features local artist Joshua Ramsey, who has turned his passion for art into teaching people about portrait techniques, as he works on achieving his own leadership goals.

The free ‘Drawing a Portrait with Joshua’ session will have participants showcasing their creativity with charcoal, pencils and pastels from 11am to 12.30pm.

The portrait subject will be ABC journalist and disability advocate Nas Campanella.

The library environment will also have ‘Seeing the Challenge’ where participants can meet the Barossa Blindies peer support group and experience some of the daily challenges of vision impairment.

Technology will add another dimension to the day’s activities, with participants invited to practice meditation in a safe space using virtual reality.

JFA Purple Orange SKILL connector Alice Hyde will be in attendance with members of the peer network who live with disability, aiming to showcase leadership options and gather information from the community about what a safe space looks like.

For people living with disability and NDIS, Feros Care will also be on hand to answer questions and offer support.

Council’s community development officer Natalie Mudge said the local IDPwD events are open to everyone, including those seeking more knowledge about disability.

“As a community we can break down perceptions and barriers and promote a supportive and inclusive Barossa,” she said.

To register for the ‘Drawing a Portrait with Joshua’ session, book online at Barossa.sa.gov.au/events or call 8563 8411.

Gawler Lions get in the holiday spirit

LIONS Club of Gawler is getting into the holiday spirit with its annual Christmas cake sale now available for the community.

The rich festive cakes are offered in a range of different sizes and available in locations across Gawler.

Lions members are also hosting a raffle ticket sale from December 1, plus a stall with the Gawler Christmas Parade, selling their famous cakes and puddings.

Proceeds will go towards supporting local community groups and projects.

Progress for Two Wells roundabout

THE remaining construction work for stage two of the Mallala Road and Old Port Wakefield Road roundabout began last week.

Conducted by the Department for Infrastructure and Transport (DIT), this stage involves work on the north-eastern section of the roundabout to better allow for freight.

Traffic control will be in place throughout construction.

Job opportunities arise following Playford expo

A NORTHERN-owned business has welcomed a new employee following Playford’s inaugural Northern Adelaide Jobs and Careers Expo to improve its visibility in the community and help fill vacant positions.

International student Madusha Lakmini Gunawardhana is one of more than 2000 people who took the opportunity to attend the expo and, through her exposure to its career opportunities, has since taken on a brand-new position at Elizabeth South’s Williams Metal Fabrication.

The family-operated business said it has struggled to not only attract local employees but fill positions with skilled workers.

“Our industry struggles to find new employees – the expo is a chance to promote the boilermaker welder trade, as well as meet potential employees. Finding Madusha is a bonus and we look forward to working together,” director Stuart Rogers said.

Williams Metal Fabrication’s employees are mostly local residents and, as the trade becomes more advanced, Ms Gunawardhana is set to help grow its popularity in the area and encourage the next generation to take on the trade.

“Being an international student and landing an engineering job while studying is not easy – so the expo really helped me. I am very grateful for this opportunity,” Ms Gunawardhana said.

“I am really looking forward to using my knowledge and skills in this new role.”

City of Playford Mayor Glenn Docherty welcomes this local employment success story and hopes other jobseekers are inspired to find new opportunities at Playford’s career networking events.

“This outcome shows these events are a crucial part of getting local people into local jobs and industries, while also strengthening businesses across our city,” he said.

Numeracy checks to be introduced in all schools

MORE than 60 per cent of students were recently found ‘mathematically vulnerable’, which has prompted the State Government to introduce a numeracy check for all Year 1 students from 2026.

The trial – rolled out for 7000 students across 95 public schools – identified significant numbers of students struggled with place value understanding, and multiplication and division.

Without intervention, the State Government said these students could experience difficulties in progressing through the curriculum.

Minister for Education, Training and Skills Blair Boyer introduced the trial at the beginning of this year, first in four schools, and then a call-out for other schools that resulted in almost 100 schools taking part in the wider trial.

The numeracy check is a similar concept to the phonics check, introduced by former Education Minister Susan Close in 2017.

The first phonics results in 2018 found, out of almost 6000 students that took part, 58 per cent did not meet the expected achievement.

The introduction of the phonics check has seen literacy improve by 28 percentage points since the first check began.

This year, 71 per cent of Year 1 students met or exceeded expectations, which requires them to correctly decode 28 or more words out of 40.

It is hoped the introduction of the numeracy check will lead to the same positive results for students.

Mr Boyer said results in numeracy were of a concern, particularly from younger students’ abilities to grasp certain mathematical concepts.

“When I proposed a numeracy check, similar to the literacy check that former Education Minister Susan Close introduced in 2017 – I was met with resistance,” he said.

“Yet, the literacy check led the way across the globe, with other jurisdictions implementing it and seeing vast improvements in literacy.

“That’s exactly what I want to see happen with this numeracy check. It’s a way of understanding how students work out mathematical equations, and what might be preventing them from understanding more complex ideas and concepts.

“I’m pleased to see my territory and state colleagues taking notice and expert advice recommending our approach to early intervention strategies.”

Mallala SACWA members celebrate

MEMBERS of the Mallala branch of the South Australian Country Women’s Association (SACWA) enjoyed a pooled lunch in their clubrooms on November 7.

Following a short meeting, members attended the Mallala Coffee House.

Four Year 6 students from Mallala Primary School – Elizabeth, Chelsea, Pippa and Annabelle – were in attendance to assist with the coffee making and to serve at tables.

Deputy principal Anne Thomas and student services officer Jayne Tiller were also in attendance assisting the students.

The students were prompt and efficient with their service and the association wished them well as they move on to Year 7 next year.

The branch members enjoyed a birthday cake provided by member Helen Farrelly as several members have birthdays around this time.

The Mallala branch of SACWA will reconvene in 2025 with 11 members.

Dark Skies Matter

THE Dark Sky Movement is gaining momentum across Australia. This is an international movement which aims to provide education about the ongoing challenges of artificial light pollution and the effects on wildlife and humanity.

Closer to home it was encouraging to see Carrickalinga become Australia’s first International Dark Sky Community. This honour was awarded to the town by Dark Sky International, a United States based not for profit organisation, formed in 1988.

The objectives of the Dark Sky Movement make a lot of sense. The main focus is all about appropriate lighting for our communities. Smart dark sky lighting aims to illuminate the ground and immediate area and not the sky through good design and the use of softer lighting hues. This saves energy and money. It also improves security for footpath and reserve users walking at night.

Traditional LED based “cold white” public space lighting systems tend to blind a pedestrian’s or cyclist’s vision beyond the immediate area. This situation can reduce the options for choosing the safest walking or cycling path.

The recent release of the State Government’s Greater Adelaide Regional Plan (GARP) indicates the focus on urban expansion around Adelaide. This includes current rural land in the Adelaide Hills, Fleurier Peninsula and northern Adelaide Plains. Essential to establish good public lighting policies and standards which will have minimal impact on our wildlife such as microbats, owls and possums and also improve human health and our connection with the incredible light show in the sky.

New garden facilities being developed.

Gardening and Food opportunity

GAWLER Environment Centre is looking for volunteers to be involved with an environmentally friendly garden being established with grant support from Northern and Yorke Landscape Board and community volunteers.

Learn good techniques for growing plants, including many food plants. Learn about low impact pest control. Get involved with a friendly group. Call in at the centre 8 Main North Road, Gawler 9.30-3.30 pm Monday to Thursday. Closed for a couple of weeks over Christmas – last day 19 Dec. Further information call 8524 6265 or email via website.

Tracking the health of our waterways

CITIZEN scientists in Clare and the Barossa Valley pitched in to help track the health of local waterways in October and November.

Local volunteers were involved in the springtime Waterbug Bioblitz events that involved collecting samples from permanent pools and analysing them for macroinvertebrates (water bugs) and water quality data.

This information contributes to the bigger picture of the region’s water health and condition and assists with the ongoing management of water resources.

The Clare Valley Waterbug Bioblitz was held on Friday, October 4, 2024, with volunteers helping to collect samples from 10 sites along the Broughton and Wakefield River catchments. While on November 1 samples were collected from 12 sites in the Gawler River catchment. The attendees all received practical training from aquatic ecologists.

Waterbug Bioblitz events are held around the same time each year to provide a snapshot of the catchment health and trends in condition. New volunteers are invited to express their interest in next year’s events. Call the Northern and Yorke Landscape Board on 8841 3444.

Quick, stop the spread of caltrop

MOST people know the pain of stepping on a spiky caltrop prickly. These nasty, “declared” weeds quickly pierce the skin and leave a throbbing toe or foot even after their removal.

It is not a weed that you want to take hold on your property, yet their ability to lodge into shoes, tyres and livestock means they spread easily.

Early summer is the time to keep your eyes peeled for new germinations of caltrop (tribulus terrestris). With each mature caltrop plant producing up to 1000 seeds, pulling them out or using a herbicide before they get a chance to set seed is the best line of defence.

For areas already overrun with caltrop, one option is to use an old piece of carpet or rubber to pick them up en masse. Roll out the carpet, walk over it and then throw it all out. There are also tow-behind rollers designed to collect caltrop burrs as they move along vineyard rows.

For advice about how to control caltrop on your property, speak to a landscape officer at the Northern and Yorke Landscape Board or find out more at www.landscape.sa.gov.au/ny

Greater Adelaide Region Plan

Most of the submissions [councils, community groups etc] on the draft plan are now up on the SA Planning Commission website. Internet search on “GARP submissions” quickly finds them. Initial Planning Commission reports on public consultation says that protection of productive land and support for strong climate and environment protections are among the most common responses. Light Regional Council decision to oppose land set aside for farming becoming urban development near Roseworthy could be a significant response.

Eco Christmas Decorations

Make your own decorations from natural and recycled material – presented by Gawler Environment Centre and Gawler Libraries. 11-12.30 am Thurs, Dec 12. at Gawler Civic Centre, 89 Murray Street, Gawler. Booked out but there is a wait list. Free – ring 85229213.

Presented by Gawler Environment Centre. Sat, December 14, 9.30am-12noon. Gawler Elderly Centre, 37 Fourteenth St, Gawler South. Free or by donation. No need to book. General household items can be brought in to repair.

Christmas presents

Think of some innovative low environmental presents – invite family for a walk in a local conservation park, organise a visit to nature playground at Cobbler Creek Conservation Park, recycle some books, visit op shop such as Gawler Community House.

Payphones for little callers introduced for the holiday season

IMOGEN EVANS

CHILDREN across the region will be able to make free calls to Santa in time for Christmas on one of the more than 14,000 Telstra payphones across the nation.

However, the Telstra team notices that traditional payphones are not always the right height for little callers and have envisioned the very first kid-sized payphone.

Until Christmas Eve, kids can call Santa by dialling #HO HO HO (464646) with the completely free and accessible service.

Telstra’s Free Calls to Santa has become an increasingly popular festive tradition for Australian families, with more than half a million calls made to Santa from payphones across Australia last year alone.

The team also highlighted how calling Santa is not just festive fun, it can also be a great way for kids to learn how to find and use a payphone in case of an emergency, especially if they have never used a non-mobile phone before.

To find your closest payphone, visit the Telstra website.

Playford residents feel the beat

AS International Day of People with Disability quickly approaches, the City of Playford is encouraging residents to march to the beat of their own drum with its Celebration of Ability event for 2024.

On Friday, November 29, Playford residents will converge at the Playford Civic Centre for an evening of song and dance, featuring live music and inclusive music tech. Playford Celebration of Ability will be one of the first events in South Australia to utilise and raise awareness of this leading-edge technology.

Attendees will also have an opportunity to wear Haptic Vests, an innovative sensory technology which allows the wearer to feel music through vibrations.

This inclusive experience enables everyone, including those who are deaf or hard of hearing, to fully immerse themselves in the live performance.

City of Playford Mayor Glenn Docherty said the event is one of the most anticipated events for inclusion on the Playford calendar.

“This year, we are hosting Celebration of Ability – Your Own Beat, an event centred around the universal language of music, showcasing the many ways people can share in their love of music,” he said.

“The event brings the community together to connect in one place where everyone can feel the beat of the music in their own way.”

Music fans will have an opportunity to sing and dance along to rock anthem classics, with the popular cover band Flaming Sambucas headlining the event.

The evening will also include the International Day of People with Disability Mayoral Awards, which recognise people living with a disability and other local people or community groups who have contributed to improving outcomes for others with disability.

The categories include personal development, business/employment/education, sports/recreation/arts, and community services, with tickets for the event available via Eventbrite.

Salisbury’s plans to maximise predicted northern growth

THE City of Salisbury has released its ambitious City Plan 2024, welcoming the growth focus and potential for Adelaide’s north outlined in the State Government’s draft Greater Adelaide Regional Plan (GARP).

The City Plan outlines what council will focus on to ensure the opportunities are maximised and the outcomes benefit the whole community.

The opportunity includes substantial land available in the City of Salisbury to support current and future economic development, significant propose investment in housing and economic activity, a new level of cooperation and shared vision between government council and industry, and a diverse population bringing new skills and seeking opportunities.

Some key projects underway and contained within the City Plan include the $200 million mixed-use redevelopment of Salisbury City Centre, plus plans for affordable housing along Walkleys Road Corridor, Lake Windemere.

There is also the development of an eco-industrial precinct west of Port Wakefield Road, plus the activation of recreational and community facilities across the city.

State planning system approving more homes faster

CHANGES to South Australia’s planning system are aiming to help get houses to market quicker than ever.

PlanSA’s latest performance report has shown recent changes to the regulations and the Planning and Design Code are helping get houses to market quicker.

One regulation change resulted in streamlined approvals in greenfield areas, resulting in more than 500 dwelling applications being approved with no planning consent required in 2023-24, compared to 18 streamlined approvals in the previous year.

Approvals for land division were up 19 per cent this year with 4347 additional allotments issued a Land Division Certificate, meaning there was also more land available for new houses.

The report also shows that PlanSA has facilitated higher levels of investment in South Australia, with more than $5 billion worth of residential and commercial development approvals granted in 2023-24 alone.

Minister for Housing and Urban Development Nick Champion said the state’s streamlined planning system is helping get approvals faster and homes on the market sooner.

“We are removing unnecessary red tape and increasing transparency to ensure we have an efficient and trusted planning system that can help combat the housing crisis,” he said.

A STAPLE of Roseworthy celebrates a significant milestone next month, as the Roseworthy Hotel reaches its 70th anniversary.

The venue was opened on December 18, 1954 at its current location along the Horrocks Highway through the centre of the town.

It was previously known as The Roseworthy Junction Hotel, near the railway tracks, before the new venue opened by Colin Leitch as Leitch's Roseworthy Hotel.

The hotel was passed down through the Leitch family for a number of years but is currently run by Ed Johnson as part of EB Hotels, a family trust, taking over in January 2023.

Mr Johnson said the development and growth happening at Roseworthy presented a great opportunity to join the community.

"We're here to appeal to the majority of the community and to be a hub in the town," he said.

"I think it will be a great place for the

The hotel features a dining area, that was installed in December 1990, alongside the bottle shop, with the bistro seeing a large increase in trade since EB Hotels took over.

The front of the venue used to be a brick wall, but in the early 2000s, the window front was added, allowing more natural light and creating a more homely environment.

Mr Johnson said there are more plans for expansion over the next couple of years, including some alterations to the bar area, a new beer garden, plus a drive through bottle shop.

He also wants to see an increase in functions hosted by the venue as the region continues to grow.

Since taking over, Mr Johnson said the response from the community has been very positive, with a lot of “local support and help from a number of long-standing community members”.

“The interaction with the local community has been great, with pretty much everyone taking us in and accepting us into the local community,” he said.

The hotel has also been a positive hub of employment for people in the area.

Plans are still being confirmed but Mr Johnson said there will be a celebration over the coming weeks to mark the 70th anniversary.

GPs urge government to make healthcare more affordable

THE government is being urged to do more to make essential GP care affordable, after a national survey showed more people are delaying care they need due to financial concerns amid the cost-of-living crisis.

Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) data released on Monday, November 18, revealed the proportion of patients citing cost as a reason they have delayed or avoided seeing their GP has increased from seven to 8.8 per cent.

It also confirmed that females, younger people, lower income people and patients with long-term health conditions were more likely to delay or not use health services when needed due to cost.

Royal Australian College of GPs president Nicole Higgins said “funding gets results”.

“GPs have been able to bulk bill more children, pensioners, and healthcare card holders since the tripling of bulk billing incentives,” she said.

“But more is needed to ensure everyone in Australia can get the care they need, and with the cost-of-living crisis, too many people are delaying essential care.”

Dr Higgins said the ABS data shows that more people are delaying health care simply because they can not afford it.

“We know that when people put off care, they get sicker and it puts more strain on our hospitals and the whole health system,” she said.

“We’re also seeing young people starting to treat preventative care as optional, because it’s a cost they can’t afford, which is concerning.”

The survey showed that 15.4 per cent of people aged from 25 to 34-years-old delayed GP care due to cost in 2023-24, up from 10.2 per cent in the previous year.

“Preventive care is essential at all ages – it is how we catch disease early, get on top of health issues, and help people live healthier and longer lives,” Dr Higgins said.

“We’re calling on the government to do more to make general practice care accessible and affordable for everyone, including by increasing patients’ Medicare rebates for longer consults.

“There is no substitute for the care you get from a GP who knows you and your history.

“More investment in general practice will help to ensure that people at every income level stay healthy and out of hospital.”

Search continues for Gawler’s Set for Life winner

A GAWLER resident or visitor became a multi-millionaire last week but may not know it yet.

The elusive winner held the only division one winning entry nationally in Set for Life draw 3392, drawn Monday, November 18, and pocketed $4.8 million to be paid in monthly instalments of $20,000 for 20 years.

As the winner is not part of The Lott Members Club, officials are waiting for the ticketholder to come forward.

The winning entry was purchased at Northern News at Gawler Central Shopping Centre, and store owners Tanya and Tom Lane said they were thrilled to sell a division one winning entry for the third time in three years.

“We’ve been celebrating this exciting milestone by decorating the store with posters, streamers and balloons.

“The last time we sold a division one winning entry was in 2022, so the team and customers alike are all very excited.”

The Lott spokesperson Khat McIntyre said she could not wait to unite South Australia’s latest division one winner with their annuity prize.

“We’re urging all players who purchased a Set for Life ticket from Northern News to check their tickets today,” she said.

“If this winner had registered their entry to a player card or online account, they would have already been united with their prize.

“Imagine how excited it would be to realise you’ve just won Set for Life.

“Your plans for the next 20 years would certainly change with those extra digits in your bank account every month.”

The winning numbers in the draw were 29, 13, 16, 31, 30, 7 and 20, while the supplementary numbers were 38 and 22.

Growing old together is not going to happen as we thought it would

DEMENTIA AUSTRALIA

LIVING with dementia can bring about various emotions, including grief.

But it is not just grieving about what was, it can also be grief about what the future will bring.

The dreams that Jonathan and his wife Sophie shared about their future have dramatically changed since he was diagnosed with younger onset frontotemporal dementia last year.

"We've always talked about growing old together and I now know that it's not going to happen the way we thought it would," Sophie said.

Instead, Sophie is now focused on keeping Jonathan living well in the present and the time to come.

"He's got the right to have a fulfilling life," Sophie said.

"As his family, we have to make adjustments to ensure he can still be independent, be respected, have friendships."

While Sophie understands that the future looks different, it is not always easy to cope when someone you love experiences these changes, which is why the couple reached out to the National Dementia Helpline after Jonathan's diagnosis.

"I was directed to online events and I found webinars," Sophie said.

"I also started downloading books and the Dementia Australia website has got a whole lot of facts sheets about mild cognitive impairment, so I just literally read everything I possibly could.

"It didn't stop me crying but it helped me understand how I could be better at coping."

Grief when things change

Grief can also arise when loved ones living with dementia express themselves in different ways or through thought patterns than they've previously had.

Sophie used a recent incident of attending a medical appointment as an example.

"Jonathan just got out of the car, crossed the road and kept walking," Sophie said.

"Never in 30 years has he ever left me to walk by myself."

But it is not just carers or loved ones who experience grief.

Noticing these changes in yourself can also trigger these feelings.

Jonathan says he has come to terms with various changes including only being able to follow one topic and conversation at a time.

"Even if I was sitting there having a conversation with one person and there were another two people next to me having another conversation, I couldn't follow," Jonathan said.

Ambiguous Grief

National Dementia Helpline advisor Andrea explains that grief can start much sooner than people expect.

"Often it's thought that grief happens at the end of life for someone, but what we know and hear is that the grieving period can start from the point of diagnosis," Andrea said.

"It's a term called ambiguous loss because your loved one is still here but there are losses that are related to the diagnosis and the condition."

Those losses can come in the form of many life aspects and uncertainty about what living with dementia means going forward.

"Changes in their relationship, losses around the future and future plans they once had," Andrea said.

"For someone experiencing that, it's hard to share those losses because they aren't obvious to anyone else nor is the anticipation of further losses along the way."

Jonathan is grateful his family has support and services from Dementia Australia that they can access when they are struggling.

"The knowledge that Dementia Australia is supporting them is fantastic and having the services that they have, has just made every difference," Jonathan said.

For support with grief

If you are experiencing grief or loss, or need any type of dementia-related information or advice, contact the National Dementia Helpline 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year on 1800 100 500.

The holiday season can be particularly difficult, but a donation to Dementia Australia this Christmas can make a real difference to those people in the community who live with dementia every day.

The National Dementia Helpline is a handy resource for people living with dementia.

Home Care packages on offer

AGED CARE DECISIONS

HOW much does a Home Care Package cost?
If daily tasks such as grocery shopping, showering, or cleaning have become a bit difficult, you or your loved one may be eligible for a government subsidised Home Care Package.
But how much does a Home Care Package cost?
Let's look at the out-of-pocket costs you may need to contribute.
How can a Home Care Package support you?
The Australian Government funds Home Care Packages to help eligible older Australians access home care services.
Home Care Packages pay for comprehensive home care services across four levels – covering everything from basic household services to higher level nursing and medical support.
Each Home Care Package level provides a set amount of money, allocated as an annual budget.
Home Care Package providers use this money, on an individual's behalf, to organise services to help them live comfortably and independently at home.
What can Home Care Package funds be used for?
Depending on the Home Care

Package level you are assigned, services may include:

- medical care
- personal care and grooming
- home administration
- chores and housekeeping
- garden maintenance
- home maintenance
- shopping and meal preparation
- home delivered meals
- travel support
- goods, equipment, and assistive technology
- mobility aids
- home modifications
- allied health services
- dementia care
- social support and companionship.

What will you have to pay?
The fees you will need to pay will depend on your care needs, your financial situation, which level Home Care Package level you are allocated and which Home Care Package provider you choose to manage the services you receive.
Home Care Package fees can include:
A basic daily fee: everyone who receives a Home Care Package must pay this set fee, which ranges from $11.72 to $13.08 depending on your package level.
An income tested fee: an income and assets assessment conducted by Services Australia/

Centrelink will determine whether you need to pay this fee, which can be up to $37.55 per day.
Service and management fees: these are taken out of your package and vary depending on providers.
Additional service fees: your Home Care Package provider may charge additional fees that they must disclose to you as part of their fee breakdown.
More about the income and assets assessment
If you do not complete an income assessment, you will be

What does the Government contribute?

Walara continues to redevelop local facilities

THE aged care sector continues to remain a challenging one for boards, management and staff – particularly in regional areas.

Walara offering residential, independent living and home care services is well regarded by its community for embracing these challenges and providing high quality aged care services.

Following the opening of the $4 million Walara Hamley Bridge redevelopment, the focus has been on the $5.9 million Walara Gilbert Valley redevelopment funded by the Australian Government Department of Health and Aged Care.

Once completed in the early new year, Walara Gilbert Valley will offer 32 residential aged care beds of which four new premium beds become available early in December 2024.

Whilst Walara is pleased to have secured this significant level of funding from the Australian Government, community support continues to be sought to fund the required landscaping and surrounds.

Walara thanks the contribution and support of the Friends of Gilbert Valley Senior Citizens Homes.

Walara also acknowledges the recent kind donation of $2000 from Annette and Bill Cinnamond, whose parents Shirley and Colin Broad, previously long-term and well-known residents of Burra, are now living in residential care at Walara Gilbert Valley.

The daughter Annette and son-in-law Bill recently opened their garden at Belair in the Adelaide Hills as part of Open Gardens SA.

The proceeds raised by Annette and Bill from their open garden have been donated to Walara Gilbert Valley and will go towards the redevelopment of the garden area for residents at the nursing home to enjoy.

Walara chief executive Nino Di Sisto said that these and other donations from the community are sincerely appreciated as it will enable completion of the redevelopment of the site.

At the Walara Balaklava Millcourt site, tenders have recently closed for the $2 million Australian Government-funded construction of four additional units to accommodate staff relocating to the region, including international nurses who continue to arrive and make up an important

The community is commended for the manner of which they have embraced and supported our international nurses.

Protect our older community with vaccine

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND AGED CARE

OLDER age continues to be the biggest risk factor for severe Covid-19 disease.

Everyone aged 75 years and over is recommended to have a Covid-19 vaccination every six months.

For those aged 65 to 74 years, a Covid-19 vaccination is recommended at least every 12 months.

You do not have to wait six months anymore between your last infection and having a Covid-19 vaccination.

Covid-19 vaccines are free, safe and effective.

The vaccine will protect our older community and you from serious illness.

If you have a family member, friend or loved one living or working in an aged care home, please help them to get their Covid-19 vaccine now.

Covid-19 vaccination helps reduce the risk of serious illness, hospitalisation and death.

Book a vaccination To find a Covid-19 vaccine clinic near you:

- speak with your aged care provider, doctor, community health centre or pharmacist
- book an appointment on the health service finder. Call the healthdirect helpline on 1800 022 222 if you need Covid-19 advice.

For more information, read the Covid-19 residential aged care vaccination information guide on the Department of Health and Aged Care website.

Why Hearing Matters

INDEPENDENCE is a point of pride for the staff at Hearing Matters Gawler.

"We pride ourselves on our independence at Hearing Matters," senior audiologist Jan Machotka said. "Meaning we are not aligned with or owned by any hearing aid manufacturers."

What does this mean for you?

This allows you your choice of any make and model of device from around the world.

"We are not going to simply endorse our own one product to you, but discuss all of the possible rehabilitation options and give you the final decision based on your own needs and preferences," he said.

Hearing Matters also allows you to make your own final decision after a no obligation one month real world trial in your own living environments.

The organisation believe this is the only way to make sure that you are getting the absolute best results possible and continue to adjust or trial different devices until complete success and satisfaction is achieved.

"We do not pay commissions, ensuring ethical practice, affordable pricing and no bias," Mr Machotka said.

Many happy patients have been pleased to share their positive experiences at Hearing Matters.

Mr C Stacey described Hearing Matters as "the essence of courtesy, consideration and cooperation".

Mr P. Maslin has said "it is a pleasure to deal with experts who know their products".

While Mr G Docking states being "impressed by their work ethic and pleasant, friendly attitude" and goes on to add "their unbiased, independent advice made my choices easy and informed".

Ms Y Tiss was also pleased with Hearing Matters for "the information about the range of hearing aids available", adding that "it was given in a manner that was very helpful in deciding which option would suit my lifestyle".

Ms Tiss went on to explain how she has been "very pleased with the hearing aid chosen" and that "I am happy to say the quality of my life has improved considerably".

Mr J Kaye has described Hearing Matters as "welcoming, helpful, informative, knowledgeable and totally professional, with outstanding client relations and service".

Hearing Matters also believes in providing the best ongoing support, with 30 locations across both rural and metro South Australia.

"We have masters degree university graduate clinicians, ensuring thorough knowledge and skill sets," Mr Machotka said.

For a free test in Gawler, with an unbiased opinion and trial of any device of your choice, call Hearing Matters on 1300 731 710.

Modify your house to suit your needs

JOHN AUSTIN,
VIA NATIONAL SENIORS AUSTRALIA

AS you get older, living independently in your own home can become more difficult.

If you are finding it harder to do the things you used to, you can ask for some help at home.

While accessing support with food preparation, house cleaning, and personal care is well known, accessing government-funded house modifications is not.

Home modification providers are available to make houses safer and more age-friendly, extending the time that older people can remain in their own home.

These may be small modifications, such as installing levered handles on doors, easy-access taps, bath rails or shower hoses, or larger ones, such as installing a bathroom or kitchen on the ground floor or modifying the stairs.

Carers also appreciate modifications that reduce risk and danger and make their work easier. Examples include installing a ramp entrance to the home of someone living in a wheelchair or grab rails in the bathroom to help someone get in and out of the bath.

You can apply for a home modifications subsidy through the My Aged Care online portal.

There are two options:

- The Commonwealth Home Support Programme gives entry-level home help to seniors to support them to stay free, and independent. Subsidised home modifications services include installation of safety alerts or alarms, inclines, and handrails.
- Home Care Packages, for seniors with more complex care demands, provide a range of subsidised home modifications as a component of support services.

Where to get advice

The Home Modification Information Clearinghouse (HMinfo) is a Commonwealth Government-funded information service that offers advice about home modifications for older people and people with disability.

HMinfo researches and disseminates home modification information to the public as well as industry, care workers, and even academics.

Some of their latest consumer factsheets provide information about:

- Staying safe during a flood
- Home automations for older people and people with disability
- Escaping a fire
- Home safety resources for older people
- Arranging home modifications.

Arranging home modifications

If you want to know more about what home modifications are available, you can contact HMinfo on 1800 305 486 or visit www.homemods.info

An initial step could be consulting an occupational therapist (OT) who can help identify areas of the home that need modifying.

OTs are health professionals who work with you to assess your support needs.

Ask your GP about making an appointment with an OT or visit OT Australia or ring 1300 682878.

Modification factors to consider

Adaptability: some modifications can be made quickly to meet your demands without having to redesign your home.

These include fitting grab-rails on bathroom walls and flexible cases under the sink so that someone in a wheelchair can utilise the areas.

Accessibility: improve accessibility by making doorways broader, for wheelchairs, reduce kitchen cupboards heights for sinks and cabinets, and fixing grab-rails and ramps.

Some typical modifications

- Slopes/ramps, handrails, and other mobility aids

- Grab rails in showers
- Easy-to-use tap sets
- Slip-safe surfaces in wet areas
- Expanding entryways
- Changing bench heights in bathrooms and kitchens
- Reinstalling light switches and powerpoints to lower their height
- Installing furniture raisers, frames, and lifts
- Installing emergency alert and observing systems
- Using automatic or motion technology to control lighting, shades, and other gadgets.

Luxury and functionality

9 Congdon Street, Gawler East

THIS beautifully crafted three-bedroom home offers the perfect blend of luxury, functionality, and style.

The inviting horseshoe driveway, providing both convenience and street appeal, sets the tone for what lies inside - welcome to 9 Congdon Street, Gawler East.

At the heart of the home is a modern and sophisticated kitchen, designed to impress even the most discerning chef.

Featuring a striking glass washer, matte black sink and tapware with a sensor tap for added convenience, this kitchen is the epitome of contemporary design.

Timber accents add warmth and contrast to the sleek black matte finishes, while a durable stone benchtop provides ample workspace.

The kitchen seamlessly flows to the outdoor entertaining area through a servery, making alfresco dining and hosting effortless.

Pendant lighting adds an elegant touch, enhancing the kitchen's ambiance.

The spacious lounge area is both cosy and stylish, anchored by a stunning feature stone wall and a combustion heater, perfect for creating a warm and inviting atmosphere during the cooler months.

Throughout the home, evaporative cooling ensures year-round comfort, making it a true retreat for every season.

Featuring a full-house water filtration system, ensuring clean and pure water throughout every tap in the home, the system is low-maintenance with a scheduled, annual filter replacement.

Additionally, the property boasts a fully automated irrigation system in the backyard, perfect for maintaining a lush and vibrant outdoor space with minimal effort.

The master bedroom is a private sanctuary, boasting a generous walk-in robe and a luxurious ensuite.

The ensuite bathroom is fitted with high-end finishes, including a stone benchtop that mirrors the quality seen throughout the home.

Two additional well-sized bedrooms complete the living space, perfect for family or guests.

In addition to the master ensuite, the main bathroom also features a sleek stone benchtop, providing a touch of luxury and cohesion in design.

This home is not only a place to live but a place to truly enjoy the finer things in life.

Contact Ray White Gawler East about this property on (08) 7806 8227.

Modern rural retreat

91 Clancy Road, Gawler Belt

NESTLED on the picturesque outskirts of Gawler Belt, 91 Clancy Road offers a harmonious blend of modern living and rural serenity.

Stepping inside, the heart of the home impresses with a renovated kitchen, meals, and living space.

Featuring stone benchtops, a 900mm electric oven and cooktop, a dishwasher, a tiled splashback, and a built-in pantry, the kitchen seamlessly blends style and practicality.

Ceiling fans, downlights, and an auto roller shutter in the front living room enhance comfort and privacy.

The master bedroom, located off the entry, boasts a built-in robe, a ceiling fan, and a manual roller shutter.

The central bathroom includes a shower recess, single vanity, and toilet, complemented by a second separate toilet and ample built-in hallway storage.

Bedroom two mirrors the master with a built-in robe, ceiling fan, and manual roller shutter, while the versatile study, also equipped with a ceiling fan and roller shutter, could easily serve as a fourth bedroom.

Bedroom three or the rumpus room, positioned at the far end of the home, offers a built-in robe, walk-in storage, split system air conditioning, and backyard access.

A recently upgraded ducted reverse-cycle heating and cooling system (just 12 months old) ensures year-round comfort, while hybrid flooring flows seamlessly throughout.

Solar panels add energy efficiency, and the laundry completes the interior functionality.

Step outside to find a spacious pergola with a ceiling fan, perfect for entertaining.

The property boasts three well-maintained paddocks (two with shelters), a full-size dressage arena, two stalls, and a raised garden bed.

Three rainwater tanks (approximately 22.5kL each) provide ample water supply, while planted ground cover between paddocks and along the boundary enhances the landscape.

Additional features include shedding with concrete flooring and power, a septic system, and a meticulously designed outdoor layout that caters to equestrian pursuits or hobby farming.

This property combines modern conveniences with rural charm, creating the perfect sanctuary for families, horse enthusiasts, or those seeking a tranquil lifestyle.

Kellond kicks her way to gold

GAWLER East Primary School student Danielle Kellond took home gold at this year's Australian Taekwondo National Championships, earning reward for her hard work after a bronze last year.

The nine-year-old began her training under head instructor Evan King at Just Kicks Taekwondo in Smithfield Plains just before her fifth birthday, and she qualified for her second consecutive National Championships by earning bronze at the South Australian State Selection competition.

It was a rollercoaster of results for Kellond, who finished third among her fellow South Aussies in the local qualifiers, but ran through the field when the lights shone brightest against the country's best to secure gold.

Her dad Shane Kellond shared Danielle's mindset as she went into the biggest tournament of the year.

"She was probably more nervous last year, but still was nervous as it's a big competition and she wanted to go further this time," he said.

"We did expect to do well this year, she has put in a lot of training not only at the club, but at home after school and on weekends.

"She has done well at some of the local comps this season, winning a range of gold, silver and bronze medals.

"She was absolutely ecstatic and emotional to win gold, and she now can't wait to get going in the new year and get back to the National Championships and try to win again."

It could be the start of a decorated journey in the martial art for the young South Gawler footballer, who has her sights set on the pinnacle of sport.

"She has a goal that she would love to represent her country at an Olympic level, and understands the training she will need to keep up to do so," Shane said.

"Danielle wants to give a massive thankyou to all her instructors and teammates at Just Kicks Taekwondo Development Centre, especially head instructor Evan King – and of course her parents for all of their support."

Bulldogs back in BLGW

LIAM PHILLIPS

BAROSSA District Football Club kick-started its preseason on Thursday night for their newly re-formed senior women's team, and the Bulldogs are buzzing to be back competing for the BLGW crown.

The club is no stranger to success in the senior women's ranks, finishing top-four and playing in a preliminary final in each of the 2021 (7-4-1 record), 2022 (7-5) and 2023 (10-2) seasons.

Notably, however, was that Angaston failed to field a senior side in both 2022 and 2023, resulting in a significant portion of the team hopping over to Williamstown to pull on a Bulldogs guernsey.

When Angaston re-entered the mix this year, it caused a mini-exodus of returning Panthers leaving the Bulldogs, meaning that for the first time since the BLGW's formation Barossa District would not be represented in the top grade.

Fortunately it was only a one-year hiatus, with the club announcing in October that new co-senior women's coaches Dean Woods and Greg Dempsey have been brought in to get things back on track.

Dempsey was an experienced SANFL midfielder in the late 1990s and had a cup of coffee in the AFL system, originally training with the inaugural Port Adelaide AFL squad before eventually returning to the local ranks where he won premierships at Salisbury West and North Haven.

Woods also comes from North Haven, where he played over 500 senior games for the club and was a part of three premierships. He followed his playing career with more than a decade of coaching, including four years as a senior women's coach.

Barossa District's women's football coordinator Kristen Amber took the time to speak with The Bunyip about the excitement and challenges that come with getting a senior team off the ground.

"The club had been in discussion with Greg and Dean for several months, with a view of them both working together to create a new and exciting football program at the Barossa District Football Club," she said.

"We believe with the extensive experience Greg and Dean have gained from both playing and coaching, they will be invaluable to our club.

"They will create an environment where there is a heavy focus on football fundamentals, teamwork, love of the game and respect towards opposition players, umpires and team mates.

"It is extremely difficult rebuilding a side from scratch. Having said that, the response that we received from our first announcement was wonderful and we are very optimistic that more people will want to join us going forward as we start our 2025 season."

The recruits have already begun to flow as excitement builds about the Bulldogs' return and the club's impending move to the newly renovated facility in Lyndoch that will play host for the AFL's Gather Round.

"We have been fortunate enough to secure a number of recruits and returning players for next season," Amber said.

"With the signing of these players, it brings plenty of excitement to our club, which we believe through social media and word of mouth will promote a fun and exciting opportunity and environment for more players to come and join the Bulldog family in the coming months."

One of those returning former players is local media personality Bailee Major, who said she could not miss the opportunity to have another crack with her favourite club.

"I've been involved since the beginning of the women's league in 2018, generally in a more off-field role, but whether it was playing or on the sidelines, I just love being around it," she said.

"I've been hosting the BLGW show for the last few seasons, doing the weekly wrap ups with KOTN Media, supporting all the teams and the whole league, but I've always hinted I'd love to be back in a playing position, and opportunity has risen this season to do so, so I'm back on."

"Honestly I never doubted we'd have a team again this year. Unfortunately last year we couldn't fill the senior side, but we have a lot of our under 16s ready to come into the senior team and we've had a lot of previous players coming back too.

"I wasn't really approached to come back as I never really left, this is my home club and whether I'm helping out behind the scenes or lacing up the boots in a game or two, it'll always be for the Dogs."

For those out there who are considering lacing up the boots for the 2025 season, Major made the case for why Barossa District is the perfect place for any skill level.

"Just come have a night on the track with us and see what it's all about," she said.

"I know this team is going to play some great footy this year, but more importantly the girls are awesome and we've got some great new coaches and support staff to really have a great year."

"As a team we've always been really culture-focused, creating a great team and club moral. With the new Lyndoch facilities on the horizon we're only looking to settle in and give all BDFC players the best opportunity to play good footy."

Preseason training continues for the next three Thursday nights (November 28, December 5 and December 12) at Williamstown Oval, 6.30pm, before the Christmas break.

Ward and Foran reach triple-figures

LIAM PHILLIPS

ROUND 4 of the Para District Cricket Association Grade 1 season got underway on Saturday with a fresh slate of two-day fixtures, and stealing the show was Salisbury West's David Ward with a big century.

Ward came in at number five for Salisbury West away from home at Craigmores and piled up 142 runs from 150 deliveries, hitting 16 fours and one ball over the rope.

It was easily a season-high for the club's captain after contributing 21 runs in Round 1, and after missing Round 2 he returned with a nine-ball duck in Round 3.

This time around everything was clicking, and he had plenty of support as Cooper McInnes (63 not-out from 100 balls), Jake Sewell (41 from 50), Anthony Lewendon (29 from 32) and Lyndon Woods (28 from 53) helped Salisbury West post a score of 7/363 from the full 70 overs.

It was the second-biggest total of the Grade 1 season so far. The other two (9/394 and 9/378) both came from Adelaide Hazara.

In fact this was the first week that Adelaide Hazara has scored below 300, running into a great bowling performance as the Eyre Royals bowled them out for 172 in 48 overs.

Russell Figallo spearheaded the attack with 5/42 from 17 overs and the pair of Cameron Mansueto (2/40 from 14 overs) and Tobin Taylor (1/35 from 10 overs) also played important roles.

The Royals had 22 overs to navigate before stumps and they were in no hurry, slowly making their way to 2/31 when time was called after both openers fell.

That is set up as perhaps the only competitive fixture for this Saturday's second day, with both Angle Vale and Virginia dominating their respective proceedings.

For Angle Vale, some well-rounded batting efforts from James Kelly (80 from 156 deliveries), Jack Pessano (75 from 52 balls), Jamie Quirk (71 from 108), Ashley Fry (40 from 33) and Corey Dent (26 not-out from 23) built a hefty total of 7/327 for North Pines to chase.

So far this season North Pines' top score was 9/217 in a gutsy Round 2 win, successfully tracking down Craigmores's 215.

Capping this week's Grade 1 action was a rapid first-innings victory from Virginia, who bowled out ATCO for 86 and then used the 26 overs of daylight to race to 2/109.

Nathan Warren (4/27 from 16 overs) and Anthony Bascombe (3/8 from 5.1 overs) were Virginia's standouts with ball in-hand, and although Bascombe was run-out for a duck, the trio of Alex Leo (48 runs), Nick O'Reilly (28 not-out) and John Natsias (24 not-out) put their side in position for an outright result.

Meanwhile, there were one-day matchups on the Grade 2 schedule and improving their unbeaten record to 4-0 was Salisbury West, who hammered Eyre Royals by 142 runs.

Three half-centuries from Austen Perris (59), Andrew Parkhouse (58) and Mike Innes (53) justified Salisbury West's decision to bat first, reaching 6/250 from the 40 overs.

Nathan Haythorpe (37 not-out) and Kym Morriss (24) tried to keep the Royals competitive, but the smothering bowling stocks of Riley Cowen (3/13 from eight overs) and Justin Benton (3/34 from eight overs) helped hold the chasing side to 9/108 – a run-rate of 2.7 per over.

It is all Salisbury at the top of the table as Salisbury North ran away with a seven-wicket win over Angle Vale to reach 3-1.

Matthew Bennetts (4/32 from eight overs) headlined the Salisbury North bowlers, keeping Angle Vale to just 119 when they were bowled out in the 28th over, and then it was Jason Collard (50 not-out) who led the batters past the target in the 27th over for an early finish.

But Grade 2's best individual outing came from Craigmores's Daniel Foran, connecting with 19 boundaries (one six) on his way to a division-high 119 from 103 balls against Smithfield.

Foran ended up outscoring Smithfield's whole team, which was cleaned up for 111 thanks in large part to the efforts of Jonathan Morton (4/5 from four overs) and Scott Dawson (3/24 from 4.4 overs).

Southern Cross Series set after thrilling heats

GRAHAM FISCHER

HOBBY trainer Ross Collins believes he picked up a bargain in promising two-year-old filly Jawsofgoodtime, who was an impressive winner at Globe Derby Park on Saturday.

Contesting heat one of the 2024 Cobbitty Equine Farm Southern Cross Series for two-year-old fillies (1800m), Jawsofgoodtime ($2.50 favourite), driven by Corey Johnson, led throughout to score a seven-metre win from Torque Intheusa ($4.60), with another 15-metre gap to Kittykat Cutie ($3.40) in third.

Johnson dictated the tempo with a pedestrian 65-second first half of the last 1600 metres before dashing home in 57.2 seconds.

Collins, who trains at Mallala, purchased the filly from the Lamond family in the South-East for $3500.

“With a win in Mildura and now tonight she has picked up $17,000 in bonuses as well as $10,000 in stakes, so it has been a great buy,” Collins said.

“I’m sure she will be even better with a bit of age because she is still a big baby.

“If there is a minor injury to be picked up, she will find it, but thanks to Corey (Johnson) her race manners are improving with every run.”

Collins is looking forward to Jawsofgoodtime competing in the $35,000 Cobbitty Equine Farm Southern Cross Final (1800m) on Saturday at Globe Derby Park, but will find Brighton, the winner of the second heat, a massive rival.

Owned and bred by former Harness Racing South Australia chief executive Mark Carey, Brighton was devastating in taking out her heat.

Trained in Victoria by Emma

Stewart, and driven by Gaita Pullicino, Brighton ($1.10 favourite) led throughout from gate five and raced away to win by 25 metres, rating a sizzling 1:54.4.

Machete Roulette ($7) chased the winner throughout and held on for second, six metres in front of Jades Hope ($21).

Brighton, although yet to win before Saturday, had been racing against the best of her sex in Victoria and appreciated the chance to run in the Southern Cross.

The barrier draw will be crucial for the 2024 Alabar Three-Year-Old Colts & Geldings Southern Cross Series Final (2230m) following two outstanding heats on Saturday.

Hezrockinroyalty ($2.90) made effective use of gate two to find the lead in the first heat and prove too good for Bay Jim Major ($1.33 favourite), which raced outside him but had to be content with second, beaten three metres.

The winner is part-owned and trained at Murray Bridge by Alan Cronin, who wore his “lucky” green Irish socks on Saturday, and no doubt will have them on again this week.

Cronin and his wife Ngareta had a European vacation earlier this year and made a good friendship in Ireland with Derek Delaney, who runs the standard-bred Oakwood Stud in County Offaly with his brother James.

The Delaneys have also created the Vincent Delaney Memorial in honour of their brother who passed away from cancer at a young age. The VDM weekend is growing each year and attracts visitors from around the world.

“I’m sure Derek will have watched Hezrockinroyalty’s win, we stay in regular communication,” Cronin said.

“A while ago we were having trouble getting him to race truly, but a number of gear changes and putting Ryan (Hryhorec) in the sulky has helped turn it all around.

“He is coming good at the right time and I’m sure with a favourable draw he will be competitive in the final.”

Bay Jim Major, trained by Les Harding and driven by Danielle Hill, lost no admirers with his second and he will be a major factor this Saturday in the $35,000 final.

Victorian trainer Emma Stewart and driver Gaita Pullicino brought up a double when No Notthebuttons led throughout in heat two.

An unbackable $1.10 favourite, No Notthebuttons, part-owned by Aaron Bain Racing and a number of its major clients, rated 1:56.9 in beating Tonkawaikon ($7), which chased him throughout, by eight metres.

Pulicino rated the winner perfectly, increasing the tempo with each quarter and a final 400 metres in 27.9 seconds made it near impossible to be run down.

The $35,000 Cobbitty Equine

Farm Two-Year-Old Colts & Geldings (1800m) Southern Cross Series final also looks to be an interesting clash.

Splash Of Paynt ($2.90 into $1.65 favourite) led throughout from gate one in his heat, driven by Danielle Hill, and rating an impressive 1:56.2.

Having just his second start for trainer Ray Holberton, the gelding won comfortably by seven metres from Stormy Woods ($2.90), trained in Mount Gambier by Steven Fennell.

While Splash Of Paynt was impressive, so too was the second heat winner Always Dancing, trained by Alyce Finnis in Mount Gambier, and driven by her husband Jayson.

Always Dancing ($1.40 favourite) was driven up to lead but was tackled strongly from the 500-metre mark by Victorian-trained Zenario ($3), and the pair looked set for a stirring battle.

But in the home straight, the winner raced away to score by eight metres from Art Regal ($21), which grabbed second a half-metre ahead of Zenario.

Another exciting rematch this Saturday will be in the $20,000 Two-Year-Old Trotters Southern Cross (1800m).

After looking a star of the future with his amazing win in the Parker Classic, Reoffender has found a worthy adversary in Feel The Moment at his next two runs.

The most recent was in the Ladbrokes 2YO Trotters Mobile (1800m) on Saturday.

Trained by Jill Neilson and Katie Wilson and driven by Wayne Hill, Reoffender ($1.45 favourite) sat parked but still finished best to score a half-neck win over Feel The Moment ($2.70), trained by Matt Maguire and driven by Danielle Hill.

The heats were the appetisers on Saturday, and this Saturday at Globe Derby Park will be the main meal with all the Southern Cross Series finals.

Jawsofgoodtime booked its place in this Saturday's Southern Cross Series finals meeting at Globe Derby Park by cruising to victory in its heat.

RICK DREWER

BACK in February I warned everyone that Yashasvi Jaiswal was coming, and he well and truly announced his arrival in the first Test of the highly anticipated Border-Gavaskar Trophy series between Australia and India.

For those who do not recall, I wrote: “You may not have heard of Yashasvi Jaiswal yet, but as sure as the sun will rise tomorrow, you certainly will shortly, and certainly throughout India’s upcoming five-match Test tour of Australia at the end of 2024”.

He very well could join the list of Indian champion batsmen, such as Sunil Gavaskar, Virat Kohli, and Sachin Tendulkar’.

A southpaw opener, Jaiswal gained particular attention when he scored double-centuries in two consecutive Test matches against England in a five-match Test series earlier this year.

Tremble in fear because Jaiswal has arrived

He is the third Indian batter to achieve the feat after Vinod Kambli and Virat Kohli.

Yashasvi is the third-youngest cricketer in Test history to have two double-centuries, after Sir Don Bradman and Vinod Kambli.

In the same series, he equalled the world record held by Wasim Akram for the most number of sixes (12) scored by a cricketer in a Test innings.

He became only the second Indian after Sunil Gavaskar to score 700 runs in a Test series.

Following his eight-ball duck in his first innings in the First Test in Perth, Yashasvi stamped his class on the series with a classy 161 in the second.

Jaiswal made his first-class debut for Mumbai on January 7, 2019. In June 2023 he was selected in the first Test match in the series against the West Indies, scoring a

Simply put, the kid can play.

England’s head coach Brendon McCullum said it all: “He’s quite a talent. The innings he played (against us) were superb”.

Dare I say, a number of the Australian top-order batters should take some batting lessons from the opportunity of watching Yashasvi from close-up.

What he possesses, which comparatively is non-existent with the likes of Marnus Labuschagne and Travis Head, is the essential fundamental of good batting – footwork.

The basic principle in batting, similar to building a house, is that you start at the bottom, and put down the foundations first, not the roof.

When batting, if you get the feet right there is a chance that you will get the rest of the process correct. If the footwork is poor or non-existent, it’s only a matter of time before things go wrong.

Yashasvi’s second-innings century – brought up with an amazingly controlled ramp shot for six down to fine-leg – was perfectly illustrative of his abilities.

It is scary to think what may come from his bat in the following four Tests. Jaiswal is 22, not 32. It’s mind-blowing to think what he may well be in ten years.

Back here in Australia, we have no one within the length of Flemington straight to compare with him.

The scribes keep talking of NSW’s Sam Konstas; but comparatively, he’s not in the same league.

Even more frightening from Australia’s point of view is that India has a queue of talented young batters and bowlers lining up to gain a place in their national team.

Reality says that India could pick another Test team capable of beating Australia.

So much for the pre-Test series predictions from press scribes such as Daniel Cherny (Australia 4-1), Robert Craddock (Australia 3-1) and Ben Horne (Australia 3-1)!

Based upon what?

India has won seven of the past nine Border-Gavaskar Trophy series, including the past four, and Australia is fielding its oldest Test team in 80 years.

Oh, and the Indian skipper, Rohit Sharma, and Shubman Gill have to come back into their team!

And the headlines screamed “Kohli India’s Weak Link” and “India in Disarray” at the end of the first day’s play.

Tell ‘em, they must be joking.

LIAM PHILLIPS

THE theme in the cricketing world this week was wickets falling early and often, and the A1 matchup between South Gawler and Gawler Central for the Tobitt-Parker Cup certainly lived up to the hype.

It was First Nations Round in the Barossa and Light Cricket Association and the Lions played great hosts on day one of the two-day matchup, with indigenous artist Tamika Gollan designing special stumps while Clifford Wilson conducted a smoking ceremony and the Welcome to Country.

On the field, South Gawler completed a first-innings win against their local rivals and left the door wide open for a potential outright result.

Bowling proved to be the right decision for the Lions after winning the toss, holding the visitors to just 107 runs after dealing with the early resistance from Richard Decrea (35 from 58 balls), Ty Stock (25 from 19 deliveries) and Thomas Sharkey (21 from 47).

The turning point came from South's David Golder, who removed top-scorer Decrea before rattling off four more important wickets through the middle-order.

He required no help for his stellar haul of 5/10 from seven overs, clean bowling two batters, trapping another two LBW, and snagging his fifth with a caught-and-bowled.

Jackson Harnas (3/28 from 10.1 overs) was the only other Lion to secure multiple wickets.

Having finished off Gawler Central in just 33 overs, South Gawler had the opportunity to face 29 overs before stumps.

It was a horror start to the chase, losing both openers for ducks, but the three-four partnership of Riley Barker (60 from 77 balls) and Chris Graser (77 from 70 deliveries) surpassed the target by themselves.

Overall South raced to 6/184 before time was called, putting them in perfect position to pile on a few more before sending the visitors back in for a second innings.

Cockatoos locked in tough battle

A1 ladder leaders Sandy Creek will have its hands full this Saturday as the Cockatoos try to defend a middling total of 168 away from home at Angaston.

Sandy Creek came into Round 6 carrying the momentum from team batting performances of 9/275, 1/97 and 2/214 from the past three fixtures.

But the Angaston bowling attack largely stopped the Cockatoos in their tracks as number seven Dylan Jones top-scored with 57 off 121 deliveries, picking up the slack after Riley Greenlees (26 from 55 balls) and Daniel Koch (24 from 60) were his only teammates to reach 20.

Tyrell Burgess (3/34 from 15 overs), Liam Falkenberg (3/42 from 19 overs) and William Cameron (2/30 from 13.1 overs) combined to bowl 47 of the 68 total overs.

Angaston will resume on day two with Liam Falkenberg and Liam Peel at the crease at 0/1 after safely navigating the awkward three overs before stumps.

Kapunda set sights on top spot

Along with Sandy Creek, the only other team to boast a 4-1 record through five rounds is Kapunda, who will pick things up this Saturday at 0/30 in pursuit of Greenock's 203.

It was a terrifically balanced team effort from the Schlungers, who had each of their first 10 batters score at least 11 runs each, led by number eight Mark Bannon (59 from 48 balls) and opener Thomas Burton (23 from 39).

Greenock seemed comfortable handling almost all of the Kapunda bowling stocks, except for Robbie Johnson.

in the 64th over, it left eight overs of daylight before the end of play.

Instead of shutting up shop and going full defence, Kapunda opted to get a head-start on the chase as openers Jack Ryan (15 not-out from 24 balls) and Kallum Brown (13 not-out from 24) gave their side all the momentum.

Tanunda start brightly in Magpie showdown

Greenock's score of 203 was tied for the division's highest day-one total this round, and matching them was Tanunda, who also put up exactly 203 against their fellow Magpies from Mallala.

But unlike the Schlungers, instead of steady contributions throughout the line-up, Tanunda had five ducks and five batters surpass 20.

Sam Colquhoun (54 from 77 balls), Luke Snowden (54 not-out from 83 deliveries), Bailey Smith (29 from 78), Jonathan Justin (29 from 54) and Trent Goers (21 from 79) combined for 187 of the 203 total, and there were 11 extras.

All 10 wickets came from the Mallala trio of Robert Montgomery (4/30 from 21 overs), Kieran Watson (3/21 from 7.1 overs) and Brad Wilson (3/41 from 15 overs).

Kicking off the chase on day two will be the opening partnership of David William Cawrse and Cameron Curnow.

Gogoll, Menzel make like miserable for under 14 batters

LIAM PHILLIPS

FOR the second week in a row Willaston's Dallas Riches earned top billing in Barossa and Light Cricket Association's junior ranks, following his half-century on day one with a stellar bowling performance on the second day of his two-day battle against Gawler Central.

Playing at Gawler Central, Riches top-scored with 57 runs from 50 deliveries on November 15 to help Willaston set a target of 179 for the home side to chase down.

When play resumed on Friday evening Centrals made a positive start as Logan Bush-ell (22 from 45 balls), Ethan Reiman (20 from 66) and Austin Curyer (16 from 24) all made handy contributions – before the two Riches boys took over.

Dallas bowled five near-perfect overs, giving up just one run on his way to figures of 1/3 with four maidens. Meanwhile, his brother Logan (2/21 from three overs) was Willaston's only other multi-wicket taker.

Reilly Stacey (1/9 from five overs), Yohan Wattacheril (1/9 from three overs) and Aaron Steer (1/9 from one over) also earned identical figures from three different workloads as Gawler Central was bowled out for 121 in the 33rd over – 59 shy of the target.

Page 42 "THE BUNYIP" GAWLER, Wednesday, November 27, 2024

The only other under 16 side to successfully defend its total was Sandy Creek, who boasted the top day-one score at 8/183 against Gilbert Valley/Kapunda.

Gilbert Valley/Kapunda dug themselves an early hole at 2/23 before Billy Nicholls (34 from 60 deliveries), Ryan Philp (32 from 43) and Benjamin White (25 from 39) made things interesting in the middle-order.

At 4/123 the home side would have felt good about their chances, but the final five batters in the order combined for just nine runs thanks to a great finish from the Cockatoo bowling attack.

All six Sandy Creek bowlers collected at least one wicket each, led by Xander Goulding (3/15 from eight overs), Max Thompson (2/45 from six overs) and Elijah Daniel (2/46 from eight overs) to end the innings at 145.

Unsurprisingly, the two lowest totals in the age group were both chased down, and South Gawler joined Sandy Creek as the only unbeaten teams through three rounds by securing a three-wicket win over Angaston.

Tasked with a competitive target of 135, South Gawler slipped to 4/45 before Jaxson Dent (49 from 78 deliveries) and Ross Smyth (28 from 70) salvaged the innings.

That duo put together an 89-run partnership for the fifth wicket, with Dent eventually going down to make it 5/129, requiring just seven more runs for the win.

Thomas Carter (3/29 from six overs) was Angaston's standout with the ball, and Zack Hunter (2/21 from six overs) also made his presence felt with a couple of wickets and a catch.

In a clash between a pair of sides seeking their first win, Tanunda finally broke its duck with a four-wicket win against a Nuriootpa side that could only set a chase of 95 for the Magpies.

Jake McCallum (38 from 87 balls) and McKie Donovan (20 from 35) did the bulk of the heavy lifting after great showings with the ball from Parker Maslen (2/7 from three overs), Lawson Gallasch (2/9 from eight overs), Xavier Broekx (2/20 from eight overs) and Archer Currie (2/22 from eight overs) made things interesting.

Long Plains earned its first win of the under 14 season in a tricky home fixture against Sandy Creek.

The Cockatoos set the age group's biggest total on day one at 9/130 from 35 overs, but Long Plains snuck over the line with one ball to spare.

It was all about the early contributions as Harvey Cay (40 not-out from 31 balls), Linkin Jones (27 not-out from 50) and Mollie McArdle (20 not-out from 40) made a great start before being forced to retire not-out.

Seven of the next eight batters failed to score more than seven runs, with captain Tom Warnes (16 from 23) the only exception, allowing the opening pair of Jones and McArdle to return for the final two overs.

Requiring seven runs off the last over for the win, and two off the last two balls, McArdle hit a three off the penultimate delivery of the innings to earn the hard-fought win.

It was the only chasing team to earn a win in the division on Saturday morning as Tanunda (89), Kapunda (125) and Gilbert Valley (116) all defended their scores from day one.

The best bowling performance came from the team that needed it most as Tanunda captain George Gogoll was immense against Freeling/Lyndoch.

With Freeling/Lyndoch at 3/82 chasing just 89 it seemed like the game was over – but the Magpies managed to take the last seven wickets for just three runs.

Gogoll was the star, taking 5/2 from 3.1 overs in some late-innings heroics, while the other two wickets in the final blitz came from Oliver Laidlaw (2/11 from six overs). Nearly matching Gogoll was Kapunda’s Kobie Menzel, who banked 4/6 from five overs to help hold South Gawler 36 runs short of the 125 total.

Lions co-captain Noah Gale (47 from 92 balls) was the only batter to score more than 10 as Archie Ryan (3/12 from 5.3 overs) and Dylan Allert (2/6 from three overs) also helped themselves to terrific stat-lines.

Last but certainly not least in the under 14s was Gilbert Valley, who bowled out Angaston for just 51, marking the round’s lowest score from either of the top two junior grades.

Bryce Heidrich (3/7 from four overs), Hudson Callery (3/9 from three overs), Jack Vandeleur (2/7 from four overs), Kieran Vandeleur (1/6 from one over) and Edward Somerville (1/0 from one over) all seemed to have the number of the Angaston batters.

Under 12s

Headlining the under 12s with the bat was Lyndoch/Freeling, racing past Mallala’s total of 8/143 to finish on 8/188 behind big outings from Ben Cameron (59 from 50 balls) and Otto Steinborner (38 from 28).

Ronan Slattery bowled well for Mallala, taking 3/18 from five wickets to lead the Magpies in both wickets and economy rate.

But the bowling standout in the age group was Kapunda’s Oliver Mickan, who tore through a Sandy Creek line-up that only featured six batters to collect figures of 4/4 from three overs while taking out the Cockatoos for just 11.

All-rounder Eggleton dominates for Truro

LIAM PHILLIPS

TRURO’S Harley Eggleton put together a complete performance in his side’s nine-wicket A4 victory against Long Plains, taking team-best figures with the ball before scoring an even century.

Truro came into First Nations Round (Round 6) of the A4 season boasting a handy 4-1 record, and improved to 5-1 after chasing down Long Plains’ total of 150 in just 17 overs.

Long Plains had plenty of contributors as five the first five batters scored at least 22 runs each, but the last six combined for just eight in a quick collapse, incredibly turning 5/149 into all out for 150.

All six Truro bowlers banked at least one wicket, and they were headed by Eggleton (3/22 from seven overs) and Kym Hoffmann (2/29 from seven overs).

Eggleton followed that up with a supreme effort opening the batting, smacking 16 boundaries (four sixes) from just 53 balls before eventually getting out LBW on exactly 100.

The only A4 side above Truro is Lyndoch, which owns a perfect 6-0 record following a seven-wicket win over Angaston.

Jeremy Alexander (54 runs from 32 deliveries) was Angaston’s best as the hosts put up a total of 157 for the Dockers to chase, and behind the hard-hitting display from Mathew Robinson (79 not-out from 39) and Ryan Prentice (27 from 10) the target was passed in the 18th over.

The A4 grade certainly delivered this week as third-placed Tanunda (4-2) also received a news-making innings from number three Nick O’Leary in a four-wicket win at Gilbert Valley.

Dylan Busch (89 from 101 balls) and Matthew Busch (53 from 56) combined for 145 of the Bulls’ 178 total as Thomas Cummins (4/25 from seven overs) and Wade Dahlitz (3/32 from 4.3 overs) did their best to keep the chase manageable.

Only one Tanunda player scored more than 15, but O’Leary’s 104 not-out from 102 deliveries was enough to get the job done.

Moving up to the A3s, a new slate of two-day contests mostly got underway, although the Willaston-versus-Kapunda and Sandy Creek-versus-Light Pass matchups will be played as one-dayers this Saturday.

Gawler Central Oval was considered good to go despite some wet weather and the hosts managed a competitive total of 184 despite being bowled out in the 44th over.

Simon Longman (79 from 115 balls) and Cameron Kerr (53 from 52) were the only Gawler Central batters to exceed a dozen runs, with the Angaston duo of Hudson Waechter (3/14 from 5.2 overs) and Aidan Morrish (3/40 from seven overs) providing stern resistance.

Angaston made a strong start to their pursuit, and will resume this weekend at 2/51 as opener Lachlan Lade looks to build on his 30 not-out start from 47 balls.

South Gawler posted a score of 165 away from home at Greenock in the other A3 fixture to get started, with opener James Korber (51 from 120 balls), number four Matthew Knight (29 from 56) and number three Jarrod Kroon (28 from 31) doing the bulk of the work.

Greenock’s Ben Teusner was absolutely superb leading the Schlungers’ bowling attack, snaring 6/36 from 23.4 overs (including 10 maidens) for an economy rate of 1.52 per over.

Unfortunately for the home side, South finished the day on a high by taking a wicket from the three overs Greenock had to face before stumps, meaning the Schlungers will resume at 1/0.

Up in the A2s it was the same as the A3s, with two of the four matchups getting the green light to get underway.

Willaston and Gilbert Valley did their best impression of the first Australia-India Test match, with 18 wickets falling on day one.

The Bulls appeared to have the match in the bag after Willaston bombed out for just 85 despite 38 coming from opener Nicholas Crossley, with Thomas Connell (4/19 from eight overs) and Harrison Callery (3/10 from five overs) making it look easy.

However, runs were just as hard to come by for Gilbert Valley, who ended up batting eight more overs than Willaston (34-26), but reached stumps with the game completely up for grabs at 8/67.

Not messing around, Willaston tasked their two top bowlers with handling the entire workload, and both delivered in a big way.

Mitchell McIver (4/27 from 17 overs) and Deakin Davis (4/37 from 17 overs) somehow kept their side in the game and combined for just three extras from 34 overs.

The other A2 clash between Light Pass and Lyndoch was just as action-packed, except in this one the Dockers were able to claim a first-innings result before the end of play.

Lyndoch’s George Clarridge (4/31 from 9.1 overs), Mackenzie Dalliston (3/5 from eight overs) and Iain Simes (2/11 from seven overs) joined forces to take out Light Pass in 32 overs for a total of 79.

It opened the door for a potential outright if they could have a productive end to the day, and Lyndoch did just that as John Owen (36 from 41 balls) and Simes (33 not-out from 52) guided their side to 5/144 for a 65-run lead.

Wendt and Reed lead Lions' Div 1 wins

LIAM PHILLIPS

A PAIR of huge individual performances led the only two Division 1 wins for the Central District Lions while hosting the South Adelaide Panthers at STARplex on Friday night.

From the eight combined boys and girls matchups from under 12s through to under 18s, Central District finished up with a 2-6 record, but the night ended on a high thanks to Stella Reed.

Reed top-scored with a season-high 27 points to lead her under 18 girls to a competitive 64-56 victory over the Panthers, adding one three-pointer and a pair of free throws to her 11 two-point field goals.

She leads the team this campaign at 16.4 points per game, putting together performances of 24, 15, 17 and 15 after Round 1.

The Lions jumped out to a 22-15 lead at quarter-time and retained a healthy lead at halftime (31-22) and three-quarter time (48-39) as Keeley Molyneux (11 points) and Victoria Munday (10) also played important offensive roles.

The other Div 1 win for Central District came right at the beginning of the evening as the under 12 girls ran away with a 38-16 result.

While South Adelaide could only muster 16 points as a team, the Lions scored 16 in the fourth quarter alone.

Annabel Wendt was the star with a game-high 23 points – two shy of her season-high and her third time in the 20s from six games. She is yet to score fewer than a dozen, giving her an average of 18.3.

Emma Schulz (11 points) and Marli Long (four) were the only of Wendt's teammates to score in the big win.

Meanwhile, Centrals came out on the wrong side of the result in all four under 16 and under 14 contests, as well as defeats in under 18 boys and under 12 boys.

The most noteworthy was in the 16 boys, where South Adelaide ran amok in one of the most one-sided basketball games you will see anywhere, prevailing 173-13.

The Panthers led 38-0 at quarter-time, 88-5 at the half and 127-9 at three-quarter time, and among their eight players in double figures, Arlee Jamieson (43 points), Brandon Chambers (30) and Edward Whitehouse (26) did the most damage.

Central District's under 16 girls put up a much closer fight, succumbing 47-40, while the under 14 girls were mauled 84-18.

From the losing Lions teams, the best individual performances came in a 101-62 under 14 boys loss, where Harvey Clark (20 points), Riley Trenwith (13), Cooper Rasmus (11) and Jayden Alberton (10) all reached double-figures.

There was also a head-turning performance from under 16 Division 5 talent Aleu Chiman, who earned a mention by scoring 30 points against Sturt in an 82-44 loss.

Bray battles with bat and ball

LIAM PHILLIPS

NORTHERN Districts came up short in the last two-day fixture on the schedule before the New Year, going down by five wickets at home against Southern District in a Saturday-Sunday war of attrition.

The Stingrays won the toss and decided to send the Jets in to bat first in humid conditions on Saturday, and before long the home side was flailing at 3/30.

But a valuable innings from number six Brandon Bray (64 runs from 83 balls) got the innings back on track, and along with number eight Robbie Sumner (47 from 104 deliveries) the duo turned 6/90 into 7/176 when Bray eventually fell.

Despite a demolition job from Southern’s Josh Hen-Boisen, who took 6/56 from 23.4 overs, the Jets managed to pass 200 and put up a defendable total of 212 from 68 overs.

It set up a competitive Sunday of action, but with a required run-rate below three, the Stingrays were content to play an extremely patient game.

Captain and opener David Sboro (62 from 121 balls) set the tone, and after a couple of quick wickets from Aidan Cahill (2/52 from 23 overs), it brought Rilee Endersby to the crease where he built an innings of 67 not-out from 159 deliveries, including the only three sixes for his team.

After top-scoring with the bat, Bray also earned the Jets’ best bowling figures with 2/36 from 12 overs. Gareth Cox might get more of a run next time out after collecting two maidens from his three overs.

Southern reached the target in the 72nd over, with five wickets to spare, to improve to 2-2 while Northern Districts remain stuck to the bottom of the ladder at 1-3.

The next two-day match in the West End Men’s 1st Grade (Div 2) competition will begin on January 4, but in the meantime the T20 cup is set to kick off this Saturday, with Northern Districts hosting East Torrens at 4.30pm.

Women

The T20 season is already underway for the Jets’ Women’s 2nd Grade side, and it was a rock-solid performance with the ball that gave Northern Districts a winning start.

It appeared Adelaide had the ascendancy after holding the Jets to a total of 7/105, with Evelyn Todd (22 from 21 balls) and Tessie Kennedy (21 not-out from 28) doing the best work, but the hosts had even more trouble with the run-rate.

Samantha McKenzie (29 from 31) was Adelaide’ best, but captain Ella Williams was strangled by the Jets’ bowling attack, holding her to an innings-killing 13 runs from 41 deliveries before she was eventually run-out in frustration.

Kennedy was the Player of the Match after adding stellar bowling figures of 2/9 from four overs to her not-out with the bat, while Maya Klose (1/14 from three overs), Mollie McArdle (1/14 from three overs) and Jessica Paley (1/18 from four overs) all boasted economy rates below five.

Unfortunately for the Jets’ under 15 girls, Adelaide was far too strong in the younger age group, chasing down the 5/130 target without losing a single wicket.

Olyvia Smedley (32 from 39 balls), Acadia Harmer (28 from 26) and Mollie McArdle (27 from 31) all had good showings for the Jets, but the bowlers had no such luck.

Junior Boys

Both the under 17 and under 15 boys matchups were abandoned due to damp pitches, but the Jets under 14s and under 13s each enjoyed one-day wins.

In the 14s, Bhavy Patel (28 from 63 deliveries) and Tyson Todd (26 from 77) patiently led their side to a 40-over total of 9/140, and the bowlers did not let Woodville get close.

Only one Woodville batter scored more than 10 runs on the way to crashing out for just 54 in the 18th over thanks to all six Northern Districts bowlers taking at least one wicket each.

Angus McInnis (3/9 from three overs), Brock Goodridge (2/8 from 1.2 overs) and Ekam Singh (2/10 from three overs) finished with the top figures in the 86-run triumph.

Lastly, it was a more competitive contest between Woodville and the Jets in the under 13s, but Northern Districts successfully defended its 123 total by six runs in a game that went down to the wire.

Mantra Patel (39 from 53) opened the batting and was easily the Jets’ best, although he did receive support from his opening partner Curtis Clifton (19 from 38) and middle-order cameos came from Harvey Cay (16 from 20) and Saish Valani (14 from 34).

Patel then followed his standout batting with an equal team-high eight overs, where he took 2/28. That was only bettered by his teammate Archie Schiller, who claimed 3/8 and had five maidens amongst his eight overs.

Gawler go down against powerhouse Rams

ROBERT LAIDLAW

GAWLER Rangers were outclassed by one of the Division 1 baseball premierships favourites on Saturday, going down 15-3 against Henley and Grange 15-3 at Karbeethan Reserve.

It seemed the Rams were continuously in scoring positions, with four runs in the third frame and five in the fifth doing most of the damage.

There was, however, a positive inning for the Rangers when they scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Noah Okeil singled, Zak Heintze-Unger was hit by a pitch, Aidan Prokopec batted Gawler’s first run in with a groundout, then Tom Galgey did likewise, before Sam Bawden collected a RBI single.

Another highlight was Tyler Renken’s work in right-field, with four catches and an assist to second base, where he beat a speedy runner trying to stretch his hit into a double.

An amazing play occurred to end the top of the fourth frame, when a ball was hit down the third-base line and Rangers’ fielder Okeil got a wicked bounce.

With the ball darting off to his right, Okeil nonchalantly barehanded it and threw the runner out at first base.

Taka Homma started on the mound for the home side and threw 4.2 innings, conceding seven hits for two strikeouts.

Last Tuesday Gawler also went down, losing 6-2 to Southern Districts at Christie Downs.

The Rangers struggled against the Hawks’ starting pitcher Nick Hutchings, collecting just two hits in the first five digs, but came alive with a pitching change in the sixth and final frame with two runs courtesy of Zac Heintze-Unger’s two-run homer.

From the mound, Seb Hein-

KAPUNDA – It is that time of the year when we congratulate and crown our Club Champions for the season.

There were some fantastic scores across the four rounds including a course record-equalling 67 from the eventual Club Champion in the third round, which separated him from a very good bunch of chasers.

Daniel Law posted a four-round total of 292 (which also could be a record) to win the Club Champion title ahead of Tom Smith by a considerable margin. Congratulations Dan on a superb, consistent effort, certainly well deserved.

Mick Sheehan had a similar runaway win in the B grade despite a last round of 90. His four round total of 338 is also a fantastic effort, with an excellent average of around 84. Mick has now entrenched himself in A grade ranks.

Troy Sires saved his best round until last but could only manage to bridge the gap by four shots.

After three rounds the C grade was still a bit open with Wayne Whiting a chance to make up the seven-shot deficit with a strong finish.

That was not to be the case as Graham Rigney blew away any chance of that happening with a truly magnificent round of 83 to finish up with a more than comfortable 20-shot lead. Graham has also seen the last of C grade after his efforts over the past month, moving well up into the B grade.

Well done to all three players who put in some excellent results over the past month to all be deserving Champions.

Other golf for the week began on Wednesday when the women played a stroke round in pretty good conditions. A good turnout saw Kathy Stubing play better than her handicap to win the day and B grade with a very nice nett 70. Jan Owen 73, and Tine Perry 74, had the day’s next best scores in that grade as well.

The A grade came down to a countback between Carole Molloy and Karen Farmer after both carded 77. Carole was the victor on this occasion.

The twilight field was a little down on previous weeks but there were still some very good scores carded on the night. Paul VonBertouch has been a long time participant in the twilight comp and has finally had another win with 23 points.

Doc Carson and Mark Launer both did well for 20 points apiece. Adam Fiedler is also a regular ‘non-golfer’ and he won a voucher with 18 points, as did junior Tate Petersen with 19.

Thursday turned out to be a bit warmer and a little breezy again for the stableford round. There were a few withdrawals due to the weather but still a pretty good turnout which saw Brad Moore clean up with an excellent 40 points.

Brad has shown some pretty consistent form of late with great results. Dylan Russell was next behind Brad in the B grade with 36 and the trio of Mick Menzel, Alex Nicholson and Graham Hill all carded 35.

Pete Edwards was the best of the A graders with 36 with John Dickie a shot further back. Pat Haydn also had 36 points to claim the C grade ahead of veteran Barry Partridge and Steve Jones on 35.

Terry Fidler got one back on the 6th tee from a couple of weeks ago, winning the NTP on the day. Rusty had the best approach from the longer tee and Dennis Miller got closest on the 18th.

John Conaghty got off to a good start with 20 points on the front nine which was good enough to win a prize in a countback. Brad Moore came home with a rush with 22 points in his score of 40.

Alex Nicholson has had a pretty good run of late and he collected the jackpot as the sole scorer of four points on the allocated hole. Not a bad day out at all, regardless of his overall score!

Saturday was also the Pftzner Family Trophy Day in conjunction with the last round of the Championships and started off overcast and very humid for the early markers. The weather changed at about halftime and came in a bit cooler, with showers threatening in the afternoon.

As I mentioned Graham Rigney had an exceptional final round of 83 which also saw him win the day with a nett 63. I’m sure Graham will continue to improve and move up through the B grade ranks.

Mick McCarthy was playing in the final group of A graders and he showed off his immense talents with a par round giving him a nett 67 and the grade win. A bit more luck with the putter and it could have been even better. Well played Mick.

Another Michael, of the Pratt variety, was next best with 70. Andy Peters and big-hitting Simon Marsden carded 71 apiece.

Dennis Miller won the B grade with a 71 in a three-way countback with newcomer Ben Prior and Marty Hayward.

In the C grade Bazz Kalleske had his best round on the course with a 90/68. If not for a couple of ‘horseshoe’ putts he would have broken 90 for the first time. He was one up on Mark Launer, who followed up on his mid-week form with a 69. Leftie Fids carded a 71.

Another couple of lefties were surprisingly run out on 99 with Jim and Joe not quite making the ton on the left-handers course.

Sounds like the shot of the day may have come from Kiwi when he eagled the hardest hole on the course, the par four 5th around the dam. He must have duffed his drive if he reckons he played his second from 200 out!

The three NTP’s were collected by Timmy Scheer, Ben Prior and Dan. The big-hitting trio of Sutho, Troy and Mick Evans won the grade long drives and Karen Farmer picked up the women’s.

Just a quick note on housekeeping. If you have taken a divot on the fairway and a large piece of grass with it, please don’t try and replace the grass as it is most unlikely to ‘take’ again.

Just fill in the hole with the sand from your bucket to make it level again. If you see other unrepaired divots please fill them as well on your travels, even if they are just off the fairway. There is always plenty of sand in the barrels for a reason.

I’m sure you will all agree the volunteers do a fantastic job preparing the course so it is only appropriate we all help out with these small things where we can.

The pressure is off this week for a stableford comp sponsored by Phill Paynter. The fillies will also have a stableford comp and the Thursday lads will have their monthly stroke round.

Good golfing and let’s see some more fantastic scores.

Softball
GAWLER AND DISTRICTS SOFTBALL ASSOCIATION REPORT – November 23

ended the innings with only a run scored.

The first three batters were struck out quickly giving USC Cubs another chance to score. Bethany Forlani hit a triple to start the innings but the next batter was struck out. The run came home when the second out was made by Abbey to Emily Dawe at first base and a repeat of that play occurred in the next batter.

Trinity College loaded up the base with their second at-bat but they could not manage to get them home before the three outs were made. It was the third innings where USC Cubs stretched their lead, scoring seven runs with safe hits to Mackenzie Goodwin, Lexi Kershaw, Lehni Wickham, Indie, Kobe Glenie and Bethany.

Division 2
Kangas d Two Wells 10-8 –Two Wells started strongly with the bat, bringing in six runs in the first innings. The majority of the line-up contributed but Emily Kopp had the best hit with a triple to left-field.

Kangas also had a strong first innings, scoring four runs. Kangas managed to hold Two Wells to one run in the second innings with Ryley Skarston having a big impact and being responsible for two of the three outs.

During their second innings Kangas let their bats do the talking, with six runs crossing the plate, highlighted by Fran Delfos-Huddy’s double to left-field.

The third innings was brief but Two Wells continued to fight to the end. Sebastian Farrugia managed to cross the plate and close in on the lead, but time ran out before any more could be done, leaving Kangas with the win.

Division 1
Kangas d Two Wells 5-4 – In one of the most exciting games of the season so far Kangas won a nail-biter.

Batting first, Kangas managed to cross home plate twice with outfield hits to Chelsea Varcoe, Christy Nordin and Jo Pfeiffer. Christy’s was the pick of the bunch with a powerfully struck ball through centre-field for an RBI double.

Kangas’ infield made light work of Two Wells’ first at-bat, combining for three outs from as many batters.

Kangas added a further run to their tally during the top of the second thanks to safe hits to Amanda Unger and Kelly Varcoe. Pitching for Two Wells, Rebecca Lane featured with a strike out and Amanda Stuart at shortstop completed a sharp line-drive catch.

Two Wells fought back in the bottom of the third, piling on four runs with some nicely timed hits to the outfield from Sarah McMillan, Elise Goland and youngster Sebastian Farrugia. Amanda Unger featured once again with a further two assists to first for outs.

Two Wells tightened their defensive efforts in the top of the fourth, holding Kangas scoreless despite nice hits to Kyla Whiting and Jo once again. Rebecca continued her dominance from the pitcher’s circle, completing all three outs for her side from strike outs.

Two Wells maintained their defensive intensity during Kangas last bat for the day, completing their required outs from four batters. Rebecca capped off an outstanding day by featuring in all three outs, once again, with two assists to first base and a strike out.

Leading by only a run, Kangas held their nerve by completing their three outs from as many batters to finish an amazing display of softball by all.

Bluejays d Giants 16-1 – Despite winning comfortably in the end, the game was tight in the first innings with both teams failing to score in the first innings.

This was due to some exceptional fielding by both sides, a strike out by Bluejays pitcher Staci McKenzie and a catch from Giants’ left fielder Memphis Jones being the highlights.

The second innings faired much the same with Pam Sims from Giants and Kylie Turner from Bluejays the only two players to cross home plate.

The third and fourth innings cemented Bluejays’ lead, scoring seven runs in the third and eight runs in the fourth innings while Giants failed to add to their tally. Deb Hutchinson featured in a number of outs for Giants, taking two beautiful catches at shortstop and preventing Bluejays from reaching a ten-run inning.

While Giants had a number of outstanding plays in the field and had runners on bases throughout the third and four innings, Bluejays shone with the bat.

Bailey Peel hit strongly through centre field and made it all the way home due to a fielding error by Giants as Bluejays ran away with a convincing win in the end.

Volleyball

Thursday night volleyball is now five weeks into the season with the first round completed.

A look at the ladders shows that Recipients and Simply Irresponsiballs have taken the march over the rest of the A Grade teams.

The B Grade is as close as expected with percentage ranging from 95.1 to 110.8. Very close indeed and far too early to make any predictions.

In the C Grade it is likewise a bit early to make predictions with apparent anomalies such as Delta being in fourth place with a percentage of 150. Other than Bunnies it is expected that all teams will be in the challenge for the finals at the end of the season.

Bunnies, however, is perhaps the team that best exemplifies what we are trying to do in the C Grade on Thursdays. It is a young, mostly female team that accepts all comers and has a long history of developing players that then find spots in higher grade teams. A tradition that still continues today.

On to the games.

In the A Grade, straight-sets wins were recorded in both matches. Horndogs accounted for Randoes using 132 total serves for the match and some excellent rallies were seen (Horndogs d Randoes 25-21, 25-19, 25-17).

Simply Irresponsiballs and Warmed Up played the match of the night with a total of only 114 serves. Possibly the lowest serve count recorded here for a 55-minute match.

Many great rallies throughout the match. Simplies had the often experienced second set slump, but this time it did not cost them the set (Simply Irresponsiballs d Warmed Up 25-10, 25-22, 25-10).

In the B Grade, Get It Up and Retro played what in any other week would have been the match of the night. After being one set all, Get It Up steadied in the third set to take the match.

With only 125 serves for the match, few service errors and plenty of rallies were the order of the day (Get It Up d Retro 25-17, 22-25, 25-11).

In the other match, a one-set-all start finally saw Hakuna take the third set. Losing the first and winning the next two seems to becoming a trait for Hakuna. Again, with less than 140 serves for the match plenty of good rallies were played (Hakuna d Dragons 21-25, 25-21, 25-20).

In the C Grade, still a bit plagued by service errors and reception errors, both matches had more than 150 serves. The matches, however, were entirely different in outcome.

Hiavg recovered from a first set loss to overcome Delta in three close sets. This has resulted in Delta winning by large margins and losing by small margins to record such a high percentage from fourth spot (Hiavg d Delta 20-25, 27-25, 25-22, 3-6).

The Highs and The Lows recorded an easy win over Bunnies. Bunnies with its slew of new players had a lot of service errors which proved to be costly (The Highs and The Lows d Bunnies 25-11, 25-11, 25-18, 23-9).

Weekday bowlers deliver for Gawler

LIAM PHILLIPS

GAWLER'S only Division 1 Metropolitan Bowls Association team clawed off the bottom of the Thursday Div 1 ladder this past week with a gutsy 67-65 home win against mid-table Ascot Park.

It is this Gawler side's first season in the top grade after winning the 2023/24 Thursday Div 2 premiership, and following a Round 1 win the locals unfortunately rattled off four consecutive losses.

But that streak came to an end in a matchup where Gawler actually lost two of the three rinks on offer, but the one successful frame was dominant enough to overcome the defeats.

It came from the quartet of Judy Boucher, Marilyn Nichols, Margaret May and Val Clark, who ran away with a 31-14 result while Ascot Park claimed the other frames 25-19 and 26-17.

Still with the worst score differential in the division (-101), Gawler will have its work cut out to remain in Division 1, but a win this Thursday against top-five side Semaphore could well and truly change the course of the campaign.

The only other win from the Gawler club this round came in the Wednesday Division 2s, defeating Payneham 100-92 away from home in a fixture where the losing side would be alone at the bottom of the ladder.

In a good battle Gawler won three of the five rinks, with the biggest margin coming from the trio of Peter Cousins, Austin Smith and Bernard Smith (29-16).

The pair of Kym Reynolds and Bob Wildy also banked a 22-13 result, while Phillip Devlin led his crew to a 19-11 victory.

Barossa Div 1 race opens up

LIAM PHILLIPS

NEARING the halfway point of the 21-round Saturday Division 1 season in the Barossa and Light Bowling Association the top-five teams are all deadlocked on five wins.

This past weekend was Round 8, and after building some breathing room through the opening couple of months Eudunda was dragged back to the pack by perennial powerhouse Angaston.

Angaston went into Eudunda and took three of the four rinks, highlighted by a 25-13 frame from the crew of Mathew Short, Mark Schultz, Jim Bryson and Miguel Silvestro.

It improved Angaston's record to 5-3, while Eudunda slipped to 5-2-1, which is still good enough for top spot.

Sandwiched between those sides in second place is Nuriootpa, who capitalised on a matchup against bottom-ranked Freeling by sweeping all four rinks in a 76-53 victory.

To Freeling's credit three of Nuri's frames (17-16, 18-15 and 18-12) could have gone either way, but the four of Kate Blacksell, Robert Randall, Hanika Booth and Robert Grope earned style points 23-10.

Lyndoch (5-3) could have been the first side to six wins, but Kapunda (4-4) said not so fast, sneaking away with a 79-74 triumph to pull to within one game of the five-win logjam.

It was a rare game where the winning side collected only one rink, but the 24-9 result from Andrew Martin, Richard Atkins, Jayden Green and Katrina Green was just enough to outweigh Lyndoch's 18-14, 24-22 and 23-19 margins.

Rounding out the Saturday Div 1 action was Tanunda's 93-77 home success against Mt Pleasant, where a 26-18 rink from Neil Stewart's crew was the most one-sided of the four ultra-competitive frames.

Meanwhile, in Thursday's Division 1, Tanunda (4-1-1) knocked off Freeling (0-6) 67-35 to keep the pressure on undefeated league-leaders Angaston (5-0-1), who had the bye.

At this point of the season it appears to be shaping up as a two-horse race between Tanunda and Ango, and this week the crews of Peter Baverstock (26-9), Neil Stewart (24-10) and Ian Jaensch (17-16) kept things rolling for the premiership underdogs.

Trinity and Xavier run away atop Div 1

LIAM PHILLIPS

TRINITY Old Scholars and Xavier Saints White both flexed their muscles in Friday night's Gawler and District Tennis Association Division 1 action, winning by a combined score of 23 sets to one.

Based on set differential Xavier White (+36) sits atop the ladder alongside Trinity Old Scholars (+30) with matching records of 5-1.

But Trinity slightly ate into that margin with a 12-0 shutout against Mallala, where Ward Williams (6-0), Daniel Elvin (6-1) and Brooke Schuit (6-1) were the standout singles performers.

The other Div 1 matchup was the Xavier Saints derby, and Xavier White hammered Xavier Green 11-1.

Ella Thorne (6-1) and Indi-Arna Morris (6-

1) showed off White's excellent talent on the ladies' side, while Green's only set came from Jayne Polito and Patrick Nugent in a hard-fought 7-6 mixed doubles battle.

Down in Division 2/3 Tod St Blue extended its unbeaten record to 6-0 after another one-sided 11-1 result, this time against a Willaston United side that came into the round third on the ladder at 3-1.

But the Willaston club was no match for Tod St's top side, with eight of the 12 total sets finishing 6-0, including singles shutouts from Reece Maudslay, Louise Campbell, Annemarie Nicolai and Jodie Gibbins.

With Willaston United out of the way, Tod St Blue's top challengers appear to be the other Willaston side.

Willaston was on the bye this round, but the two leading teams will meet for the first time on Saturday at 1pm.

Surging Power run into red-hot Kangaroos

LIAM PHILLIPS

PORT Adelaide's magical run came to an end in Saturday's preliminary final, getting overwhelmed by undefeated minor premiers North Melbourne 12.6 (78) to 2.9 (21).

Despite the season's disappointing final outing, it was an incredible turnaround for a Port Adelaide team who came into its third campaign this year following records of 1-8-1 in 2022 and 2-7-1 in 2023.

The Power looked destined for another losing year after coming out of the blocks with a 1-4 record through Round 5, but the young side turned things around and rattled off eight consecutive victories, including a thrilling comeback finals win against Hawthorn.

But against a North side boasting a 10-0-1 home-and-away season the gap in experience and top-end talent was apparent, with seven Kangaroos collecting at least 15 touches while Abbey Dowrick (18 disposals) was the only Power player to do the same.

Former BLGW and Central District star Caitlin Wendland was plenty involved, earning 10 touches for the fourth time in her career while also wrapping up seven tackles for the fourth time.

It could have been an even bigger day, but her two shots at goal both resulted in behinds.

Port Adelaide will head into 2025 with a new set of expectations and a belief that they belong among the league's best, and Wendland will be along for the ride after signing on until the end of 2027.

BLCA celebrates First Nations Round

THE Barossa and Light Cricket Association held its annual First Nations Round on Saturday, and taking their hosting duties seriously were the South Gawler Lions.

As has become a tradition, the Lions brought in indigenous artist Tamika Gollan to create some original designs on the stumps as South Gawler and Gawler Central battled it out for the Tobitt-Parker Cup.

The club also had Clifford Wilson conduct a pre-game smoking ceremony and the Welcome to Country, and the matchup itself delivered as a spectacle.

Perfect partners

IT WAS (puppy) love at first sight for viewers and the clever four-legged stars of Muster Dogs – not to mention their devoted trainers – when this observational series debuted in 2022, following five adorable pups as they learn to work on the land.

Ahead of a third season premiering on the ABC next year, series narrator Lisa Millar catches up with the human and canine participants in a four-part follow-up special.

In tonight's premiere, Millar reunites with the winners, Frank Finger and kelpie Annie, and season two favourites Zoë Miller and Buddy the border collie (both pictured, right, with Millar), to find out how the series (and its worldwide collective of fans) has changed their lives. Frank and Annie now travel the country meeting fans and spreading joy – while their pack has expanded with the addition of Annie's cheeky brother Lucifer, and season two's deaf pup Lucky, who are both benefitting from Frank's gentle and patient training methods.

There's also cuteness galore as Millar meets with season two participants Lily, Snow and a new litter of kelpie puppies in Wilcannia, NSW.

In Bothwell, Tasmania, Millar checks in on seventh-generation farmer Russ and goofy fan-favourite Molly, whose clumsiness posed a few challenges when it came to her training. We find out how Molly's herding skills are developing, and the important role she plays in the family grazing business.

These colourful characters captured hearts around the world by sharing how rewarding the partnership between farmers and their four-legged friends can be. Tune in for heart-warming updates and a glimpse at the next generation of Muster Dogs stars in this "must-see" series.

CAPRICORN Dec 22 – Jan 19

You will be under quite a bit of financial pressure at the moment and need to use your resources as effectively as possible. Do your best to cut down on luxuries. Romance: Your partner will be grateful for the extra attention which you give them this week. A non-judgemental approach will help them to open up about their concerns.

AQUARIUS Jan 20 – Feb 18

A powerful aspect to Neptune could make you a little dreamy at times this week. Avoid making any decisions which involve money unless you are sure that you are doing the right thing. Romance: A new admirer will want to find out more about you. A meeting later in the week will determine whether this new relationship is going anywhere or not.

PISCES Feb 19 – Mar 20

A meeting with colleagues will bring up conflicts between you and other people at work: if you are clear about what you really want you will be able to persuade them to follow suit. Romance: A meeting with a person whom you have seen many times before may seem different this week. This person is more interested in you than you realise.

ARIES Mar 21 – Apr 19

You won't be happy if you feel that your feelings are not being taken seriously enough. Don't spend too much time with an acquaintance who won't listen. Romance: Your partner's emotional state will have a strong impact on how you feel from day to day. Don't be too upset if you don't get quite as much attention as you feel you need.

TAURUS Apr 20 – May 20

A few hours spent with a person who is much older than you will help you to understand yourself a lot better. It won't be long before you feel that you know this person extremely well. Romance: An approach which is too subtle may not work. You will need to be quite direct in order to make your feelings known to the person you are interested in.

GEMINI May 21 – Jun 21

An idea will save time and energy, but may be difficult to implement. A friend who is supportive will give you the help you need to get it off the ground. Romance: A get-together at the beginning of the week will set the tone for the next few days. A favourable aspect to Neptune will help you to "read between the lines".

CANCER Jun 22 – Jul 22

Don't let other people push you into doing work which they should be doing themselves. You can be too conscientious for your own good at times! Romance: Don't intervene in another person's relationship unless you are sure that you are doing the right thing. The wrong move now could do more harm than good.

LEO Jul 23 – Aug 22

It might seem as though your family is taking up too much of your emotional energy. Make sure that you think about your own needs as well over the next few days. Romance: An unexpected gaffe by a close friend may upset your partner. You will see the funny side of the situation, even if your friend doesn't!

VIRGO Aug 23 – Sep 22

Your self-confidence may be dented by a disappointment early in the week. Don't spend too much time thinking about this, however: you need to move on and put it behind you. Romance: Time spent with your partner will be worthwhile, even though you will have your share of disagreements. Do your best to avoid an argument about money, though.

LIBRA Sep 23 – Oct 22

A meeting with friends later in the week will help to bring you out of your shell: don't be surprised if this meeting goes on much later than you originally planned! Romance: Your partner will soon apologise for a recent upset. A favourable aspect to Venus later in the week will help to smooth things over between you.

SCORPIO Oct 23 – Nov 21

Direct criticism could backfire if you are not careful. Do your best to find a tactful way of making your feelings known. Romance: A disagreement with your partner won't be as serious as it seems at the time. A favourable aspect to Mercury later in the week will help you both to communicate a little better.

SAGITTARIUS Nov 22 – Dec 21

An incident at work will help you to understand your colleagues a little better. You will discover whom you can really trust! Romance: A powerful aspect to Venus around the middle of the week will help you to get your love-life back on track after a recent lull. Don't be afraid to make your feelings known!

Community Diary A GUIDE TO WHAT'S ON IN OUR AREA

Friday 29

Come and get your body moving with some gentle chair exercises at the Beyond Blindness Gawler office. For blind and vision-impaired members living in the north, followed by a lunch at Gawler South Bakery. To RSVP or to sign up as a member, contact Jen Musolino on 8166 3330.

Saturday 30

Murray Street will be lit up with festive cheer for the Villawood Gawler Community Christmas Parade from 7pm to 7.45pm. Come take a look at an enchanting display of holiday spirit, featuring a vibrant procession of decorated floats. Apex Park will be buzzing from 5pm with the Gawler Apex Club Christmas Markets. Meet Santa Claus after the parade and enjoy some live performances, before the Rotary Club of Gawler Light's Christmas lights display goes up at 8.45pm.

Thorn-Clarke Wines at Angaston is hosting a special Carols in the Garden event from 5pm to 9pm. Enjoy live music in the Cellar Door Garden with local food vendors onsite serving up tasty treats. There will be lawn games for the kids and plenty of space to set up deck chairs and picnic rugs. Entry is free, but the venue requests guests to book a ticket for catering purposes, which can be done through Humanitix.

Sunday Dec 1

Beat the summer reading slump and register your child in the Summer Reading Club at the Adelaide Plains Library. Pick up a pack at either Two Wells or Mallala library, which includes a reading log to record 10 books read from December 1 to January 31, 2025.

Tuesday 3

The Australian Red Cross is hosting a free EmergencyRedi Workshop from 12.30pm to 2pm at the Kapunda Institute. The workshop will provide you with an introduction to emergency preparedness and helps you start your own emergency plan. Registrations for the workshop can be done through Eventbrite.

SCIENCE 4 KIDS

Coffee Ground Fossils

Do science with adults

INGREDIENTS

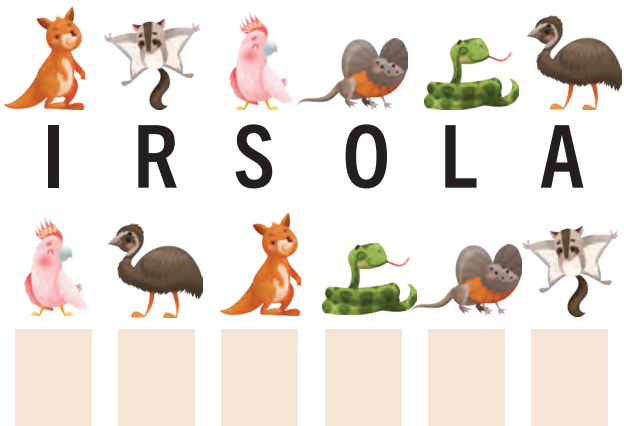

- 1 cup of used coffee grounds
- 1/2 cup of cold coffee
- 1 cup of flour
- 1/2 cup of salt
- Baking paper
- objects for impressions
- Cookie cutter

METHOD

1. Brew 1/2 cup of coffee and save the grounds. Allow time for the coffee to cool.
2. Mix the coffee grounds, coffee, flour, and salt into a dough. Knead, then flatten it on baking paper.
3. Cut out shapes with cookie cutters and press small objects into the dough to make imprints. Remove the objects to reveal the "fossils."
4. (Optional) Poke a hole near the edge if you want to hang it later.
5. Let the fossils dry overnight. (depending on how thick you make them, it could take longer).
