The ‘Yip changes hands

THE Bunyip owner Ben Taylor announced last week that he has sold the historic Gawler newspaper to SA Today, the publishers of The Plains Producer and a number of other regional newspapers across South Australia.

SA Today will be only the third owner of The Bunyip after William Barnet, who in-part established the newspaper back in 1863.

The Barnet family then sold The Bunyip to the Taylor family in 2003 and now SA Today becomes the new custodian.

The sale, set to be finalised on December 2, marks the next chapter for the paper.

SA Today’s acquisition of The Bunyip brings its portfolio to 18 weekly newspaper mastheads, underscoring the company’s commitment to supporting independent, local journalism in communities throughout South Australia and the Northern Territory.

SA Today group general manager Renee Bennett expressed her enthusiasm for the acquisition.

“The Bunyip holds a special place in the heart of Gawler and the surrounding region, and we are dedicated to preserving its legacy as a trusted voice for the community,” she said.

“We look forward to working with the people of Gawler to ensure The Bunyip continues to thrive as a true community asset.

“This acquisition reflects our commitment to regional communities and the vital role that newspapers like The Bunyip play in keeping locals informed, engaged, and connected.

“We are honoured to be the custodians of this important publication.”

Mr Taylor, who has owned The Bunyip since 2003, shared his confidence in SA Today’s stewardship.

“The Bunyip has been an integral part of the Gawler community for generations, and it has been a privilege to uphold its tradition,” he said.

“I am confident that under SA Today, the newspaper will continue to flourish and serve the community.”

The Bunyip general manager Tony Swan also welcomed the acquisition.

“Our team is excited about joining SA Today, and we are grateful to Ben for his leadership over the years, which has allowed us to build on the legacy of the Barnet family in continuing to grow this important publication for the region,” he said.

“We look forward to building on this foundation with the support of SA Today.”

With The Bunyip and The Plains Producer in its portfolio, SA Today is positioned to uphold the future of regional journalism in South Australia, ensuring that publications like The Bunyip continue to deliver trusted, high-quality news to the unique communities they serve.

Construction under way for new SES unit

The $5 million development being built on Two Wells Road in Willaston will aim to improve response times to emergency incidents while also taking pressure off neighbouring units in Salisbury and Kapunda.

Mr Beattie and Mr Cregan gave particular credit to Mr Piccolo, who has long been an advocate for an SES unit in Gawler.

Mr Cregan said the growth being seen in the north requires this investment.

“Chris [Beattie] has advised me that there are more than 30 volunteers who already have their uniforms who are committed to ensuring... that they’re available to serve their community with skill and expertise and we’re particularly thankful,” he said.

“We want to ensure that we have facilities that are fit for purchase to that end and in consequence of that objective and the government’s commitment to deliver this project at this site.”

The Gawler unit has attracted strong community interest, thanks to two well-attended recruitment information sessions held in September.

It is the first brand-new SES unit in around 25 years.

It will feature an operations room, which can function as an incident control centre, three offices, a communications room, kitchen and welfare facilities.

An appliance building will include two engine bays, storeroom, change rooms, accessible bathroom and a laundry area.

The site will also have outdoor sandbagging distribution, training and emergency staging areas, with off-street parking for SES personnel, visitors and disability spaces.

“The new dedicated unit will encourage more local men and women to volunteer for this important service,” Mr Piccolo said.

“Having the SES locally based will deliver better response times and help keep our community safe.

“Establishing this unit is another election commitment the State Labor Malinauskas Government is delivering.”

The Gawler unit will help ease pressure on the Salisbury and Kapunda units, which have responded to more than a combined 7000 callouts throughout the past decade.

“The Gawler area has previously been admirably serviced by the Kapunda and Salisbury SES units,” Mr Beattie said.

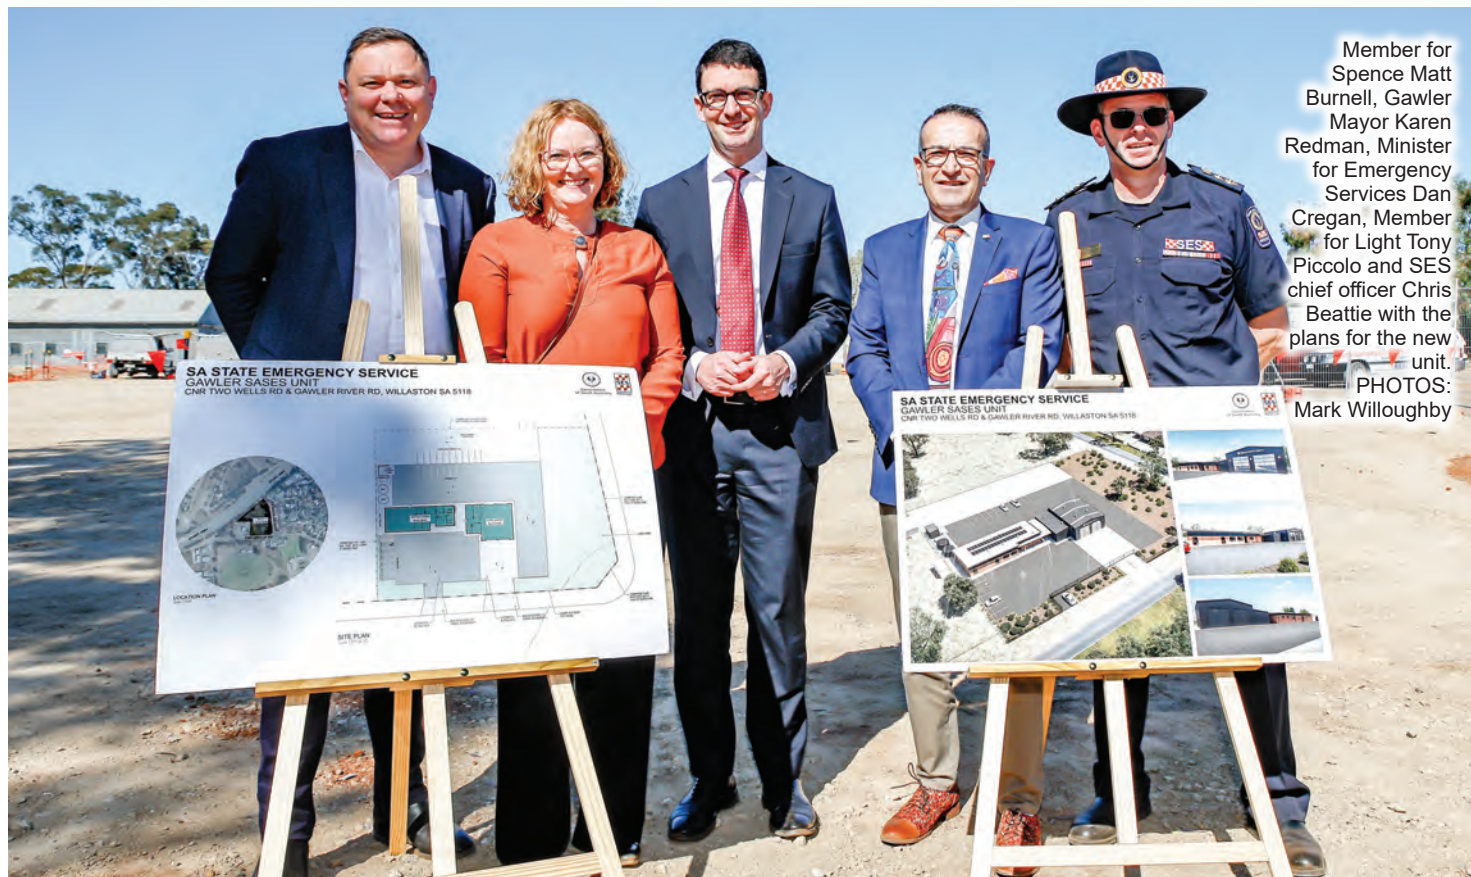

“However, with Gawler identified as a high growth area over the coming years, the need for a new unit in Gawler became very clear.

“We have had terrific interest and support from the Gawler community to join the new unit and we look forward to working with the local community going forward.”

Construction is anticipated to be completed in mid-2025.

SES chief officer Chris Beattie, Member for Spence Matt Burnell, Gawler Mayor Karen Redman and Minister for Emergency Services Dan Cregan look over the plans for the new unit.

Engineering Australia’s space future

AIDAN CURTIS
JOURNALIST

BUILDING Australia’s space sector and encouraging more diversity in STEM are two of the driving passions behind a Cockatoo Valley engineer’s nomination for the state’s Australian of the Year Awards.

Sarah Cannard has blazed a trail for women in STEM across her career as an aerospace engineer, with her growing list of accolades now including a nomination for the SA Australian of the Year award.

Dr Cannard’s resumé includes involvement in hypersonic rocket launches, the design of Australia’s first lunar rover and the Hunter Class Frigate Program.

Through it all, Dr Cannard has made time to actively encourage people from all walks of life to follow their passions in STEM and engineering while helping to build Australia’s space industry.

She described her nomination as a surprise and said she was both honoured and humbled.

“It was very unexpected and it’s nice to know that someone out there is recognising what you do for the community,” she said.

“There’s also a feeling of embarrassment, I suppose, with regards to there’s lots of people out there I that I think do tremendous work for women in STEM and STEM in general.

“Nonetheless, very humbled and proud to receive a nomination.”

While the nomination was welcome recognition, Dr Cannard said there was still lots more to do in bringing diversity to engineering.

“It’s a bit of a double-edged sword that we’re still, 20 years on after I graduated, very far from having parity in engineering,” she said.

“That large amount of diversity across the engineering field is still something that we’re working towards.

“It saddens me that we still haven’t quite made inroads there, and that’s driving a lot of my passion for this.”

Alongside that passion is her drive to bring more people into Australia’s budding space sector, which Dr Cannard said will only continue to grow and provide jobs for people closer to home.

“I’ve absolutely loved being an engineer, working in the space sector, being a female in this sector in Australia and I want to be able to communicate that to others so they feel like they have a place in this sector,” she said.

“I remember when I was at uni, finished my degree, got a job with the local South Australian engineering company Nova Systems, and I always had it in the back of my mind if I really want to work in the space sector I better go work for a real space company overseas.

“Especially as a female, if you want to have a family and settle down a little bit, those sorts of conflicting requirements of wanting to be close to family but also head overseas to pursue your dreams, they can be at odds with each other.

“To be able to be part of projects or lobby and promote particularly space as a career in Australia means that you no longer have to make those choices.”

Dr Cannard said regardless of the nomination’s outcome, she wanted to use the opportunity to continue showcasing her love of engineering for the next generations.

“Australia is on the cusp of really proving its worth to the international space sector. We’ve got a lot to offer in Australia,” she said.

“We do world-class research, we’ve got world-class ingenuity and engineering and technology.

“Being an engineer in the space sector is just so amazing – just pursue it, don’t let anyone tell you otherwise.”

Understanding Personal Injury Claims

Contact us for further legal advice.

If you’ve been injured in an accident that wasn’t your fault, you might be entitled to compensation under South Australia’s personal injury laws. These laws are designed to help you recover costs for medical bills, lost wages, and other damages if you’re injured due to someone else’s negligence. Here’s what you need to know about making a personal injury claim in South Australia.

The Basics of Personal Injury Claims

Several incidents could lead to a personal injury claim, such as motor vehicle accidents, workplace injuries, or accidents in public spaces. To make a claim, however, you need to prove that another party was responsible for your injuries. This might be due to negligence or a failure to maintain a duty of care. Because you need to prove another party was at fault, it’s crucial to collect evidence at the time of the injury, such as photos. You should also seek medical attention quickly and keep records of your expenses.

Compensation you may Be Entitled to Personal injury compensation can cover a range of things, such as medical expenses, rehabilitation costs, lost wages, and pain and suffering. In South Australia, the amount of compensation you’re entitled to depends on the nature of your injury and the resulting impact on your life. For more serious injuries, compensation can also cover future expenses, such as ongoing medical care.

Time Limits for Making a Claim

It’s important to understand there are strict time limits for lodging a personal injury claim in South Australia. Generally, you have three years from the date of the injury to file your claim. There can be exceptions to this rule; however, your best approach is to always seek medical and legal advice as soon as possible.

Getting Legal Advice

As mentioned, if you’re injured and think you might be eligible for compensation under personal injury law, it’s best to seek legal advice. While you can lodge compensation claims directly without legal assistance, getting the right advice and assistance from a personal lawyer can give you peace of mind.

Fostering bright futures for children leads to nomination

AIDAN CURTIS

AN ANDREWS Farm foster carer is hoping to leverage her time in the spotlight to help enact meaningful change for vulnerable children as part of the SA Australian of the Year awards.

The Carer Project co-founder and foster carer Lisa O'Malley was recently announced as one of four nominees for the Local Hero for South Australia Award.

Ms O'Malley has seen more than 200 foster placements come through her home, with children coming through multiple times.

She said she was not expecting to get the nomination at all.

"Getting the call was a bit of a surprise, a bit overwhelming, because I don't like being in the spotlight," she said.

"At the same time, I appreciate being acknowledged and that carers, or whoever has nominated me, have seen the benefits of what we're all doing."

While winning the award would be an honour, Ms O'Malley said she hopes her time in the public eye can be a good chance to continue her fierce advocacy for children and carers.

"I'm hoping that it in some way enables me to be able to keep contributing and to get a seat at the table where I'm actually heard and my experience and knowledge is taken on board and we can work towards making the right changes," she said.

"And especially getting better outcomes for our kids because they only get one childhood."

"I'm hoping it opens some doors where people are willing to sit down and really listen to hopefully make those changes."

Ms O'Malley said there needed to be more investment into foster care to ensure more children have access to loving and stable homes during tumultuous and traumatic points of their lives.

"Firstly, the need for more foster carers so that all children have the opportunity to grow up in loving family-based homes," she said.

"There are too many children in residential care so retaining foster carers should be a number one priority."

"That also means there needs to be an improvement in the supports for foster and kinship carers."

She said it was not always easy to get access to decision makers who could help make those changes.

Most importantly, though, Ms O'Malley said she would continue to be a staunch advocate for children regardless of the nomination.

"We have vulnerable children coming into our homes who often will have trauma histories of some kind – they're not in our homes because nothing happened to them," she said.

"They can often be targeted as well as they're growing up, so we need to lead by example to show them how we treat other people, how we respect other people, and we need to be the biggest advocate."

"They need to know that we're on their team... so they know they do have people surrounding them who do care."

Further growth identified in Plains GARP response

CONSIDERATION of further locations for increased residential and employment land supply, plus the opening up of further development potential through Gawler River flood infrastructure investment are among Adelaide Plains Council's Greater Adelaide Regional Plan (GARP) submission which was endorsed at the ordinary meeting on October 28.

The submission states council is open to further growth but reinforces key challenges including lack of potable water, lack of sewer infrastructure, no planning for public transport services and the lack of new development leading to local housing diversity, including aged housing.

Council is open to all land flagged by the GARP for growth, including north of Two Wells for a residential future, and land for employment growth at Two Wells and west of Dublin.

"In advising of openness, council recognises all land flagged for growth, be it residential or employment, needs investigating, infrastructure planning, engagement and rezoning, and a wide variety of State Government as well as council decisions over numerous years," the submission states.

Council has identified additional locations for further residential and employment growth, including the Leinad Land Developments south of Dublin, land west of Port Wakefield Highway near Two Wells, and north and east of the Mallala township.

The GARP states that any further growth areas and development needs to consider the flood prone nature of Gawler River, and subsequent infrastructure investment that may be required.

Council's submission states that work is ongoing to develop a business case to raise the height of the Bruce Eastick Dam wall, which would reduce flood risk.

"GARP should include the opening up of development potential to the east of Two Wells and in Lewiston through flood infrastructure investment as an area of investigation to be undertaken," it states.

LOOKING BACK

through the files of The Bunyip

150 YEARS AGO

THE LADY ALICE MINE... Our latest intelligence is that there has been no change in the workings, the tributers continuing to stope each end of the rise. In the north stope the lode is six feet wide, producing good gold and copper ore, and the south stope is still of great width, with good patches of copper ore all through it, and payable for gold also. The mine is not developing its lodes, as no driving or sinking is going on. It is pleasant to record, and something for Gawler to be proud of, that a dividend of one shilling and eight pence in the pound has been declared by the Board of Directors, the Lady Alice being the only gold mine in South Australia that has declared a dividend.

100 YEARS AGO

THE PREMIER OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA AT GAWLER... The Premier of South Australia, Hon. J. Gunn, in his visit to Gawler... had a capital reception in the Gawler Institute Hall. Mr Gunn really came in the interests of the Labor effort to capture the seat made vacant in the Barossa, nevertheless he gave much knowledge of local interest, and was loudly applauded for his principles and determination. Mr Gunn dealt at some length on the previous Government’s administration particularly in reference to the state railways locomotive requirements, and definitely answered in the negative, the hope that the contract let overseas might be cancelled and the work reviewed to meet local industrial demands.

50 YEARS AGO

RATES RISE BY UP TO 500 PER CENT... A number of ratepayers are incensed by an increase in Gawler Town Council rates of up to 500 per cent this year. Hardest hits were residents and business proprietors in streets close to the main shopping centre and Gawler east, where land values have risen sharply. Mr. D. H. Anders, who lives with his family in a large house on the corner of Calton Road, said he would have to pay out $900 in council rates this year - $725 more than last financial year.

25 YEARS AGO

NO, NO CRY VOTERS... Wakefield electorate delivered resounding NO votes to both the preamble and republic questions in Saturday’s referendum. On the question of the republic the overall percentage vote in favour of the NO vote was 67.15, but this varied from as high as 83.91 at Arthurton down to 47.32 at Forreston – the only polling place which recorded a majority for the YES case.

10 YEARS AGO

RESIDENTS SAY ‘SLOW DOWN’... Playford Council is calling on the Department of Planning, Transport and Infrastructure to review the speed limit and signage on the notorious Gawler-One Tree Hill Road. Elected members moved a motion last Tuesday to lobby DPTI to reassess the safety of the 100km/h road following concerns expressed by Yattalunga resident Sandy Davies. Mrs Davies, who lives on the notoriously windy road, said the road’s undulation, lack of visibility and high speed limit creates dangerous situations, to the point where Australia Post refuses to deliver her mail.

EDITORIAL

Changing of the guard

THE cat is now well and truly out of the bag. After more than 20 years as the owner of this publication, Taylor Group Media will no longer have control of The Bunyip once the sale of the company to SA Today goes through in a few weeks’ time.

A heartfelt thanks needs to go to Ben Taylor for finding a buyer for this publication that matches his passion for regional news.

The decision to sell to an already-established media company means that the people of Gawler and surrounding areas will continue to have a news outlet dedicated to keeping them informed.

It is important to outline what this means to the readers and the wider public.

In short, very little will change.

The paper is set to remain weekly, coming out each Wednesday to all the familiar vendors.

The staff community members have become accustomed to will be the same, including the editorial voice each week.

A host of internal processes will be changed up, but by and large The Bunyip Gawlerites have come to know will remain the same, if not an improved version.

The team now has the backing of a broader network which should result in greater support and more resources.

This will hopefully lead to broader and more thorough coverage in the backyard of readers.

In short, despite what the sold sign on the building and change of ownership could generate in terms of pub chat and water cooler rumours, the ‘Yip is well and truly here to stay.

It might look a little different and eventually move house, but the paper remains strong and dedicated to giving the north the coverage it deserves.

Itinerants and ne’er do wells strike Gawler again

I WONDER if those who provide succour to the itinerants and ne’er do wells who flock to Gawler consider the consequences that they inflict on Gawlerites who work, raise their families and contribute to our general amenities and who would like to enjoy them without vandalism and rubbishing of them.

Once again Clonlea Park is both rubbished and vandalised.

Ordinary people contribute in various ways to the recognised standards of common propriety.

We do not disobey the “Clonlea Park is closed at sunset signs” and we certainly do not camp there for weeks on end close to the freebies that are offered by the suckers, well intentioned as they no doubt are, who succour them with free food and comfort.

Causation cannot be proven but correlation certainly exists. The world is not formed by good intention but by motivation.

The itinerants are clearly motivated by the free food in Pioneer Park each week and the free amenities and sustenance distributed by the Salvos on the riverbank, less than a stone’s throw from this latest rubbish tip, and there are always other such encampments forming and being disbanded within walking distance of these motivating facilities, conveniences and freebies.

Council has a difficult job and I think that they do it rather well.

But when I am told they find it hard to show the itinerants are camping, I would have thought a tent being up and occupied for three weeks in Clonlea Park was a bit of a give-away.

I suggest the giving out of free food to beggars in council parks be banned and any consent, explicit or implicit, be removed from those that do that.

I suggest that costs be sought for ratepayers from those who hand out free tents and swags for the inevitable clear up of the rubbish by council that is left behind by their recipients.

These people must be moved on before they trash our town further.

Their presence is creating a spiralling downfall in public amenity.

I do not say that they unbolted valuable infrastructure and caused its vandalization, but I do say they are part of creating the general rubbishy climate in which such things are being normalised.

John Bolton, Gawler East

The Salvation Army Red Shield Defence Services 125-year anniversary

WE have heard time and time again people tell their children, “never walk past The Salvos without giving a donation, because they helped us (or your grandparents) during the war”.

It is a sentiment that has been around for generations and still exists today.

A long legacy that The Salvation Army has had during devastating times of war and conflict, where they have provided a safe space of rest and support.

This year marks the 125-year anniversary of The Salvation Army’s Red Shield Defence Services (RSDS) supporting those during these difficult times.

On behalf of The Salvos, it has been an honour to have served defence members, shoulder to shoulder, during times of war over the past 125 years.

We cast our minds back to the second Boer War in November 1899, when Salvation Army founder William Booth said, “Investigate what can be done for our soldiers in the field of battle”.

Since then, The Salvos have been looking to find ways to support Australia’s service men and women wherever they find themselves.

Indeed, there hasn’t been a major conflict or peace-keeping effort since the Boer War where The Salvos haven’t been there to bring support and hope.

From the two World Wars to conflicts in Malaya, Korea, Vietnam, Cambodia, Somalia, East Timor, the Middle East, and more, The Salvos have been there.

During major conflicts, the RSDS, affectionately known as the Sallyman or Sally-ma’am, were on the ground with soldiers to provide a warm drink or refreshments, a bite to eat, and most importantly a place to have a chat in a safe space.

The Salvos are proud of the strong bond we have created with our service men and women across the nation, and around the world.

In these times of devastating violence, hardship and injustice, The Salvos look to bring a glimmer of hope and support to those who really need it.

We continue this important work to this day.

In Darwin, Townsville, Brisbane, Singleton, Holsworthy, Canberra and Adelaide, we serve those who serve and will continue to do so into the future.

It is a privilege to do so.

Mental health crisis on the farm

SOUTH Australian farmers are facing a mental health crisis that cannot be ignored.

This issue isn’t just about long hours in the paddock, it’s about the isolation, relentless pressures, and the lack of accessible mental health support for those who keep our economy thriving.

Farmer suicide rates are double those of other workers, yet farmers are far less likely to seek help.

Why? Because of a deep-seated stigma and the independent spirit that runs through rural life.

Our farmers are not just enduring “one bad season”, as some out-of-touch remarks suggest.

They are dealing with rising costs – fuel, feed, insurance – unique to farming, which make every drought or failed crop a potential disaster.

The public’s misconceptions are far removed from the reality of farming life, and our policymakers need to understand the severity of these struggles.

Recent stressors, including a live sheep export ban and severe frost in the vineyards, further compound the daily challenges faced by our rural communities.

Efforts by groups like Beyond Blue, R U OK?, and ifarmwell to support our farmers are vital, but this is not enough.

We need government policies that genuinely address the unique needs of our farmers.

They aren’t asking for special treatment – just a fair go.

I will be advocating for our state parliament to take this issue seriously and hope to see an inquiry begun soon.

Farmers are the backbone of our economy.

If we truly value them, we must act now to support their mental well-being.

For some, tomorrow may be too late.

The SACE race

IMOGEN EVANS

JOURNALIST

YEAR 12 students across the north have been preparing to sit their South Australian Certificate of Education (SACE) exams this week.

The exams – paper, electronic and oral, will deliver final assessments for more than 12,500 secondary students enrolled in examined subjects as part of their SACE) qualification.

With the exam season being a source of anxiety for many students across Gawler and surrounding regions, Trinity College teachers have shared some helpful advice on how to reduce stress.

Trinity College's head of wellbeing Rebecca Grocke and head of academics Justin Simmonds said preparation is key to a smooth and stress-free week.

"Get everything organised the night before so that you'll still be in control if something unexpected happens in the morning," they said.

"Aim to sleep well in the lead up to the exam. Effective sleep will not only improve your mood, but will also help your brain to function effectively in the pressure of the exams.

"Try to answer everything. Many questions have a 50:50 element to them that gets some credit."

Most importantly, the pair has encouraged students to be kind to themselves over the exam period.

"Look for improvements within yourself rather than comparing yourself with others. Focus on your own journey and growth, celebrating your personal successes and strengths," they said.

Students will receive their SACE results later in December, with SACE board chief executive Michaela Bensley wishing the best of luck for Year 12s across the state.

"The SACE team has worked closely with schools throughout the year to ensure a successful and positive examination experience," he said.

Minister for Education, Training and Skills Blair Boyer said he appreciates that exams can be a stressful time.

"More than 12,500 South Australian students will undertake their exams over the next 10 days across 205 school sites," he said.

"It's important to remember that working hard and trying your best is the only thing we can ask of our young people during these final few weeks of Year 12.

"Students have worked hard all year with the exams a culmination of their school studies.

"As they get ready to embark on their next chapter – whatever that might be – I wish all our students every success for their future."

Prepare now for Fire Danger Season

SOUTH Australians are being urged to ‘Be Bushfire Ready’, with the annual campaign launching last week as the state heads into a predicted hotter and drier summer.

Adelaide Metropolitan is among three districts where the Fire Danger Season has been brought forward, with fire bans to begin on Friday, November 15.

The SA Country Fire Service (CFS) launched its Be Bushfire Ready campaign on Thursday, October 31, with a strong focus on simplifying the steps all South Australians need to take when preparing for the bushfire season.

“Whether you live, work, or travel through a bushfire risk area, it is critical that all South Australians are prepared for the upcoming Fire Danger Season and know what to do if a bushfire starts near them,” CFS chief officer Brett Loughlin said.

“Preparing for the bushfire season is a shared responsibility – CFS staff and volunteers dedicate months of training to be ready to protect their communities and are urging everyone to do their bit by getting their properties and bushfire plans ready.”

This season’s heightened bushfire risk, as well as below-average fire activity in South Australia over the past few years, have prompted warnings against a rise in complacency after recent fire danger seasons.

Research conducted earlier this year shows more than half of residents who live in a bushfire risk area are aware they are under prepared for the bushfire season but do not appear to be addressing this, reinforcing the complacency in the community.

(MFS) chief officer Jeff Swann said the MFS encourages all South Australians to know their risk and prepare their homes and families ahead of this Fire Danger Season.

“Many South Australians living on the outskirts of Adelaide mistakenly believe they are not in a bushfire risk area, but these fires can have devastating effects in their communities,” he said.

“During a bushfire, embers can travel kilometres ahead of the fire and can cause most houses to catch fire when sparks or burning embers settle on or around your home.

“It is essential for residents living on the outskirts of Adelaide, Adelaide Hills and larger country towns to plan and prepare for what they will do when a bad fire day approaches – including where they will go, when they will leave and what they will take.”

Minister for Emergency Services Dan Cregan said the Be Bushfire Ready campaign is about cutting through the complacency that threatens lives and properties.

“With dates brought forward in metropolitan areas and large parts of our regions, South Australians must prepare now to ensure they have a plan in place,” he said.

“Conditions are particularly concerning and steps taken will help avoid further devastation in communities still recovering from past events.”

Pair arrested for Penfield fire

A PAIR of northern suburbs men faced court on Monday after they were charged with starting a bushfire at Penfield.

Around 2.30pm on Saturday, November 2, emergency services responded to reports of a grass fire near Womma Road, Penfield.

The reports said sparks from an angle grinder had started the fire and it was burning out of control in a southerly direction.

The fire burned around 33 hectares of grass, damaged a shed and several glass houses, and caused three people to be taken to hospital for smoke inhalation.

Police investigations into the incident led to the arrest of a 31-year-old Waterloo Corner man and a 31-year-old Penfield man.

Both were refused bail and appeared in the Elizabeth Magistrates Court on Monday, November 4.

Police also warned the public that there will be a zero tolerance approach to fires caused by deliberate, reckless or negligent behaviour.

Speeder loses licence

A TWO Wells man lost his licence after he was clocked travelling more than 40km/h over the speed limit near Willaston on Sunday morning.

Just after 6am on November 3, Gawler police conducting speed detection duties on the Sturt Highway near Willaston clocked a red Toyota Echo travelling at 157km/h in a 110km/h zone.

Police stopped the car and spoke to the driver, a 32-year-old Two Wells man.

The man received a fine of $1997 and accrued nine demerit points.

He was issued an immediate six-month loss of licence.

CELEBRATING 35 YEARS

Christmas card winners

AIDAN CURTIS
JOURNALIST

TOWN of Gawler is starting to get into the festive spirit with the winners of the annual Mayor's Christmas Card Competition announced on Monday, November 4.

The top three entries across all three competition categories were named early on Monday morning and their works have already gone on display around Gawler.

Town of Gawler Mayor Karen Redman announced the winners at the Gawler Civic Centre, with a mixture of school staff and families in attendance to applaud the artistic efforts of their hard-working students.

Following the ceremony, Ms Redman said this was her favourite time of year and she loved seeing how much enjoyment the children got out of the competition.

She said it was difficult to pick the winners from a pool of 884 entries.

"The artistic expression of students... it's fantastic, it's just beautiful," she said.

"The kids get so excited for it every year. They are very talented, I love them all [the entries]."

"It creates artistic expression and for kids that don't get engaged in sport, they have another avenue."

The students each received a framed copy of their entry along with a number of other prizes for themselves and their schools.

All the entries have been compiled into booklets, which are available for viewing at the Gawler Civic Centre, along with a slideshow featuring the entries on display in the Civic Centre café.

Village Fair hailed a success

AIDAN CURTIS

A HOT forecast and a clash with a major Adelaide event did little to deter the community from showing strong support for the Gawler Village Fair.

On Saturday, November 2, hundreds flocked to Pioneer Park to see what was on offer as part of this year’s Village Fair.

The event, organised by the Rotary Clubs of Gawler and Gawler Light, was a huge success and featured something for everyone.

Rotary Club of Gawler director: public image, marketing and communication Kyle Smith said both clubs were really happy with the turnout.

“I think everybody was happy with the numbers that came through,” Mr Smith said.

“We’re hoping to get even more people around next year.

“Just really happy with everybody’s enthusiasm and the beautiful displays set up. There were lots of smiles on lots of faces.”

He said the feedback from both vendors and community members on the day has been very positive so far, which is bolstering Rotary’s plans to make the Village Fair even bigger in 2025.

With all the displays and activities on the day, Mr Smith said the highlight had to be a laser tag battle between both Rotary clubs.

“It was a bit chaotic and I think there were some shady tactics where the Gawler club was ahead but by the end the Gawler Light club managed to pip us,” he said.

“But it was really good fun and everybody had a big smile on their face, so it was really good.

“It was good for all of us, but I was a bit sore.”

Mr Smith thanked everyone involved on behalf of his club and the Gawler Light club, including Rotarians, volunteers, the Australian Air Force Cadets, and Gawler’s gymnastics team which overcame serious heat concerns to still put on a good show.

We ‘moustache’ for your support now

A TRIO of Bunyip staffers are adding to the publication’s recent charitable efforts by taking part in Movember.

Senior journalist Aidan Curtis, sports editor Liam Phillips and manager Tony Swan are all putting their upper lips on the line for Movember.

Movember is a movement which seeks to raise awareness of men’s health and mental health issues, most often by growing a moustache throughout November.

The three have teamed up to raise $500 towards men’s health and mental health initiatives by the end of the month.

With Aidan organising the idea, the three are hoping they can do some good by simply growing a moustache.

“We all have our share of health problems – particularly mental health these days – so it’s important to keep raising awareness and hopefully making a difference,” Aidan said.

“Growing a moustache is something simple all of us can do – except for Tony – to raise awareness and fundraise for a really important issue.

“We would really appreciate any support from the community in this cause and hopefully end up with some laughable facial hair as well.”

Tourism awards celebrate northern businesses

IMOGEN EVANS

A NUMBER of Barossa and Gawler businesses have been celebrated in this year's South Australian Tourism Awards.

With more than 30 categories recognising the state's most exceptional tourism services, Barossa's Be Curious campaign, Seppeltsfield, Pindarie Wines and Le Mas Barossa were among the north's celebrated businesses.

The Church Gawler Barossa Region, a home-base styled accommodation service, also picked up a bronze in the self-contained accommodation category

The Church Gawler and Barossa owner and host Karen Vial said the team was happy to hear the news.

"It is such a fantastic acknowledgement by the industry, to be a finalist and winner in the 2024 South Australian Tourism Awards," she said.

"I am extremely proud of my 157-year-old former church in Willaston/Gawler and its 8.5years as an accommodation home.

"A huge thank you to all my guests, my local and regional circles who have experienced and promoted The Church Gawler Barossa Region and supported myself in this endeavour.

"It is beyond appreciated and I am most grateful, thankful and blessed."

Minister for Tourism Zoe Bettison congratulated the dedicated and innovative businesses celebrated at the South Australian Tourism Awards.

"All tourism operators in South Australia work incredibly hard to deliver exceptional tourism products making our state a must-visit destination for all types of travellers from all over the world," she said.

Winners were announced at a gala dinner last week, and will go onto represent the state at the Australian Tourism Awards, which will be held in Adelaide in March of next year.

Community group hosts giant market day

MIDWAY Road Community House is hosting a giant market day next weekend to raise funds for work the team does with the community.

The community-owned group provides recreational, leisure and educational services for the Playford community and advocates for those across the northern suburbs.

On November 16 from 9am, the house will be hosting a giant display of second hand clothing, books, plants and bric-a-brac for sale at 48 Midway Road, Elizabeth East.

All proceeds will go towards supporting programs run at Midway.

The team are also seeking donations from the community to sell on the day.

To contact the team, call 8255 4352.

Community picnic in Playford

CITY of Playford is hosting a picnic at Peerless Reserve to celebrate the new neighbourhood playground in Munno Para West.

Just in time for summer, Playford residents have been invited on Saturday November 16 to join in a community picnic.

The event will include lawn games and activities for all ages, a sausage sizzle, face painting, ice-cream and basketball games.

The event aims to bring the community out to experience the recently-opened play equipment on site, including the new basketball courts, adventure obstacle course and nature play area.

A line-up of events has been released for the Playford community at the Midway Road Community House.

Veterans aim to inspire through epic journey

Freeling's Michael Djoric and Stephen Lockwood will taking on a 15,000-kilometre trek around Australia on postie bikes. PHOTO: Facebook/The Last Post

JOURNALIST

A TRIO of veterans are beginning preparations for a journey around the country, filming a documentary while taking on the massive 15,000-kilometre trek on small postie bikes.

Stephen Lockwood and Michael Djoric, both from Freeling, will be joined by Jack Rainy, from Canberra, travelling around Australia meeting with veterans, highlighting their stories and successes and raising awareness for veterans' mental health.

The trio all met in Afghanistan and while they have all ventured down different paths since leaving the military, they still share a strong bond.

Mr Lockwood said the idea for 'The Last Post' documentary stemmed from seeing veterans, including close friends, struggle with life post-military.

"A lot of guys tend to hold onto that military mindset because they may believe that may be all they were at some point," he said.

"And then once they leave a lot of guys have a lot of issues trying to find their own identity again, especially if they join at quite a young age."

Mr Lockwood just wanted to highlight some success stories to help inspire other veterans navigating life after military.

"I'm trying to highlight different stories across Australia and speak to these people and ask them what their measurement of success is," he said.

"I want to make sure they know that it's not the cliché answer that everyone tries to give, so they can be authentic and honest.

"And I thought we may as well try and do it while doing something difficult as well."

That is where the idea of making the trip on postie bikes came from, an iconic Australian vehicle.

"I just found that we should do it on postie bikes because it's difficult and because it's going to be slow... even though we might annoy truck drivers and for that we do apologise ahead of time," Mr Lockwood said.

It is still early days, with the trip expected to begin around October next year, but the response has already been strong.

'The Last Post' Facebook page has already amassed more than 1000 followers, and people have been reaching out from right across the country to be involved in the project.

"Every single person that we talk to about this... has been in immediately," Mr Lockwood said.

"That's how I know it's going to be a good idea, so I'm humbled by it, it seems to be growing at a phenomenal rate but I need to keep this momentum up because it's 12 months away."

Mr Lockwood has been working in the film industry for the past 12 months and spent many hours learning how to film as he prepares for the trip, with an editor and a camera operator also coming on board.

The project has partnered with Young Veterans, which assists veterans to succeed in life after service, and Andrew Russell Veteran Living, which offers affordable housing and provides practical supports to veterans in need.

The goal is to continue conducting as much community engagement as possible and encourage more sponsors to come on board for the project.

"The primary focus of our project will be to highlight the focus of the three of us coming together over something we all love to do, sharing our successes and sharing our failures... just filming us making this journey," he said.

"It's going to be difficult, it's going to be hot, it's going to be wild."

To follow along with the journey, visit 'The Last Post' Facebook page.

Bunyip joins Gawler walk

TWO of The Bunyip's own joined one of Gawler's walking groups last week, helping to mark a significant milestone.

Ben Lennon and Claire Abbott joined Gawler Walk and Talk last Wednesday for the group's weekly walk, which is celebrating its 18th birthday this month.

The Heart Foundation walking group meets every Wednesday morning, spends about an hour walking around town, promoting a healthy lifestyle while also socialising and making new friends.

The walk helped Claire complete her challenge of walking 81km for the Royal Flying Doctor Service (RFDS) Oceans to Outback fundraiser.

For Ben, it provided an opportunity to get some much-needed training in ahead of his walk from Gawler to Adelaide Oval, which he attempts today (Wednesday, November 6), raising money for the Hope Cup on November 17.

Regional Roadshow visits Gawler and Barossa

JEM NASH

THE RAA hit the road last week as part of its annual Regional Roadshow, meeting with members in Gawler and the Barossa.

Gold 50 events were held for 50-year members at Gawler on Friday and Angaston on Thursday, acknowledging their longstanding membership with RAA and hearing from executives on current strategic priorities.

Around 130 members attended the event in Gawler, where they had the opportunity to hear from RAA chief executive Nick Reade, RAA president Kathy Gramp and RAA Insurance chief executive Tara Page.

Attendees were able to ask questions and raise issues that people are facing around the region.

Mr Reade said the Regional Roadshow was an important way to recognise and engage with the RAA’s country-based members.

“As the state’s largest membership organisation, connecting with some of our most loyal members face-to-face every year is a tradition we’re passionate about,” he said.

“With around one quarter of our more than 820,000 members based in regional areas, we’re always keen to learn more about how we can help to make their lives easier and advocate on the issues most important to them.”

Nominate for Light’s top citizens

NOMINATIONS for Light Regional Council’s Citizen of the Year awards are closing soon, with the community encouraged to highlight the contributions made by hard-working volunteers.

There are five categories for the awards that will be presented at the annual Australia Day ceremony next year, including Citizen of the Year, Young Citizen of the Year, Community Event of the Year, Community Project of the Year, and the Award for Active Citizenship.

“It is my pleasure each year to be able to acknowledge the selfless individuals who make the Light region a great place to live, work and visit,” Light Regional Council Mayor Bill O’Brien said.

“I encourage everyone to submit their nominations to recognise those people who make a positive difference in our communities.”

Nominations close at 5pm on Friday, November 15 and can be made through the Citizen of the Year website, or paperwork can be collected from council’s Kapunda office or the Freeling, Greenock and Kapunda libraries.

Council responds to survey feedback

JEM NASH

LIGHT Regional Council has announced steps being undertaken to improve its service following the recent Community Satisfaction Survey.

The survey, which ran earlier this year, received almost 600 responses from the community, with the main issues being raised including the poor quality of roads and the responsiveness of council when contacted by ratepayers.

Council released a response last month, highlighting some of the key actions it will be taking, including improving road quality and enhancing communication.

Council will also implement a new Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system in 2025-2026, which aims to improve customer service and increase efficiency.

“Ideally, council’s aim is to implement a CRM system that will automate some of the contact and engagement that the community has with council and will keep our community informed of any actions that are arising,” Light Regional Council chief executive Richard Dodson said.

“At the moment, that is not automated and relies on manual systems which are susceptible to human error.

“Our community expect a modern communication system and platform to now be used when engaging with council.”

Mr Dodson said ratepayers should see some of these changes come into effect quickly.

“While some of these actions will be implemented over a longer period, the community can expect to see an immediate change to the way in which it engages with council and council engages with it,” he said.

Peter Combe serves up Christmas cheer

IMOGEN EVANS

HAVE you ever washed your face with orange juice? Beloved Australian children’s entertainer and musician Peter Combe is making his way to Playford in time for the Christmas carols event next month.

Along with crowd favourites such as Mr Clicketty Cane, Spaghetti Bolognaise and his latest album ‘A Frog in My Cheese Sandwich’, Mr Combe will also bring the community’s favourite Christmas songs to the carols.

The announcement comes after a successful turnout to last year’s carols event, with more than 5000 people coming out to Playford to get into the Christmas spirit.

City of Playford Mayor Glenn Docherty said he is excited for the carols to be returning for another year.

“It’s fantastic to welcome such a beloved children’s entertainer like Peter Combe,” he said.

“I hope many will reminisce about his classics while a new generation dances and sings along.

“Every year, Playford residents look forward to this event, creating fun family memories connected to Christmas time, in the beautiful setting of Fremont Park.”

This year’s carols will feature a huge line-up of singers and entertainers set to perform everything from traditional carols to pop favourites.

Santa will also make a visit, along with food trucks, activities and market stalls.

Playford Community Carols will be held on Saturday, December 7 from 4:30pm at Fremont Park in Elizabeth.

Playford gives the gift of reading

THE City of Playford Library is calling on the community to reach its goal of 10,000 new books to be donated to the Give the Gift of Reading (GTGOR) drive.

GTGOR is back for its 13th consecutive year and aims to promote literacy and the joy of reading throughout the community while providing Playford’s young people with a memorable and magical start to the festive season.

Each year, AnglicareSA delivers Christmas gift hampers to hundreds of disadvantaged individuals and families across the region.

Mayor Glenn Docherty said the charity provides the community with an opportunity to make a difference.

“For over a decade, our community has embraced GTGOR, whether through generous book donations or by connecting with others at handover celebrations in Playford’s libraries,” he said.

“Since 2012, Give the Gift of Reading has collected nearly 10,000 books – a milestone we hope to reach this year. I encourage everyone to participate in this year’s drive.”

Community members who would like to donate a new book for a young person, teenager, or adult until December 15 can visit the following sites:

- Playford Civic Centre Library, 10 Playford Boulevard, Elizabeth
- Stretton Centre Library, 307 Peachey Road, Munno Para
- Playford’s Mobile Library Service

Public urged to stay clear of infected trees

A NUMBER of trees in Playford’s Fremont Park have been infected with a plant pathogen that can cause harm to nearby vegetation.

Phytophthora, an invasive fungus-like species that can infect a variety of plants, has been detected in local trees, with council now warning residents to stay clear.

The fungus, which is harmless to humans and animals, can be spread to nearby vegetation when walkers unknowingly spread infected soil.

City of Playford encouraged visitors to keep an eye out for signs and to avoid restricted areas in Fremont Park for the time being.

Gawler gives back

ON Monday October 18, the Gawler Branch of Cancer Council SA hosted a visit from Cancer Council SA chief executive Kerry Rowlands.

At this meeting, branch president Gwenda Green presented a cheque for $14,000 to Ms Rowlands, which includes the recent breast care awareness campaign facilitated by The Bunyip.

Ms Rowlands gave a presentation on where the fundraising goes and provided an overview of their three main aims - Prevention, Research and Support.

The Gawler branch has transferred more than $45,000 to head office this year and still has a few events before Christmas, including the Christmas Street Parade where the group will be selling hot-dogs.

The Gawler branch has been “overwhelmed by the generosity of the Gawler and surrounding communities” and is very thankful to all those who have supported them this year.

Hand-made poppies commemorate Remembrance Day

AIDAN CURTIS

TANUNDA community members got an early start on commemorating Remembrance Day through the Poppy Project's Twilight Poppy Planting on Friday, November 1.

Hundreds of hand-made poppies took their place at the Tanunda RSL as part of an annual tribute to honour those who served Australia.

Poppy Project organiser Kym Milne said it is a "very simple but elegant tribute" which helps bring the community together in highlighting Remembrance Day and what the poppy symbol means.

"I just wanted it to be primarily a celebration of community and to pay tribute to all the sacrifices made during war," Ms Milne said.

Ms Milne first organised to "plant" hand-crafted poppies in Nuriootpa for Remembrance Day 2022 and tries to get different communities involved each year.

She said Tanunda's response to the event on Friday night was very positive.

"It's hard to put into words when you see it all come together. Each one is very different," she said.

"Really honoured and huge thank you to the Tanunda RSL for coming together and being the host this year.

"The RSL went above and beyond. They [members] were just so embracing of this and they were wonderful."

Ms Milne added the Barossa Men's Shed had played a huge part in bringing the project together by making reusable wooden poppies which people could adorn with photos and messages.

"They went gangbusters, I think they did almost 200 poppies. The idea this year was you could make your very own commemorative poppy," she said.

Ms Milne said she hopes to host the Poppy Project in Gawler ahead of Remembrance Day 2025.

Remembering those who served this November

MEMBER for Spence Matt Burnell is encouraging community members to honour those who fought for Australia on Remembrance Day.

The day, held on November 11, commemorates the end of World War I and is an opportunity for people to reflect on the services of Australia's defence personnel.

Mr Burnell, a veteran himself, said it helped honour those who died and suffered in defence of Australia.

"This Remembrance Day, I encourage our community to join the nation in honouring and remembering those who have died and suffered in service," he said.

"All workplaces, schools and people going about their day-to-day lives should take this time, on the 11th hour this Remembrance Day, to pause and reflect.

"In doing so, we honour those who fought for our freedom and remember those who made the ultimate sacrifice in order to defend our Australian way of life."

He said the day was about more than reflecting on the first World War.

"We should also use this moment to reflect on the current service of our troops, as we face the most complex set of strategic challenges since the second World War," he said.

"Thank you to our veterans and the current serving men, women and their families who support their service.

"Lest we forget."

The Gawler RSL will host a Remembrance Day service at Pioneer Park on Monday, November 11.

Gawlerite fights back

IMOGEN EVANS

ALMOST 15 years ago, Gawler’s Mark Payne suffered a stroke that changed his life dramatically.

A few years later, Mr Payne also had to undergo surgery that left him with the news that he would never walk again.

Now, he is well-known at Gawler’s STARplex Centre for his almost daily workouts and intense boxing sessions.

Mr Payne has also spent his time after the incident working hard to get his body and mind sharp again, and has become an inspiration for the community.

Speaking with The Bunyip after his morning boxing session earlier this week, Mr Payne said he wants to share an important message to those who look to walk in his footsteps.

“Living with a disability doesn’t mean you have to give up, it doesn’t mean you don’t get to live your life,” he said.

When Mr Payne was told by doctors he would never be able to use his legs again, he instead defied all odds to begin the long journey of being able to walk again.

“Getting the news was devastating, it was life changing, but it was a start of a new journey for me,” he said.

“I had to learn how to walk again, I had to learn how to live in a world that is designed for able-bodied people.

“Everything from using your phone, having a shower, getting through doors with a mobility scooter or wheelchair, people take all of these things for granted.

“Sometimes you don’t plan for these things, life is a journey and it just happens, and you need to work through it and move on.”

Around 10 years ago, Mr Payne was approached by a staff member at STARplex who wanted him to try boxing.

Ever since then, he has fallen in love with the sport and said he has worked hard to continue his passion, even without use of his right arm.

“I’ve put in the work, I was told I’d live life like I used to, it took me two months of hard work just to move one of my toes again after my surgery,” he said.

“Now I’m working out in the gym and boxing almost every day.

“I find a lot of power in boxing, both physically and mentally.

“Even with exercising, it gets you out of the house, gets your body moving, but it also makes your mind sharp and you can release a lot of things in your head when you exercise.”

Mr Payne also has no plans on giving up, and hopes to continue his visits to the gym for years to come.

“When I get older I want to keep exercising too, just because you’re older doesn’t mean you can’t do the same things you were doing,” he said.

“It keeps your body and mind strong.”

Having now become quite the regular in Gawler, Mr Payne said he hopes he can not only inspire others, but to share his insights on finding happiness.

“Some advice that I live by and that I hope to share with the community, is a motto which has gotten me through a lot,” he said.

“When you’re at the grocery store and there’s something on the shelf you want to pick up but don’t think you can reach it, try first before you ask for help, you might surprise yourself, or you might have to ask for help, and that’s ok.

“I like biking when I’m in the gym, but I can’t get my feet strapped onto the pedals myself. I ask for help, and I don’t let that stop me from riding.

“I have had so many people in my life that have supported me and made me the person I am today.

“There’s too many to count, but my wife has stuck with me through it all, and she’s kept me strong.”

Mark Payne visits Gawler’s STARplex four times a week to exercise and work on his boxing skills.

History on show

THE Gawler Show’s history was on display in State Parliament after Member for Light Tony Piccolo highlighted its 170-year history.

Mr Piccolo raised the show’s long-standing contributions to the community during last week’s sitting and said it has faced its share of challenges in that time.

“The show itself did not start without controversy, with two community and volunteer committees vying to run the very first show,” he said.

“In 1851, a committee chaired by Mr Sparshott was formed to establish a society for produce farmers but was not proceeded with.

“A second attempt was made on October 2, 1854—which was successful and that is why this year we celebrate the 170th birthday of the Gawler Show Society—when Dr Otto Schomburgk chaired a special public meeting convened at the Globe Hotel, (Kingsford), where the Gawler Agricultural and Horticultural Society was formed.

“In October 1855, Dr Schomburgk was re-elected president at the show society’s first AGM. James Martin was elected as a committee member and the stage was set for the first Gawler Show.”

Mr Piccolo also spoke on the importance of volunteers keeping the show alive, with similar problems to what the show faces today rearing their heads in 1869.

With so much history behind it, Mr Piccolo publicly congratulated the Gawler Agricultural, Horticultural and Floricultural Show Society on its efforts in making the event a continued success and major drawcard for Gawler.

Overcoming barriers to home ownership

WITH more than two decades years of experience in finance, Shannon Roach at Bluegum Finance is dedicated to delivering exceptional service for the north.

Shannon spent more than 20 years working for local credit unions and bank branches, before moving into broking four years ago.

Based at Blakeview she started Bluegum Finance at the beginning of 2024 as a mobile broker to service the local area, including the northern suburbs, Gawler and the Barossa Valley.

A small family-owned business, Shannon and her part time assistant specialise in property purchases including first home buyers, refinances and access equity, construction loans, seniors, and investment loans.

year into her new business, Shannon has already seen her fair share of success stories, whether it is first home buyers or those purchasing investment properties.

One such example is a couple that was wanting to buy their own home instead of spending money on rent.

Struggling to save enough to cover the 20 per cent deposit required by their current bank, plus the stamp duty cost and additional fees, Shannon was able to help them purchase a home with only a five per cent deposit plus feeds under a Graduate Loan Program, as one of the applicants had a Certificate III or higher, even though they were no longer working in that industry.

New supports introduced for women escaping violence

THE STATE Government is introducing a number of innovations to provide new supports for South Australian women escaping violence.

Roundtables focused on easing the financial burden of domestic, family and sexual violence (DFSV) on South Australian women have led to action from the financial services and real estate sectors, including specialised training for staff to work with customers experiencing DFSV and making it simpler for survivors to open new and private bank accounts.

More than 70 participants from the financial services, real estate and DFSV sectors attended the roundtables held late last year to explore options to ensure women impacted by DFSV do not bear the brunt of unpaid mortgages, loans, and rent.

Minister for Women and the Prevention of Domestic, Family and Sexual Violence Katrina Hildyard said every individual and organisation can play a part in helping to prevent DFSV and to support survivors.

“We know that financial abuse and economic insecurity are often part of a woman’s experience of DFSV,” she said.

“I am so pleased that a number of finance and real estate institutions are strengthening their awareness of this and playing a strong role in tackling this awful scourge.

“I am really grateful for the way in which the industry engaged in the roundtables and for the actions and strengthened collective understanding of the issues faced by women that have resulted from them.”

Summary papers detailing the key themes discussed at the roundtables can be found online at <https://officeforwomen.sa.gov.au/womens-policy/womens-safety>

If you or someone you know is experiencing DV, help is available from 1800RESPECT, a 24-hour national sexual assault, family and domestic violence counselling line for any Australian who has experienced, or is at risk of, family and domestic violence and/or sexual assault at 1800 737 732.

Paton new Plains Deputy Mayor

JEM NASH

COUNCILLOR David Paton has been elected as the new Deputy Mayor of Adelaide Plains Council, following the ordinary meeting on October 28.

The decision was originally scheduled to be made at the meeting on September 23, where current Deputy Mayor Marcus Strudwicke suggested there was no need for a deputy.

However, with four councillors absent from that meeting, the matter was adjourned until the next ordinary meeting.

Councillor Margherita Panella nominated Mr Paton for the role, which was seconded by councillor Terry-Anne Keen.

With no other nominations, he was elected to the role for 12 months. He will officially take over on November 29.

SUMMER PERILS FOR DOGS AND CATS

Summer brings a range of environmental hazards for pets. Pet owners need to anticipate the common summer perils and adopt preventive measures to keep dogs and cats safe during warmer months.

Heatstroke and Heat Exhaustion: this can be rapidly fatal for dogs with compromised respiratory function and older animals. It does not need to be extremely hot for the danger to be real. Be aware that dogs cannot cool their bodies by sweating and rely on panting to cool down.

- Risk: High temperatures, high humidity, lack of ventilation, or intense exercise can lead to overheating.
- Signs: Panting, drooling, bright red gums, lethargy, vomiting, collapse, seizures. Sudden death can occur with very little warning of a problem
- Prevention: Avoid walking pets during peak heat hours (typically midday to early afternoon). Always provide shade and fresh water. Never leave pets in parked cars, even with windows open. Use cooling vests or wet towels for pets prone to overheating.
- Treatment: Move to a cool area, offer water, apply cool (not ice-cold) wet towels to the body, and seek veterinary care immediately.
- Dehydration: Older animals are more at risk for dehydration. They will dehydrate rapidly as they exercise in warm or hot conditions.
- Risk: High temperatures increase the risk of dehydration.
- Signs: Lethargy, sunken eyes, dry gums, loss of skin elasticity.
- Prevention: Provide access to fresh water at all times, carry water during walks or outdoor activities, and consider a pet water fountain to encourage hydration indoors.

Bush Fire Danger: most people are aware of the need to have a plan to keep safe in the event of a bush fire in the summer months, particularly those who live in fire prone areas. What is often overlooked is the safety of our precious pets in the event of a fire.

- Risk: the fire season is well publicised every year to remind people of the need to get prepared. Have a plan to keep safe in the event of a fire. Keep your pets in mind when you develop your plan. Where will we keep them until the danger is over? Can we provide food and water for them? Do they need medication to keep them calm? Do they have any medical condition that needs daily or regular administration of essential medications?
- Prevention: prepare for the worst in plenty of time and act early when the danger is real. Your precious pets rely on your actions to keep them safe. They are helpless without your help.

Charitable group stitched up with big task

AIDAN CURTIS

A CHARITABLE Gawler group is spreading warmth through its love of knitting and crochet, with members meeting weekly to connect and build a sense of community.

Knit4Charities South Australia – Gawler Branch’s members meet at Café Nova every Friday to catch up and have a yarn while doing what they love in knitting and crochet.

The members touch a lot of lives in the community, with their creations – which include beanies, toys and blankets – given to sick children in hospital, palliative care and chemo patients, and to people in need during winter.

Judi Hirst started the group and said the connections between people were what she loved to see.

“For me, it’s the connections with the people here in Gawler and the wider community by being able to share what we like to do as a passion in our knitting and our crochet,” Ms Hirst said.

“Maybe someone else will feel loved and cared for, particularly when they’re perhaps down in hospital and that sort of thing.

“Just watching the ladies, the connections some of them have made. Some of them have quite sad stories behind them, it has been amazing really.”

The group is now jointly run by Diane Borgo and Lesley Winning, and Ms Borgo said there is no better feeling than seeing the impact the group’s work has on the community.

“It gives me a warm fuzzy feeling inside that I can give something to someone less fortunate than myself,” she said.

“I recently had reason to go to the emergency department with my husband, and when I walked in I could see all these little toys I’d been making lined up in the window ready to give out to kids.

“That really made me feel that was worth the effort and I’ve done something good for the community.”

To add to their work, the knitters also recently agreed to create a stack of red and white beanies and toys to go all around South Australia as part of the 2025 Variety Bash.

Gawler’s Larry Cavallaro, a 33-year Variety Bash veteran, approached the group and asked the members if they could knit more than 100 beanies and toys to his Bash crew’s theme of “Where’s Wally”.

In previous years, Mr Cavallaro’s mum, Maria Cavallaro, knitted the Where’s Wally items for the Bash, with his team giving them out to schools and children

Knit4Charities South Australia – Gawler Branch have been hard at work to supply Where’s Wally-themed beanies and bears for the 2025 Variety Bash.

Now that she is well into her 90s and needing to slow down on the knitting, Mr Cavallaro said he was ecstatic the group agreed to lend a hand with keeping the tradition alive.

“We’ve been running the theme of ‘Where’s Wally?’ since 2009, and it’s the most recognisable theme across the Bash,” he said.

“Kids, wherever we go, as soon as they see the Where’s Wally truck, they relate to it straight away.

“The parents at the schools take it on. I’m surprised at how many times we go back to the same areas and they’ve still worked on the Where’s Wally theme and have little fundraisers. From my point of view, that is a joy.”

The knitters are well ahead of schedule, with around 160 beanies knitted already and more than 30 Where’s Wally bears.

“For me, that’s 160 kids that are going to have a laugh, that are going to have a bit of joy and a lifetime of memory,” Mr Cavallaro said.

“I’ve been to places, country towns, where a teenage kid has come up to me with a Wally hat and asked if I remember when I gave it to them.

“Talk about a big buzz.”

Knit4Charities South Australia – Gawler Branch meets every Friday at Café Nova and its members encourage people to stop by for a coffee and a chat.

The group also accepts donations of yarn or toy stuffing.

Car club out and about

TREVOR BELLCHAMBERS

OUR first club event in October was a breakfast run to the Virginia Nursery where around 40 members enjoyed a delicious breakfast then most checked the great variety of plants and things on offer.

Plenty of members ended up working in their gardens that afternoon.

Each year in the week before and after the Bay to Birdwood we have Motorfest when clubs are able to host a day run.

Our Motorfest run started in Adelaide, visited Chateau Barrosa for morning tea, fresh scones, jam and cream then inspected the priceless collection of antiques and glass displayed there.

We drove through picturesque vineyards and grazing country to Kapunda where after lunch we explored the military and mining museums.

It boasted a most comprehensive range of historic collections and is a credit to Kapunda. Many interstate visitors and members of a wide range of SA clubs came out for this run.

At our last club meeting members were invited to attend an hour earlier for a short musical concert presented by talented members and to make a donation for a local church-run 'Protection of Women' program.

More than $250 was collected.

Our final run for the month was a truck-led run on Sunday October 29, with the first stop the mitigation dam west of Gawler next to the expressway.

This dam was built to help prevent flooding in the Two Wells and Virginia area when the Gawler River floods by diverting water into this large storage dam.

Wastewater from many other areas is directed into this dam. Our convoy then followed various roads through the Barossa and finished with a picnic lunch at a shady spot at Seppeltsfield.

Our club continues to grow, with 899 members and 42 junior members.

Everyone loves a Holden

ROB LAIDLAW

DON Loffler has written extensively on the Holden car, based on his passion for a vehicle that had its main production line here in South Australia, just a 15-minute drive south of Gawler, at Elizabeth.

On Thursday Don will be the guest speaker for Gawler History Team, where he will enthusiastically speak about a car many in attendance would have owned at least one of in their lives.

In 1996 Don retired after teaching German and Latin at St Peter’s College for 29 years and began writing about his lifetime hobby – the first 10 Holden car models.

His first book came out in 1998, ‘She’s a Beauty! – The story of the first Holdens’, which has been enlarged, reprinted and further added on to.

‘Still Holden together – Stories of the first Holden model’ was released in 2000, followed two years later by ‘The FJ Holden – A favourite Australian car’.

A more personal account then came out in 2008, ‘Me and My Holden – A nostalgia trip with the early Holdens’, followed by ‘Holden Days’ (2012), ‘Holden Snapshots’ (2015), ‘Holden Treasures’

(2018) and ‘Cars We Used to Drive’ (2021).

Let’s face it, Don loves his Holden cars!

Unfortunately, only two of his books are still available, but on the night Don will have a display of all of his books.

And there is no stopping Don, with three more books currently being worked on – every morning, he cannot wait to get to his computer to continue writing.

Don said “If that’s retirement, I can’t get enough of it.”

To hear Don Loffler’s informative talk, come to the next Gawler History Team meeting, on Thursday, November 7, from 7.30pm at Zion Church Hall at Church Hill.

Training aims to boost cyber smarts in schools

SOUTH Australian educators are upskilling to prevent potential cyber security breaches as part of a State Government partnership with Fortinet.

Department for Education staff and teachers are accessing free training modules which highlight the importance of identifying cyber threats early.

The modules include the use of real-world scenarios such as phishing attempts and fraudulent emails, with education surrounding the importance of multi-factor authentication.

According to Minister for Education, Training and Skills Blair Boyer, more than 600 educators have accessed the training in its first two months, with the training potentially to be offered to students in 2025.

“We know that cyber criminals are constantly looking for opportunities and a lack of awareness can make people more likely to fall victim to this kind of crime,” Mr Boyer said.

“With these threats on the increase, everyone needs to help reduce the risk of them succeeding.

“The department’s partnership with Fortinet represents a first in Australia, where we are leading the way, by offering cyber security awareness training to educators.

“It will ensure there is a better understanding of cyber security and enable them to be part of creating a more secure digital learning environment for staff and students.”

On Wednesday, 30th October, the team at Ray White Gawler East hosted a wonderful morning tea event in recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. We were thrilled to see such an incredible turnout, and with the perfect weather gracing us, it truly was a memorable day for all involved.

The team at Ray White Gawler East alongside members of the local community, came together in a spirit of unity and compassion. We are immensely proud to share that thanks to the generosity and support shown on the day, we raised an impressive $1,732.00 for the National Breast Cancer Foundation. This cause holds special meaning for us, and we are deeply grateful for each and every contribution that helped make this possible.

A special thank you goes out to Josie and the team at Imprint Flowers for their generous donation to our raffle. We were delighted to congratulate Rebecca from Millard Conveyancing, who was the lucky winner. Congratulations once again Bec!

Thank you to everyone who attended, donated, and showed their support. We couldn't have done it without you, and your kindness and involvement are a testament to the power of our community. We look forward to future events where we can continue to make a positive impact together

Hamley Bridge is family oriented club, competing in the Adelaide Plains competition. We experienced a great deal of success in 2024, winning the 11 and Under and A4 premierships, as well as the A1 and A6 teams competing in the Grand Final.

We are looking for enthusiastic coaches to help us build on the successes of the last few years, which has seen several premierships and a large representation in finals, country champs and Association accolades.

South Gawler's Steve Burton celebrates his second consecutive Schluter Medal in 2023.

Burton heads back to Barmera

LACHLAN DAND

TWO-time Schluter Medal winner and dual premiership star for South Gawler Steve Burton will return to the Riverland Football League in 2025 to play for his junior club Barmera-Monash.

The biggest signing of the RFL off-season thus far was announced over the weekend, with Burton set to don the Roos' jumper yet again, having previously left his boyhood club after the 2017 season for Central District in the SANFL.

However, Burton did not stop at the Ponderosa, also spending time with the Adelaide Crows' SANFL side last season, playing games against Sturt, West Adelaide, and South Adelaide.

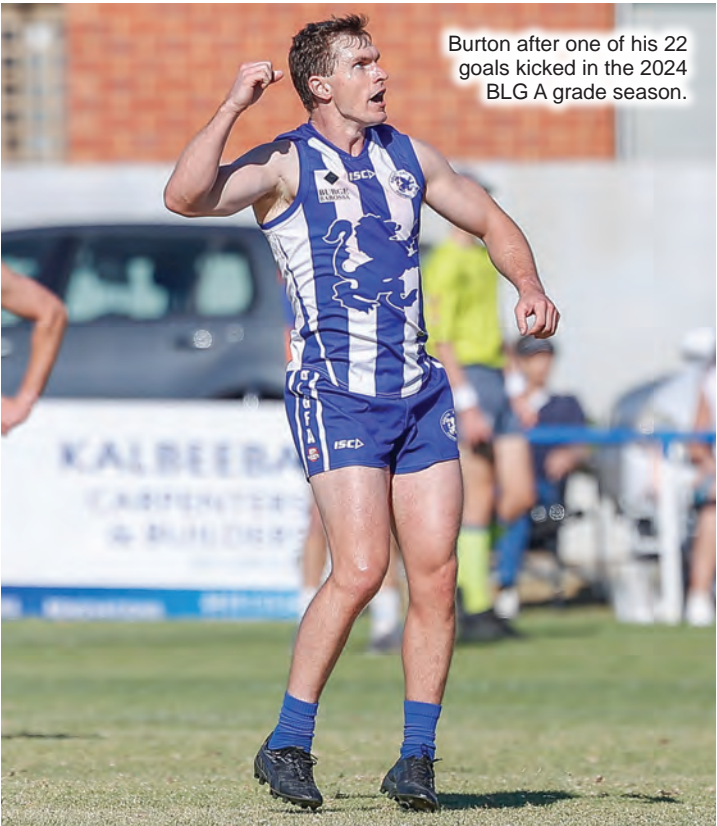

The 26-year-old's time in the Barossa, Light and Gawler Football Association was highlighted by his two premierships with the Lions (2021 and 2023), following up that first flag with back-to-back Schluter Medal campaigns in 2022 and 2023.

Burton's 2025 football season has already begun, having made the trek up to the Northern Territory Football League to play for Banks, with the NTFL season running through to February.

Burton will add another dimension to the Roos' midfield alongside stars of the league Sam Butterworth, Jake Smith, and Ben Drogemuller as Barmera-Monash picks up the pieces following its grand final loss to Renmark.

Burton secured his second premiership with the Lions in 2023.

Burton after one of his 22 goals kicked in the 2024 BLG A grade season.

Rangers suffer ‘Giant’ loss

ROBERT LAIDLAW

GAWLER Rangers went down 21-0 to Sturt in Division 1 baseball at West Beach Parks on Saturday, with two stars of the ABL dictating terms.

The two Adelaide Giants who played a major part in the game were starting pitcher Ky Hampton, who threw five innings for two hits and eight strikeouts, and Jordan McArdle, who smashed out two homeruns from four hits, with five RBIs.

With Hampton dealing from the mound, the Rangers struggled to get anything going with the bat, while Sturt scored in all but one of the seven innings.

Trailing 1-0 at the bottom of the first frame, Gawler looked to fight back after hits to Dylan Child and Boyd Worden, but both runners were left stranded.

For the remainder of the game, which only went seven innings because of the blowout in scores, the Rangers only managed one more hit, to Zac Heintze-Unger in the sixth.

Taking advantage of two errors, Sturt scored five runs in the second frame, with McArdle’s first homerun the difference maker.

A huge eight-run fourth inning by Sturt finished the game as a contest, with Gawler not helping its cause, walking seven batters.

The final two runs of the game came at the top of the seventh, when McArdle hit a two-run dinger.

While the Rangers were non-competitive in Division 1 this week, the other senior grades had great contests, with Division 3 and Division 4 getting up against Sturt and the Division 2 team losing by one run.

This Saturday the Rangers play Glenelg at Karbeethan Reserve from 4pm and will need to get back on track immediately, or fall behind the pack in the fight for a top-six berth.

Veteran’s cricket controversy sparks ‘Spirit of the game’ discussion

JUST for something different, the dilemma of transgender participants in women’s sports events has surfaced yet again.

This time, it was at the Veterans Cricket Association Women’s Over 40 National Cricket Championships, recently held in Adelaide from October 26-31.

Having previously expressed my personal views concerning the matter, this was my first experience of the issue first-hand as a member of the umpire’s panel officiating at the championships.

The competition was a series of 35-over one-day matches and T20 games, culminating with a final to decide the overall winner.

Regulations required that a batter retired on reaching 50 in the 35-over matches and 35 in the T20s.

In the Championship Division 1 competition, the batting was dominated by the NSW batter Erica James, who, in six innings, scored 159 runs from 115 balls (strike rate of 138.26) at an average of 53, required to retire on three occasions.

These remarkable statistics included a duck in Erica’s first innings.

However, it was Erica’s scoring statistics that were of major concern and debate. Of the 159 runs, there were 25 fours and 2 sixes; 112 runs from boundary hits (70.4 per cent of her total runs).

The power displayed by this player was remarkable compared to all others in the competition.

Erica James is a transgender athlete, demonstrating strength and power that was unique in this particular Australian Championships.

Erica’s participation in this competition, and others, has been reviewed and discussed at the highest level in Veterans Cricket Australia.

As stated by Christopher ‘Dixie’ Daw, president of the South

Australian Veterans Cricket Association: “It is certainly a vexing matter, and I want to assure you that it has been discussed in full by both SAVCA and the VCA well prior to the tournament.

“Our committee debated it and it was raised at the board level at the VCA months ago. The fact of the matter is that Erica James has been approved by the NSW cricketing associations and has been playing women’s cricket for years in NSW.

“The VCA and NSW women’s chair are very aware of it and claim that there has been no concern expressed over the years in NSW. Therefore, it was agreed that she play in the championships.”

Here in, I believe, lies the problem. Is the tail wagging the dog or vice-versa? Who is deciding concerning this particular, and similar, matters?

Is this a case of the governing Veterans Cricket Australia administration acting as a toothless tiger, and deciding that Erica was eligible to play in these Australian Championships because she “has been approved by the NSW cricketing associations and has been playing women’s cricket for years in NSW.”

What, because the VCA is dealing with a large and powerful state organisation, they will go with the flow and not upset and ruffle the feathers of NSW? That’s hardly the ethical and moral approach required about this issue.

Cricket is a wonderful and unique sport in every way. No other sport talks of the “spirit” of the game.

The preamble as written leading into the Laws of Cricket is headed “The Spirit of Cricket”.

As stated, “the major responsibility for ensuring fair play rests with the captains, but extends to all players and match officials/administrators...”.

No other sport has coined a similar phrase into our language as “it’s just not cricket”, meaning “c’mon sport, this just isn’t fair”.

No one says “It’s just not tennis” – or football, or hockey – what a compliment to the sport of cricket and how it is played – or how it was played.

Any sporting contest is only fair if all contestants are of similar basic standards. With transgender athletes competing in female events, this is not so.

In this particular example Erica’s superior strength, enabling her to dominate scoring, is a case of an uneven playing field and as such contradicts the ‘Spirit of Cricket’ and is succinctly summed up by saying; “that’s just not cricket”.

Sandy Creek and Tanunda big winners from A1 double-header

LIAM PHILLIPS

SPORTS JOURNALIST

IT was a busy weekend in the Barossa and Light Cricket Association as the top three senior grades played a pair of one-day fixtures on Saturday and Sunday, and it was a pair of dominant victories from Sandy Creek that highlighted the A1 action.

Kicking things off on Saturday with an away trip to Kapunda, Sandy Creek both allowed the highest team total of the weekend and completed the largest chase, securing an eight-wicket triumph.

Strong performances with the bat from Joey Brown (82 runs from 92 balls), Elijah Murch (44 not-out from 29 deliveries), Jack Ryan (28 from 20) and Tom Harslett (20 from 22) had Kapunda reach the end of the 40 overs in a commanding position of 7/213.

But that total proved light work for the Cockatoos, who lost only two wickets on the way as openers Zac Kreutner (80 not-out from 103 balls) and Will O'Brien (25 from 35) set things up for captain and number three Rhys Handkete (76 from 60) to power through the finish line with four overs to spare.

Cockatoos take battle of the birds

With less than 24 hours to recover from their decisive Saturday win, the Cockatoos' bowlers rose to the occasion in Sunday's away fixture at Mallala, dismissing the Magpies for a dismal score of 92 from 33 overs.

Mallala number three Cameron Curnow (36 from 61 balls) did his best to keep the 'Pies afloat, but a string of three quick ducks from batters five-through-seven torpedoed the home side's innings.

Two of those ducks came from the bowling of Riley Greenlees (3/23 from eight overs), and after a handy contribution with the bat in the first game of the weekend, Cockatoo captain Handkete showed off his all-rounder ability by taking 3/14 from 7.2 overs.

Ryan Johnson (2/16 from five overs) and Ryan Stork (2/23 from six overs) also collected multiple wickets in the one-sided showing.

Chasing less than 100, Sandy Creek got the job done in the 16th over thanks to Kreutner (24 not-out from 43 balls), O'Brien (35 from 36) and Greenlees (23 not-out from 11).

The back-to-back wins improved the Cockatoos' record to 3-1. The only other team with three wins already is Kapunda, who bounced back from the Saturday loss against Sandy Creek to defeat Angaston by 26 runs on Sunday and retain a share of top spot.

Kapunda smothers Angaston batters

Batting first away from home at Angaston, Kapunda got off to a horror start, quickly losing both openers to fall to 2/2 after the first few overs.

Fortunately Tom Harslett (44 from 74 balls) at number three steadied the ship before getting himself run out, and the visitors were dragged into triple-figures by the late-innings partnership of Riley Menzel (35 from 45) and Elijah Murch (20 not-out from 42), turning 6/64 into 7/118.

Ultimately Kapunda put up a competitive total of 8/126 for Angaston to chase, and the home team never looked likely.

Just like Kapunda, both Angaston openers fell quickly at 2/8, and the only middle-order resistance came from Scott Rathjen (21 from 26 balls), William Cameron (16 from 14) and Page 38 "THE BUNYIP" GAWLER, Wednesday, November 6, 2024

William Moulds (16 from 45).

No other Angaston batters passed seven runs, while all six Kapunda bowlers secured at least one wicket each, including multiple from Harslett (2/4 from 3.3 overs), Joey Brown (2/13 from six overs), Dylan Bishop 2/18 from six overs) and Max McCarthy (2/24 from four overs).

The loss capped a disappointing weekend for Angaston, who also struggled to put up runs in a Saturday defeat against Mallala.

Curnow crushes Ango

Angaston was set an achievable total of 138 to track down on the road at Mallala, but Magpie bowler Cameron Curnow made life miserable for the away side.

Curnow finished with the best figures in the division for the weekend, taking 5/22 from 6.3 overs, almost single-handedly delivering a Mallala victory after Angaston built a terrific platform of 0/47 to launch from.

Jake Birchmore (2/18 from seven overs) and Troy Scott (2/19 from seven overs) combined to remove the top-four Angaston batters, before Curnow tagged in and cleaned up five of the last six wickets.

Dylan Schmidt (25 from 33 balls) and Tyrell Burgess (23 from 46) were the only Ango players to reach 20 runs, while for Mallala it was opener Jake Birchmore (58 from 92) who was the hero, contributing nearly half of his side's total.

By splitting their two fixtures, Mallala now owns a 2-2 record through four rounds, while Angaston slipped to 1-3 following a pair of losses.

Centrals break their duck

The only other A1 team yet to record two wins is Gawler Central, although they secured their first in Saturday's seven-wicket result over local rivals South Gawler.

Playing at Gawler Central, it was the Lions who decided to bat first after winning the toss, and after six of their top-seven batters combined for just 40 runs it was the partnership of tail-ender David Golder (44 from 49 balls) and captain Brodie Barker (38 from 61) that salvaged a respectable score.

Gawler Central would have been eyeing a quick chase when they had South sitting at 6/56, but the 65-run partnership from Golder and Barker carried the away team to 9/161 from the full 40 overs, despite the bowling efforts of Mitchell Gammie (3/34 from eight overs) and Cameron Vardy (2/30 from eight overs).

Opening the batting for the home side was Ty Stock, who was coming off a performance of 60 runs from 33 balls in Central's Round 2 loss, and he went even bigger this time around with 83 from 62 deliveries.

With Stock delivering more than half of the required runs, number three Richard Decrea (45 not-out from 62 balls) helped finish off the job in the 33rd over.

South slip to 2-2

Having come into the weekend boasting a flawless 2-0 mark, South Gawler came crashing back down to earth with two losses in two days after falling 13 runs short against Tanunda on Sunday.

To Tanunda's credit, the Magpies put up what was easily Sunday's biggest score in the division with a 40-over total of 5/198 thanks to the work of Trent Goers (80 from 90 balls), Jonathan Justin (51 from 90) and Luke Snowden (38 from 33).

Raymond Smith (3/33 from eight overs) was the only Lion bowler to take multiple wickets.

Gawler Central's David Miller charging in with pace against South Gawler.

There were plenty of contributors in the chase as Brodie Barker (43 from 47 deliveries) and Danny Kaye (34 not-out from 23) headlined the six South players to score at least 14 runs, but ultimately it was the excellent bowling from Trent Goers (2/10 from eight overs) that proved the difference.

Goers (1.25 economy rate) was the only Tanunda bowler to finish with an economy rate below four runs per over. If his eight overs went at the same rate as his closest teammate (4.16 for Ewan McRae), South would have scored an extra 23 runs.

Magpies march to 2-2

While South came into the weekend at 2-0 and lost both, Tanunda did the exact opposite, salvaging an 0-2 start with a pair of impressive victories.

The first came on Saturday at home against Greenock, where the opening partnership of Jonathan Justin (80 not-out from 110 balls) and Coby Cornish (74 from 86) helped the Magpies set a target of 5/186 for Greenock to chase.

Dylan Birchard (3/28 from 7.2 overs) was the pick of the Greenock bowlers, but the Schlengers offered very little with the bat as Mark Bannon (34 from 58 balls) and Kyle Noack (20 from 41) top-scored for a team that was bowled out for 109.

Oscar Dahlitz (3/4 from three overs), Henry Gogoll (2/6 from six overs) and Kyle Graetz (2/25 from eight overs) spearheaded the Tanunda bowling attack in a return to form for the 'Pies.

Schlengers earn a split

Following their disappointing Saturday showing, Greenock ended the weekend on a high against Gawler Central, comfortably completing the chase of 92 in the 20th over.

Gawler Central's decision to bat first on their home deck came back to bite them, with Schlengers Benjamin Roennfeldt (4/14 from five overs), Ben Thiel (3/32 from eight overs) and Willem Schluter-Prouse (3/32 from 7.2 overs) combining to take all 10 wickets in 25 overs.

Ben Thiel came in at number three for Greenock after an early duck and made sure there would be no stress in the chase, scoring 65 not-out from 68 balls.

Reoffender produces memorable victory

GRAHAM FISCHER

STAR young trotter Reoffender gave his rivals a massive start and still proved too good in the Imperial Count USA @ Bellmoure Park 2024 Parker Classic (1800m) at Globe Derby Park.

A stunned owner-breeder Geoff Easom said “that was Minor Derby stuff” in reference to the champion pacer who often gave his rivals starts of up to 100 metres around the tiny Wayville track, but was good enough to grab victories.

Co-trainer Jill Neilson, who trains in partnership with Katie Wilson, believes Reoffender could be the best trotter she has trained while Wilson is an awe of the gelding’s potential.

The Parker Classic is a standing start for two-year-olds and only over 1800 metres, a distance considered a sprint for trotters.

A winner of two of his three starts, and beaten a short half-head in his loss, Reoffender was a red-hot $1.45 favourite for the feature, and began slowly, but safely, for reinsman Wayne Hill from gate two.

However, heading into the first turn, Reoffender galloped, and it took Hill a short distance to get the gelding back into a trot – by which time the leader, Sunny Majesty ($7), had gained a massive advantage.

“I had given up hope of a win,” Easom said, while Neilson said she thought Hill would look after the trotter – but they had not allowed for the trotter’s talent, and the driver’s determination.

Reoffender took a lap to catch up to the body of the field, but going into the back straight Sunny Majesty and Feel The Moment ($4.40), with a 30-second second quarter, had established a good break.

Sunny Majesty beat off Feel The Moment turning for home and driver David Smith was probably thinking he had the win, but Hill steered Reoffender into the sprint lane and quickly gathered in the leader to win by one-and-a-half metres.

The win was the culmination of an incredible day for Neilson.

She started things off by celebrating the 90th birthday of her mother Elma West, who herself had harness highlights with Cassius Court and Deep Court, champions of the 1960s.

In the afternoon, a fire near her Penfield stables and close to the Edinburgh Air Force Base threatened to wreak havoc, but 38 trucks, supported by water bombers, eased the tension allowing Neilson and later Wilson to take their horses to Globe Derby Park.

Heston Blue Streak ($12) started the night off on a winning note, leading throughout for driver Danielle Hill, before Reoffender won to give the training partnership of Neilson and Wilson a double.

Neilson said Reoffender would now be readied for the Southern Cross series later in the month.

Dani Hill later brought up a double, winning on Delightful Major for trainer David Harding in the Globe Derby Life Members Pace (1800m) while Wayne Hill also landed a double, winning on La Moth for trainer Aaron Bain in the Kevin And Kay Seymour Pace (1800m).

For Wayne Hill, it was an early wedding present as he will marry fellow trainer-driver Samantha Pascoe on Sunday.

Some long-price bets were landed when Night Spirit finished best in the Ladbrokes Bert Ticker Pace (2230m).

Trained by Reece Moore and driven by Gaita Pullicino, Night Spirit firmed late from $41 into $14.

The seven-year-old pushed through to lead from gate one, but Whata Optimist ($9) was urged forward by Bernadette Page from gate three, and after a short tussle, assumed control.

On the home turn, Pullicino eased Night Spirit off the inside and the gelding sprinted strongly to catch Whata Optimist and win by nearly five metres.

Moore missed the win as he had gone back to his Penfield stables to pick up other runners for later in the night and returned to learn of the result five minutes after the race.

The trainer said he had relocated from Merbein in Victoria and now had nine horses in work at the stables originally used by the champion trainer Lance Justice.

“I am also working six days a week for trainer Ryan Hryhorec, so I have busy days,” Moore said.

“If you want to have success you have to put in the hours. I am looking to build a successful stable here in South Australia.”

Millys Magic concludes historic career

GRAHAM FISCHER

SOUTH Australia’s highest earning trotting mare Millys Magic has been retired.

She barely missed the opportunity to go out a winner with her last run on October 26 at Globe Derby Park, resulting in a second.

Millys Magic was a wonderful trotter figuring in the placings for 50 per cent of her starts.

The seven-year-old mare, trained for most of her career by Claire Goble at Wasleys, retired with 20 wins, 27 seconds and 17 thirds for a career earnings figure of $143,694 – the most by a female square-gaiter in South Australia.

She won three features: the 2021 Fred Jones Trotters Cup, 2023 Port Pirie Trotting Cup and the 2023 Pride Of Petite.

Millys Magic also chalked up an amazing eight seconds in major races – the 2021 Kapunda Trotters Cup, 2021 Victor Harbor Trotters Cup, 2021 Pride Of Petite, 2022 Hambletonian, 2022 Port Pirie Trotters Cup, 2022 SA Trotters Cup, 2023 Fred Jones Trotters Cup and 2023 Hambletonian.

Bred in Victoria, Millys Magic was purchased by John and Mary Mittiga early in her career and she went on to win 19 races after coming to Goble.

“Unfortunately, John passed away several years ago, but Mary followed her career closely,” Goble said.

“Mary is not interested in the breeding side, so Millys Magic is now with me and was actually mated several days after racing, going to Alabar stallion Tactical Approach.

“Tactical Approach was the United States Trotter Of The Year, achieving the feat as a three-year-old.”

Nuri's Norton knocks 102 not-out

LIAM PHILLIPS

SPORTS JOURNALIST

JUST like the A1s, the Barossa and Light Cricket Association's A2 and A3 senior divisions also played double-headers on Saturday and Sunday, and it was Nuriootpa's Mitch Norton who made the most of it with an unbeaten century to close the weekend.

Nuri kicked things off on Saturday away from home at Sandy Creek, going down by 45 runs after failing to chase down the Cockatoos' strong 40-over total of 190.

Corey Roberts (49 runs from 79 balls) led the five Cockatoos to score at least 20 runs each, while Garry Swyguizen (5/37 from eight overs) had plenty of success for Nuriootpa with the ball.

Wickets fell early and often during the chase, with Corey Smith (43 not-out from 79 deliveries) and Tom Giles (23 from 22) providing the only real resistance before being bowled out in the 35th over.

But Nuriootpa brushed off that result and came back on Sunday ready to turn the page, this time batting first at home against Gilbert Valley and posting an impressive score of 5/240.

Norton – who did not play in Saturday's loss – was the catalyst, coming in at number four with his side flailing at 2/8 and he survived all the way until the end, piling up 102 not-out from 107 balls.

He hit 13 boundaries (two sixes) while the rest of his team combined for 14, with handy contributions from Kyle Butler (58 from 57 balls) and Aaron Wilson (37 not-out from 23).

Nuri's bowlers never gave the Bulls a chance to get into their chase as Jehi Fuller (4/17 from four overs) and Kyle Butler (3/23 from six overs) helped remove Gilbert Valley all out for 88.

While Norton enjoyed the best individual performance from the busy weekend, the standout team was fellow A2 outfit Eudunda Robertstown, who claimed top spot on the ladder after a pair of decisive victories.

First up was a nine-wicket triumph over Gilbert Valley, holding the Bulls to just 86 runs while batting first, which they chased down in less than 20 overs.

www.bunyippress.com.au

Angus Handke (3/19 from six overs), Thomas Mosey (3/26 from eight overs), Ethan Pfitzner (2/16 from eight overs) and Jack Mosey (2/21 from five overs) were the only four Eudunda Robertstown bowlers required, taking all 10 wickets in 27 overs.

Jack Mosey (43 not-out from 66 balls) and Aaron Nietschke (39 not-out from 40 deliveries) then got the job done with the bat to earn an early finish and some extra rest ahead of Sunday.

With relatively fresh legs, Eudunda Robertstown made it look similarly easy at home against Sandy Creek.

Bowling first again, Eudunda Robertstown held the Cockatoos to 125 from 37 overs as Corey Roberts (47 from 71 balls) was the only batter to trouble the bowling attack led by Thomas Mosey (4/20 from eight overs) and Ethan Pfitzner (3/21 from six overs).

The chase was almost a carbon copy from 24 hours prior, with opener Jack Mosey (46 from 76 balls) and number three Aaron Nietschke (34 not-out from 55 deliveries) doing the heavy lifting as Eudunda Robertstown cruised past the total with 10 overs to spare.

Also deserving mentions in the A2s were Lyndoch's Benjamin Pain and Light Pass' Sean Schrapel, who both delivered two handy innings.

Pain top-scored for Lyndoch with 58 runs from 71 balls in Saturday's 102-run away win at Freeling, and followed it up with another team-high 52 from 78 deliveries on Sunday in a game where his next-closest teammate finished on 10.

Meanwhile, Schrapel gave his average a serious boost with a 69 not-out from 103 balls as Light Pass chased down Willaston's 9/150 for a seven-wicket win on Saturday.

He then proved impossible to get out yet again on Sunday against Pain's Lyndoch, finishing on 47 not-out from 62 deliveries to earn the top-scorer title in both Light Pass wins.

Down in the A3s, the top story is the rampaging bowling attack of South Gawler, who bowled out Willaston on Saturday and Sandy Creek on Sunday for a combined total of just 90 runs.

The Lions' bats were also on top of their game, putting up 8/224 for Willaston to chase thanks to contributions from Ethan Wood (47 not-out from 38 balls), Matthew Knight (33 from 41) and Vaughn Kroon (30 from 19).

Jake Sims (3/8 from 5.4 overs), Luke Puddy (3/8 from six overs) and Knight (3/8 from 5.4 overs) dominated with the ball for South, bowling out Willaston for 31 and securing a 187-run win.

Sunday's trip to Sandy Creek played out almost identically, with South winning the toss and batting first.

Kroon (84 from 55 balls) comfortably led the way for the Lions, with Wood (26 from 52) also adding to his valuable Saturday showing, helping the away side reach 217.

Much like Willaston, Sandy Creek could not even reach the 60-run mark as Ethan Herzick (5/7 from six overs), Knight (2/9 from eight overs) and Trent Payne (2/37 from eight overs) finished off the Cockatoos for 59.

That is now three consecutive matches that the South Gawler A3s have bowled out their opposition for fewer than 60 runs, with Knight (4/12 from 4.2 overs) and Herzick (3/16 from five overs) also starring in Round 2.

The division's top batter from the weekend was Gawler Central opener Cameron Tagg, who banked consecutive not-outs in a pair of wins.

Chasing just 87 on Saturday against Light Pass, Tagg patiently made his way to 42 not-out from 102 balls in a seven-wicket victory.

The target of 7/169 on Sunday against Kapunda was more substantial, but it just gave Tagg more time to build his innings, this time finishing 81 not-out from 112 balls while his opening partner Nathan Foord chipped in 61 from 88 deliveries.

White and Longman show the way

GILBERT Valley/Kapunda batter Benjamin White earned the top individual innings from Friday night's under 16s action, where four two-day games got underway.

White, batting third away from home at Willaston, accumulated 87 runs from 85 deliveries, hitting 12 fours to put his side in a commanding position.

Ryan Philp (25 runs from 47 balls) and Billy Nicholls (20 from 23) also did their part in Gilbert Valley/Kapunda's top four, while Lincoln O'Malley (3/16 from 5.3 overs), Reilly Stacey (3/20 from eight overs) and Archie Matthews (2/16 from five overs) were the stand-outs from Willaston's bowling attack.

The total of 198 was also the highest team score in the age group, while on the other end of the spectrum Sandy Creek dominated with the ball at home against Angaston, bowling out the visitors for just 51 in 26 overs.

No Angaston player was able to reach a dozen runs, thanks to the smothering work from Cockatoo bowlers Max Thompson (3/8 from five overs), Xander Goulding (2/9 from five overs), Jackson Robinson (2/13 from five overs) and Declan Kells (2/13 from five overs).

Sandy Creek almost banked the first-innings victory before stumps, patiently making their way to 1/39 from the remaining 11 overs as number three Daryl Cole-Puls (four not-out from 36 balls) protected his wicket while opener Harvey Iredale (32 not-out from 30 deliveries) played aggressive.

It is the second strong showing in a row from Iredale to start the 16s season, finishing 57 not-out from 48 balls in a 10-wicket Round 1 win.

South Gawler's chase will be more competitive at home against Nuriootpa after Nuri opener Thomas Schild (34 from 103 balls) was comfortably the top contributor in a 9/109 inning.

Lions Jaxson Dent (2/9 from five overs) and Bradley Sargent (2/22 from five overs) were the bowlers to take multiple wickets, although there were six more who boasted economy rates at 2.5 runs per over or below.

Rounding out the under 16s is Gawler Central's trip to Tanunda, where the road team set the Magpies a task of tracking down 128.

Zy Longman was the only reason Gawler Central made it to triple-figures, coming in at number four and finishing 62 not-out from 100 balls. His closest teammates, opener Samuel Ward and number seven Jack Winsor, each chipped in 11.

Connor Samain (2/8 from two overs), Riley Samain (2/17 from 7.3 overs), Nixon Semmler (2/17 from five overs) and Daniel Robinson (2/23 from six overs) were the top wicket-takers from the Tanunda attack.

Under 14s

Another slate of two-day fixtures also got underway Saturday morning in the under 14s, with Gilbert Valley posting the top 40-over score of 8/165 against Long Plains.

Kieran Vandeleur (28 not-out from 56 balls) and Flynn Parkinson (22 not-out from 30 deliveries) were the top-performing Bulls, while Linkin Jones (2/13 from four overs) and Tom Warnes (2/16 from five overs) finished with Long Plains' best bowling figures.

Not far behind was South Gawler's score of 149 against Tanunda, which was led by Henry Brooks (33 from 50 balls) and Jack Campbell (31 not-out from 61) against the Magpies' bowling attack spearheaded by Oliver Laidlaw (2/11 from six overs) and Harrison Clay (2/12 from three overs).

Nuriootpa also posted a competitive target of 7/133 for Angaston to chase on day two as Thomas Schild (43 from 58 deliveries) and Brodie Klose (27 not-out from 58) were two of five Nuri batters to score at least 13.

Charlie Carter (2/11 from six overs) and Bailin Gibson (2/14 from five overs) were the pick of the Angaston bowlers.

The only under 14s side not to reach triple-figures was Sandy Creek, who struggled against Freeling/Lyndoch to a total of 8/55.

Callum Holberton (2/6 from three overs) and Jimmy Schuster (2/7 from three overs) made life difficult for the Cockatoos, although Sandy Creek's bowlers made things interesting heading into day two after taking 3/26 prior to stumps.

Record-breaking athletics registrations at Gawler club

THE Gawler Little Athletics Club launched its 2024/25 season on a positive note with a record number of junior athletes signing on.

On Sunday, October 27, the club launched the current season at Trinity College.

For the first time in its history, the club has more than 160 young athletes registered.

Club president Mike Glanville said there were opportunities for youths of all ages to get involved in a range of events and activities.

“From the 2023/24 season, the club now offers those who are 18 years and older, but still young at heart, the opportunity to participate in athletics as a recreation, which enables them to be involved in club events, but just not in state competitions,” Mr Glanville said.

“Three- and four-year-old athletes enjoy the fun of running, jumping and throwing through games and activities in the tiny tot program.

“The club is all about the family, fun and fitness, and all are welcome to participate irrespective of their ability.”

Member for Light Tony Piccolo and Town of Gawler Deputy Mayor Cody Davies helped launch the season over the weekend.

Mr Piccolo said he was pleased to see so many young people getting involved in healthy activities through sport.

“Being involved in a sport helps young people develop a range of skills and live values that help them in other parts of their lives,” he said.

“Young people learn about commitment, persistence, resilience and how practice improves performance.”

Mr Piccolo also acknowledged the role of parents and volunteers at clubs like the Gawler Little Athletics Clubs in shaping attitudes towards sport.

Member for Light Tony Piccolo, Gawler Little Athletics Club president Mike Glanville and Town of Gawler Deputy Mayor Cody Davies cut the ribbon to launch the 2024/25 season.

Stockdale steamrolls SACA U19s

LIAM PHILLIPS

NORTHERN Districts’ Aubrey Stockdale put together an early contender for SACA Premier Cricket’s best bowling performance of the season, taking 8/38 to give the Jets a chance at an outright victory in a two-day battle against the SACA U19s.

Ultimately Northern Districts fell one wicket shy of finishing off the outright, but it was still a complete performance by the Jets to claim their first win of the Men’s 1st Grade Division 2 season.

Batting first at Salisbury Oval after winning the toss, the Jets received steady contributions throughout the line-up, including from Ryan Dimasi (64 runs from 63 balls), Brandon Bray (50 from 101 deliveries), Gareth Cox (43 from 74) and Harvey Box (38 from 56).

The SACA U19s took the final wicket in the 66th over, which gave the visitors 22 overs to bat before stumps, reaching 1/46.

But when the teams arrived on Sunday morning for day two it became clear early on it would be all about Stockdale.

Stockdale took the only wicket on day one, boasting solid figures of 1/15 from five overs, but he caught fire upon the resumption of play and followed up with seven more wickets from his next 6.3 overs.

With a first-inning lead of 181 the Jets tried to quickly add on before declaring, but to SACA’s credit they bowled much better the second time around, restricting Northern Districts to 8/91 before the declaration arrived after 22 overs.

It meant SACA had to either survive 51 overs, or score 273 to pull off a reverse-outright.

There was no interest from the visitors in blocking out a first-innings loss as Kane Halfpenny (40 from 58 balls), Haard Shah (34 from 54) and Hayden Schiller (29 not-out from 37) helped the U19s reach 9/200, with time running out before the Jets could secure the 20th wicket.

It was a quieter showing from Stockdale (0/45 from 13 overs) in the second innings. Instead, it was Brandon Bray (3/46 from 13 overs), Walter Kinlock (2/25 from seven overs) and Gareth Cox (1/7 from three overs) picking up the slack.

Northern Districts’ top side will next face Prospect in the two-day clash across the next two Saturdays.

Women’s

It was an outing to forget for the Jets’ senior women, who suffered an eight-wicket defeat at the hands of Glenelg after being held to a disappointing total of 103.

Opener and captain Eloise Jansen (30 runs from 76 balls) along with number three Saoirse Flynn (17 from 29) were the only Jets to score more than four runs.

Glenelg was able to chase down the target in 22 overs thanks to the performances from Riya Gupta (55 not-out from 54 balls) and Febi Mansell (22 from 62 deliveries).

Juniors

The star of the Jets’ junior sides over the weekend was under 13s talent Curtis Clifton, racking up a massive score of 103 not-out from 106 deliveries to help Northern Districts put up 6/230 from 40 overs against Prospect.

Fellow young Jets Mantra Patel (39 from 40 balls) and Harvey Cay (34 from 36) also contributed solidly with the bat, and Prospect never threatened in the chase.

The other Northern Districts victory came in the under 14s in a thriller as Northern Districts snuck home against Prospect by one wicket in the final over.

The Jets’ bowling attack was led by Renesh Khatri (3/21 from eight overs), Yohan Wattacheril (3/30 from eight overs), Ashvarn Singh Sidhu (2/21 from five overs) and Angus McInnis (2/24 from 7.4 overs), holding Prospect to a manageable target of 136.

The top-order gave Northern Districts a great start to build from as Sidhu (27 from 58 balls) and opener Maxwell Standing (24 from 58) helped the Jets to 2/82, but a quick succession of wickets changed that quickly to 6/96.

It ultimately came down to Bhavy Patel (11 not-out from 18 deliveries) and Ekam Singh (two not-out from two) to score the final five runs without losing a wicket, and they got the job done with five balls to spare.

Rounding out the junior Jets was a three-wicket loss against Prospect in the under 15.5s.

It was a respectable effort from the Jets, who scored 9/149 batting first thanks to six batters scoring at least 10 runs, led by William Godwin (28 from 78 balls) and Prabh-simran Singh (25 from 64).

A terrific spell from Northern Districts’ Abhijot Sandhu (5/28 from eight overs) had Prospect sitting precariously at 7/92, but they would lose no more wickets the rest of the way due to a gutsy 58-run partnership from Caelan Ryan (28 not-out from 44 balls) and Jordy Brown (27 not-out from 62).

Sewell and D'Antonio pile up big numbers on day two

LIAM PHILLIPS

SPORTS JOURNALIST

SATURDAY was the conclusion of Para District Cricket Association's two-day Round 2 fixtures and it was a great afternoon for the chasing teams, tracking down totals of at least 210 in three of the four Grade 1 matchups.

The closest battle took place at Argana Park where Craigmore tried to defend a handy score of 215 at home against North Pines, but some tail-end heroics led the visitors to a one-wicket victory.

It looked like it would be smooth sailing for Craigmore after North Pines' second, third, fourth and fifth batters combined for just four runs as Jared Devolle (2/50 from 22 overs) made his presence felt early.

But a big partnership from number seven Lucky Guron (80 runs) and number six Manvir Dhindsa (43) brought North Pines back to life, and contributions further down the order from Preetkanwal Maan (27), Navjot Dhillon (17) and Krish Bachhal (15 not-out) pulled the away team over the line in the 77th over.

While facing less adversity, Adelaide Hazara was even more impressive in chasing down ATCO's 213, cruising past with ease to post a score of 309 as five of their top-six batters reached at least 40.

Asif Ali Shaga (72 runs) was the only to go on and make a half-century, but it was the second eye-catching successful chase in a row for Adelaide Hazara after putting up 9/394 following Virginia's innings of 294 in Round 1.

It was a long day in the field for ATCO – specifically for bowler Brett D'Antonio, who handled 33 of the 68 total overs and piled up mind-boggling figures of 8/139.

Batting second seemed to be the way to go this week and it was the case for Salisbury West, who rode a valuable century from opener Willi Sewell (109) to secure a four-wicket win after Eyre Royals set a target of 210.

Sewell also took 3/66 on day one with the ball in a terrific all-rounder performance, and with the bat he was supported by his opening partner Justin Davies (45), Jake Sewell (24) and Rishabh Narula (23).

The only team to successfully defend their day one score was Angle Vale, who bowled out Virginia for 152 – not even halfway to the 6/322 target.

Aaron Meredith's 150 not-out put Angle Vale in a winning position, and on day two it was the two Matthews who delivered.

Matthew Ramsey led the attack by taking 5/29 from 10 overs, and Matthew Maguire handled the most overs (16) on his way to 3/37. Justin Carman (0/16 from 12 overs) had the best economy rate, but went without reward.

Through two rounds it is Adelaide Hazara in top spot of the Grade 1 ladder, narrowly ahead of the only other 2-0 side Angle Vale. At the other end, Virginia and ATCO are the two sides in the eight-team competition yet to record a win.

The highlight from Grade 2 action was a five-wicket haul from Smithfield's Joseph Beattie (5/31 from 17 overs) as he helped his side defend a total of 265 against Eyre Royals for an 83-run result.

Craigmore captain Scott Dawson (62 from 93 balls) claimed the division's top batting performance on day two, but it came in a losing effort against Salisbury North, falling 77 runs short of the impressive 4/302 target.

Gawler earns pair of Wednesday wins

LIAM PHILLIPS

FLYING the flag for the Gawler Bowling Club this past week was the Wednesday warriors, banking a pair of mid-week home wins in Division 2 and Division 4.

Gawler came into Round 3 of the Wednesday Div 2 season off back-to-back losses, but got their season back on track with a 91-81 result against Walkerville.

The hosts took three of the five available rinks, with the widest margin at 20-12 from the quartet of Ian Goodrich, Matthew Kenneth May, Patrick Shepherdson and Phillip Devlin.

The duo of Bob Wildy and Kym Reynolds edged a 16-14 frame, and the trio of Bruce Pool, Robert Lackner and Earnest Clifton earned a 21-16 result.

It ended up being a great Wednesday for the locals as the Div 4s improved to 2-1 by knocking off Hope Valley in emphatic fashion 72-38.

Gawler swept the three rinks, with style points for the fours skippered by Gordon Nussey (24-8) and Peter Jones (29-13).

They ended up being the only wins of the week for the Gawler club, although they did salvage an 85-85 draw on the road at Modbury in Saturday Division 4.

Winning two rinks and tying a third, the visiting team was unlucky to not come away with a positive result, but the two victories came by narrow margins of 21-18 from Graham Gloede's crew and 22-20 from the team led by Barry Bradbrook Sr.

Unfortunately for Gawler the result means they remain last in that division as the only winless team.

Gawler's top Saturday outfit in Division 3 is also yet to record its first win, dropping to 0-4 after a close 92-84 contest against Walkerville.

The four rinks were split evenly, but despite Kym Reynolds's four securing a 24-16 margin and Darren Hunter's also delivering a 28-23 buffer, a 29-15 loss was enough to undo the good work.

Gawler's only Division 1 team, the Thursday ladies, had a close 59-50 loss on the road at Somerton to slip to 1-2 in the young season.

All three rinks were within five shots, but all three went Somerton's way, with the closest being a 16-15 defeat from the four of Judy Boucher, Marilyn Nichols, Margaret May and Val Clark.

Tanunda impresses in top grades

LIAM PHILLIPS

BAROSSA and Light Bowling Association had a double-game week for the Saturday Division 1s, with top-ranked Eudunda finally suffering a first defeat 93-75 on Friday night at Nuriootpa.

Eudunda came into the clash as the last remaining unbeaten side at 3-0, but Nuri took three of the four rinks on offer, highlighted by 10-shot wins from the crews of Stuart Forbes (26-16) and Robert Grope (24-14).

Last season's wooden-spooners Tanunda also turned heads on Friday, knocking off Kapunda in a 71-70 nail-biter.

Kapunda was a top-three side last time around, and the Tanunda win came a week after the Magpies also knocked off reigning premiers Angaston, signalling a massive improvement.

Against Kapunda, Tanunda only won one of the four rinks, but the 27-8 result from Tim Liersch, Ian Graetz, Susan Yates and Peter Temme was enough to overcome margins of 14-22, 15-25 and 15-15 in the remaining three frames.

But Tanunda's hot streak came to an end on Saturday against Eudunda, who retained sole possession of top spot with a 111-47 demolition of the Magpies.

Angaston bounced back in style on the road at Mt Pleasant by sweeping all four rinks in a 100-59 victory, and the reigning champs kept it rolling on Saturday with another 105-64 blowout against Freeling to get back in the minor premiership mix.

Rounding out the Friday action was Lyndoch's one-sided 92-64 away win at Freeling to improve to 3-1, but they were unable to join Eudunda at 4-1 as Nuriootpa got the better of Lyndoch 90-67 on Saturday.

It was a strong double-header from Nuriootpa, who were last season's runners-up, with the crews of Lachlan Fuss (28-18), Stuart Through five rounds the division is wide open as Eudunda (4-1), Angaston (3-2), Lyndoch (3-2), Nuriootpa (3-2) and Tanunda (3-2) all eye finals glory.

Meanwhile, in Thursday Division 1 action it is Angaston leading the way, improving to 4-0 with a comfortable 66-44 home win against Kapunda.

All three Ango rinks scored between 23 and 21 shots, with the biggest victory coming from the trio of Ian Elsworthy, Allan Northcott and Bruce Field (21-12).

Tanunda (3-1) is the only other team with more than two wins, and the Magpies' renaissance continued mid-week, taking down reigning Thursday premiers Nuriootpa 84-55.

Tanunda swept the three rinks, including scores of 30-18 from Ian Jaensch's crew and 27-17 from Peter Baverstock's squad.

Donnybrook ruck earns SANFL opportunity

LIAM PHILLIPS

WILLASTON ruckman Saxon Evans was one of five new recruits announced by Adelaide's SANFL side on Friday, earning a return to the SANFL system after helping the Donnybrooks win the BLG A grade premiership.

Evans, 21, was originally a Willaston junior before getting on Central District's radar as an under 16 talent back in 2018.

He stuck with the Bulldogs all the way through under 18s, and played a full season of reserves in 2022 before returning to Willaston's A grade side the following year.

In the past two seasons Evans has played 31 games for the Donnybrooks, kicking seven goals and earning a spot in the best players on 15 occasions (48 per cent of his appearances).

He proved to be a crucial cog in the Willaston machine throughout September, getting named in the bests for both the preliminary final and grand final victories.

A towering presence in the ruck, Evans was physically dominant at the BLG level, and he has now earned the opportunity to test himself in the SANFL where he is yet to make his league debut.

He is the latest BLG standout to earn an opportunity on Adelaide's SANFL list, with South Gawler's two-time Schluter Medallist Steve Burton, Barossa District's Austin Mc-Donald and Willaston's Isaya McKenzie all pulling on the Crows colours in the past two years.

Adelaide's newly appointed SANFL head coach Matthew Wright said while the recruits boast some similarities, "they all share common traits that we are looking to add to our SANFL squad being talent, commitment and a desire to improve".

"We look forward to our new signings joining us for pre-season training," he said.

Bulldogs secure tall timber from VFL

CENTRAL District Football Club announced on Thursday the signing of 23-year-old ruckman Kobe Annand from Werribee in the VFL.

In a Facebook post, the Bulldogs outlined why they are excited about the new recruit, who has family ties with the club dating back to the 1960s.

"Standing at an impressive 200cm and weighing 100kg, the 23-year-old Annand brings power and skill to our club," it said.

"He's shown his prowess with 32 VFL games over the past two seasons. Although he missed this year's premiership team due to a suspension in the opening final, his impact on the field is undeniable.

"Known for his athleticism and competitiveness, Kobe also has a strong forward presence, adding flexibility and depth to our list.

"His family's legacy at Central District runs deep. His grandfather, Rod O'Connor, was a respected defender at the Kennel in the late 1960s and early '70s.

"Just as Rod made his mark with his grit and determination, we look forward to Kobe carrying on that tradition."

Football Manager Mark Ross shared his thoughts, saying: "Kobe is a high-quality individual who thrives on physical contests. He's constantly analysing his game and looking for ways to beat his opponent."

Annand is eager to elevate his game and views the SANFL as a great opportunity to showcase his skills and continue his family's legacy with the Dogs.

Three-time Bradman Medallist heads to Gawler

ROBERT LAIDLAW

RECENTLY former Sheffield Shield cricketer Rob O'Shannassy was a guest speaker at Joslin for Sporting Memories, and next Thursday will talk to the Gawler group.

O'Shannassy played four Sheffield Shield games for South Australia in the 1976-77 season, with his best batting and bowling figures coming in the same game, against Queensland on Adelaide Oval, scoring 48 with the bat and taking 2/54 with the ball.

There seems to be something about achieving with the bat and ball in the same game for Rob, because, while at Adelaide Boys High School in 1966, he not only hit his only century (against CBC), he took a hat-trick – the only one he has ever taken in a game.

At District Cricket level, O'Shannassy played with three www.bunyippress.com.au clubs – Prospect, University and Tea Tree Gully – over a 21-year period from 1966, and won the Bradman Medal as the Best District Cricketer three times, in 1969, 1980 and 1981.

Over his District cricket career, O'Shannassy scored 4278 runs at an 18.43 average, and, amazingly, had a similar 18.34 average from his 521-wicket haul as a bowler.

While O'Shannassy has fond memories of his meetings with Don Bradman, he also was lucky enough to play with one of South Australia's top sportsmen, Barrie Robran, as a teammate at North Adelaide Football Club, where he played 16 league games in the early 1970s.

If anyone is interested in considering a volunteering role with Sporting Memories, they are encouraged to contact Robert or Richard at sports.united18@gmail.com

Wendland stars as Port prepares for home final

LIAM PHILLIPS

SPORTS JOURNALIST

THE AFLW home-and-away season wrapped up over the weekend, and while it is the end of the road for Elaine Grigg's Western Bulldogs, local product Caitlin Wendland will head into finals fresh off Port Adelaide's sixth consecutive victory.

Port Adelaide was essentially locked into the top-eight ahead of the final round, but could have jumped up from eighth to sixth by defeating 16th-ranked Greater Western Sydney, who had only one win for the season.

It was a closer battle than anyone expected in Alberton, but the Power used deadeye accuracy to prevail 7.1 (43) to 6.6 (42) thanks to another two goals from Willaston's Wendland.

Wendland's first came in the second quarter with Port Adelaide down 3.2 (20) to 1.1 (7), putting herself in an ideal position to crumb a high ball inside 50 and eventually put it through following a handball receive streaming into goal.

Her second came in the third period, still trailing 5.6 (36) to 3.1 (19), and this time it resulted from a holding-the-ball free kick from a stoppage around 30m out, straight in front.

It was one of her six tackles in the win – her most in the past five weeks – and her crucial set-shot finish was struck beautifully to keep Port in the contest.

In fact the Power did not take their first lead until the very last score of the game in the 20th minute of the fourth quarter.

Trailing by 11 points with seven minutes remaining, Port Adelaide stormed home with majors from Ashleigh Saint and Gemma Houghton to snatch a one-point lead, which they were able to defend in the closing stages.

For Wendland it was her fifth consecutive game with at least one goal, racking up seven in her past five outings as part of her side's six-game winning streak.

Her form down the home stretch of this season has been incredibly impressive after only totalling one major from the first six games.

Overall her eight goals for the campaign are the third-most on Port Adelaide behind Gemma Houghton (12) and Julia Teakle (nine).

Of the 34 players in the league to kick at least eight goals this season,

Wendland's 63 tackles are the fourth-most, illustrating her value as an elite pressure-forward.

Thanks to the comeback win, Port Adelaide will host an elimination final this Sunday against Richmond at 2.35pm. In their one meeting this season – immediately before the six-game winning streak began – Richmond prevailed 6.12 (48) to 3.9 (27).

Meanwhile, the Western Bulldogs finished the season in 12th after a final round 4.11 (35) to 3.3 (21) loss against Fremantle dropped the Doggies' record to 4-7.

Central District draftee Elaine Grigg once again set the tone on the tackling front, finishing with the third-most in the game (seven) despite only getting 65 per cent time-on-ground. All other players with more than five tackles had a time-on-ground percentage of at least 84.

GAWLER AND DISTRICTS SOFTBALL ASSOCIATION – November 2

Division 2
Kangas d Two Wells 8-6
Kangas defeated a fast-finishing Two Wells in a tight contest in Div 2. Batting first, Kangas managed to cross home plate three times, largely due to huge two-run homerun from Fran Delfos-Huddy.

Pitching for Two Wells, Rebecca Lane featured with a strike out and Amanda Stuart completed a sharp play to first from shortstop to ensure no further damage was done.

Kangas dismissed the first three Two Wells batters during their first at-bat.

Kangas were only able to add one run to their tally during the top of the second, courtesy of youngster Sian Carson after she struck a nicely timed hit down the first-base line, going on to score.

Two Wells opened their scoring account with two runs in the bottom dig before Kangas' infield closed it out, Ryley Skarstron with his second assist to first for the out from shortstop.

Two Wells ensured Kangas' third at-bat was short lived, completing three outs from as many batters, which included a brilliant double play from Bec, taking a spectacular catch and then assisting to first after the runner left the base on their way to second.

Tight defence continued into the bottom inning, with Kangas preventing Two Wells from adding to their score by dismissing three of their first four batters.

Kangas came out swinging during the top of the fourth, scoring another four runs, once again Fran featured heavily with another powerfully struck ball past right-field with loaded bases, getting herself to third and getting all three runners home.

Rebecca stepped up for her side with two strikeouts to close the inning out. With the score 8-2 to Kangas, the teams headed into the final half innings of the day.

Two Wells found their groove in the batter's box, piling on four runs and threatening to steal the win late in the game. Both Lauren Jackson and Amanda featured with nice hits resulting in RBIs for their side.

Kangas' youngster Ryley ensured that wouldn't be the case though, capping off a brilliant day in the field by completing a tag out at second base on an attempted steal, and then another assist to first to seal the win for Kangas.

Under 14

Kangas d Giants 8-7

In a close encounter Kangas came away with the win after a well fought game against Giants.

Kangas came out swinging from the start, scoring two runs in the first helped by Sian Carson.

A great foul ball catch by Giants catcher Max Ruediger slowed Kangas' runs. Giants were unable to put any runs on the board as Kangas' pitcher Sian struck out all three batters.

Kangas continued their charge with the bat and with two massive homeruns by Cohen Myatt and Hayley Lindner, they were able to stack on another six runs. Some great fielding by Giants first base Amelia Vockins stopped Kangas in their tracks.

Giants came out hard in the second innings as Max Ruediger started off with a big centre-field home run. Giants were able to continue with some good at-bats by Taya Barrett, Lukasz Wloch and Jordan Roesler scoring their maximum 7 runs. Time had run out and Kangas took the win by the narrowest of margins.

Volleyball

Round 3 saw all matches achieving that desired number of less than 140 serves for each match. The number that means there are a significant number of rallies taking place.

Obviously, the lower the number of serves the less service and reception errors and the longer rallies that are being played. At this level of volleyball long rallies are the way to improve, gain positional awareness and have more fun.

In what once would have been considered to be an almost impossibility, but now just indicates the increased evenness of the competition, Warmed Up had an excellent win over Horndogs.

After winning the first set and losing the second set comprehensively, Warmed Up came back to take the third set and the match (Warmed Up d Horndogs 25-16, 6-25, 25-19, 4-11).

In another close match that was at one-set-all, Recipients took the vital third set to gain the match (Recipients d Simply Irresponsiballs 25-16, 17-25, 25-22).

In the B grade Awoken won a close, but unchallenged victory, with wins in the first two sets. Some very close scores and obviously a lot of rallies with only 131 serves (Awoken d Dragons 26-24, 25-20, 19-18).

Last year's premiers Hakuna came up against a revitalized Retro, who won the first two sets before conceding the third.

Some great skills were on display with the ball being scraped back out of the net rather than being let hit the floor (Retro d Hakuna 25-20, 25-19, 22-24).

In the C grade the first of last season's grand final replays for this season took place, with the result being another win for The Highs and The Lows (The Highs and The Lows d Delta 25-21, 15-25, 25-10).

In the other C grade match Bunnies took the first two sets from Ballers before conceding the third (Bunnies d Ballers 25-14, 25-14, 17-25, 10-6).

Wendt and Reed excel in Lions' trip to Woodville

LIAM PHILLIPS

CENTRAL District Basketball Club's Division 1 juniors made a successful trip to St Clair on Friday night to take on the Woodville Warriors, coming away with five wins from eight games including a dominant 59-4 result from the Lions' under 12 girls.

Leading Centrals in the one-sided showing was Annabel Wendt with 25 points, while Emma Schultz (10 points), Marli Long (eight) and Sage Feltus (eight) all chipped in valuable contributions.

For Wendt, she has now scored at least 12 points in all four appearances this season for a team-best average of 17.8 per game.

The Lions' under 12 boys also got the job done, albeit in much different circumstances, sneaking away with a 46-44 victory.

After an even first period Centrals jumped ahead 25-19 at halftime and 31-27 at three-quarter time, but thanks in large part to Samuel Dim and Isaac Pennington with 12 points each the Lions were able to hold on.

The wins kept piling up for the visiting side in the under 14 boys, where Harvey Clark (20 points), Jayden Alberton (19) and Riley Trenwith guided the Lions to a high-scoring 77-60 result.

Clark showed off his long-range marksmanship with a game-high four three-pointers, while Alberton did all his offensive work from inside the arc before fouling out late. At 15.8 points per game Alberton is the team leader through four rounds.

Central District's first loss of the night came in the under 14 girls, where Woodville ran away with a 57-31 margin.

Ava Wendt led Centrals with 12 points, giving her double-digits in back-to-back appearances, and Chanel Long also had her highest total of the season with nine.

The two under 16 teams split the results

Page 50 "THE BUNYIP" GAWLER, Wednesday, November 6, 2024

as the lady Lions earned a 55-36 triumph while the boys went down 79-40.

In the girls' win it was a balanced spread of offence from Ella Whitford, Nakia Lehmann and Sophie Etscheid that was the key, chipping in 12 points each.

Meanwhile, the boys relied heavily on Joshua Munday (16 points) to do the heavy lifting – doubling the score of his closest teammate – while Woodville had five players reach double-figures.

It was also a split in the under 18s as Central District's girls got the job done while the boys were hammered.

The star for the Lions' under 18 girls this season has been Stella Reed who, after scoring seven points in Round 1, has followed it up with totals of 24, 15 and now a team-leading 17 against the Warriors.

She was supported well in the win by Victoria Munday (14 points), who has hit at least one three-pointer in every game so far, and Grace Dittmar (12), who is the third Lion on the team to boast an average above 10 points per appearance.

The Lions' under 18 boys, on the other hand, ran into a buzzsaw as the Warriors blew out the away side 117-53 behind a 31-point haul from Ezra Wormald.

For Centrals it was David Elkhier (10 points) who ended up the top-scorer, marking his third consecutive outing in double-figures. Six of his teammates scored between six-and-eight points.

Down in Division 2 the Lions went 3-3, with wins in the under 16 girls, under 14 boys and under 12 boys.

In the under 16 girls it was Navaeh Brenton (13 points), Tahlia Millard (13) and Ruby Harvey (11) leading a 57-43 victory, while Isaac Baxter (13) and Benji Officer-McDaid (nine) led Centrals to a 57-33 under 14 boys result.

Last but not least, the under 12 boys had four players score exactly 10 points in a 61-27 triumph: Jermaine Cox, Jannali Miller, Jamie Huddleston and Carter Camplin.

Sweet justice

WHILE there's no shortage of legal dramas to show us what goes on inside a courtroom, very little is known about real-life jury trials – and that's by design. Twelve strangers, brought together by random selection, decide the fate of the accused, but are forbidden from discussing the case – until now.

This groundbreaking new series re-enacts a real manslaughter trial word-for-word over five episodes, empanelling 12 everyday Australians from all walks of life to interpret evidence, confront their own biases and decode legal arguments in the privacy of the jury room. Staged in a former courthouse in Sydney, the trial runs for eight days.

It's a rare insight into the process itself, but also the participants' personalities and prejudices. With a former prison officer, retired hospital clerk, funeral attendant and sex worker among them, there's sure to be some differences of opinion when it comes to the justice system.

In tonight's premiere, we meet the jurors, before the group selects a foreperson, and the trial begins.

Will they work together and arrive at a decision? And will it be the same one as the original trial? The jury is out.

CAPRICORN Dec 22 – Jan 19

Advice from a co-worker will surprise you at first. When you find out how much this person cares about you you will be happy to listen to what they have to say, however. Romance: A phone call from an admirer will help to give your confidence a boost after a disappointing couple of weeks. Things will pick up soon!

AQUARIUS Jan 20 – Feb 18

A challenging aspect to Saturn could make you quite negative at times this week. This will be a good period for thinking through your options for the future: just make sure that you don't get too bogged down worrying about the possible pitfalls. Romance: A subtle approach will help you to get what you want without appearing to be too demanding.

PISCES Feb 19 – Mar 20

A dispute with your boss may come to a head this week. Keep cool and try not to get too upset if you are criticised. Romance: This will be a good time for romance: however, your partner may find your changing moods confusing at times. Do your best to be more consistent.

ARIES Mar 21 – Apr 19

A favourable aspect to Mercury around the middle of the week will help you to communicate clearly with the people around you. A chance to go out with friends will put you in touch with some new people. Romance: A stressful experience later in the week may put a temporary strain on your relationship.

TAURUS Apr 20 – May 20

An important possession may suddenly turn up out of the blue. It has been a while since you last saw this, and you have been missing it. Romance: An issue that is not very important should be forgotten: don't let it lead to an argument. Be especially careful around the beginning of the week, when you both may be feeling a little tense.

GEMINI May 21 – Jun 21

A powerful aspect to Saturn will help to keep your ideas firmly rooted in reality. You may need to scale back a recent plan because you don't have enough money to go through with it. Romance: Don't focus so strongly on your partner's negative points that you miss the positive ones! One incident, in particular, is best forgotten.

CANCER Jun 22 – Jul 22

Domestic issues need to be solved quickly and without too much fuss. You have more important issues to deal with which cannot wait any longer. Romance: A powerful aspect to Venus will make you especially good at picking up other people's feelings. Move ahead with a meeting you have been putting off.

LEO Jul 23 – Aug 22

A message from a co-worker may not be what you want to hear. You need to take this input seriously, however: this person is on your side, even if it may not seem so, at times. Romance: You may be upset because of a recent let-down. Another get-together later in the week will be much more fruitful.

VIRGO Aug 23 – Sep 22

A kind word will go a long way. Your enthusiasm will be appreciated by the people around you; however you must be sympathetic to friends who are not so dynamic. Romance: Criticising your partner may backfire if you are not careful. Do your best to find a more tactful way of making your feelings known!

LIBRA Sep 23 – Oct 22

A powerful aspect to Pluto later in the week could bring some long-forgotten secrets out of the closet. Be prepared for fireworks! Romance: You will be especially sensitive to your partner's needs at the moment. A surprise gift around the middle of the week will be appreciated.

SCORPIO Oct 23 – Nov 21

The message in a dream won't be obvious at first: you will need to think hard about the associations which it conjures up. There is an important lesson in the dream if you can find it! Romance: A favourable aspect to Venus at the beginning of the week will help you to get your romantic life back on track.

SAGITTARIUS Nov 22 – Dec 21

A meeting later in the week will help you to unravel a recent mystery. You may feel that you already understand what has been going on, but you have missed something! Romance: Don't be afraid to refuse a romantic offer. This person is serious, but you might prefer to just be friends.

Community Diary A GUIDE TO WHAT'S ON IN OUR AREA

Friday 8

The Night out for Teens program begins at The FARM Centre tonight. The monthly program offers free activities, skills and youth counselling. This month's activity is laser skirmish. Free transport is also available, picking up and dropping off in Hewett, Greenock, Kapunda and Roseworthy. The night runs from 7.30pm to 9pm. Contact The FARM Centre to book your spot.

Come along to the Nuriootpa Library for an evening with local author Andy Thurlow, celebrating the recent launch of his new novel, 'Painting Martha', the story of an adoptee on her search for her biological family and hear about his other novels and how they came to be. The evening will feature a mix of engaging discussions, insightful readings from his latest works and a Q&A session. Costs is $5 and the session runs from 5.45pm to 7.30pm.

Saturday 9

The Disney Dorks Relay for Life team is holding a Disney themed family fun Trivia Night at the Nixon's Function Centre. Test your Disney knowledge while participating in games and raising money to help the Cancer Council. Doors open at 6pm for 7pm start. Teams of up to 10 people. Tickets are $11.90 each and available through Eventbrite. Fancy dress is encouraged.

The Garage Sail Trail begins this weekend, running on November 9 to 10 and 16 to 17. It's free to register and you can take part on one day or more. No garage? Join a group sale near you, host from a car boot, local school or make it a pop-up street party. Register at the Garage Sale Trail website, or if you just want to shop, visit the website and head to the national map to search for sales near you.

Sunday 10

Bike SA is partnering with the Adelaide Italian Festival to present La Grande Gita, a chance to explore the gravel backroads of the Barossa

Valley in a family-friendly environment. From the event village at Calabria Family Wines, ride the quiet backroads and between riding, select Italian wineries will open their cellar doors. There are multiple rides, including 85km, 60km, 44km and 25km. Bring your vintage bicycles and attire. Prices range from $55 to $85 depending on distance. Accompanied children under 16 ride free. Book your spot through Eventbrite.

Tuesday 12

A six-week bike education program kicks off today at the Gawler BMX Club. AusBike has been designed for five to 12-year-olds who are just getting started in their cycling journey to learn how to ride safely, with confidence under the guidance of an AusCycling accredited coach. The program is offered on Tuesdays from 6pm to 7pm and costs $90 for six weeks. Bikes and helmets will be provided for those who don't own a bike. A link to register is available through the event page on the Town of Gawler website.
